allusions which have been innde to the Speaker pass by without a single remarks. And first, sir, i was surprised to hear the gentleman from Westchester (Mr. Wäterbüry) and the gentle-man from New York (Mr. Petty) attack, the Speaker, on the ground of his chigher law affin-lites, when they themsolves each and both ac-tnowledge the dominant atthichtify of the Know Nothing eath, or obligation, over their own minds, to such an extent that they dare not tail monto their candidate for Sonator is-but will Dolunkeer. which is to such an extract that they dare not tail minds, to such an extract that they dare not tail mixed to such an extract that they dare not tail mixed by the such as a such as a such as a last the question, dare any of the fratornity toll i No one answers, and no one dare answers, because they are under a higher law, higher, ar, in their judgment, than truth and candor..., And, sir, again I say it is refreshing to see some men in this body capable of rising above they binding outh of the Order, to deceive and con-ceal the fruth from the gaze of all men; but fil reply to the charge implied in the allusions... the Speaker never belonged to the order of Hin-does in Oawego, but that his adversary got thism to adopt him as their candidate, and gave hitt their support.
