Poetical.

THE TIDE OF DEATH.

The tide rolls on, the tide rolls on— The waves of life and death are gone.

BEFORE NOT BARSHLEY.

Speak not harshly—mischance is near— Every human heart must bear.

Miscellaneous.

The Last Hours of a Single Gentleman.

This morning, Nov. 11, at 11 o'clock precisely, an unfortunate man, Mr. Edward Pinkney, underwent the extreme penalty of infatuation.

Marriage Under Difficulties.

A few days since I was present at a marriage which was the far-famed Col. Bowie's.

A MISSISSIPPI FIGHT.

Can it be possible that this handsome looking man is the far-famed Col. Bowie?

A Tiger Adventure.

A Brahmin, with his wife and only daughter, were making a pilgrimage to the banks of the sacred Ganges.

The Honest Shop Boy.

"That is right, my boy," said the merchant, smiling approvingly upon the bright face of his shop boy.

Important to Young Men.

The history of many of the world's best men who have risen from poverty to wealth.

Small Capitals, and How to Get Them.

The history of many of the world's best men who have risen from poverty to wealth.

A Dropped Letter.

Boston, Jan. 16th, 1855. Son John—I have too much legitimate work to come home on Saturday nights.

Excelsior Advice.

On the subject of behavior in company, Leigh Richmond gives the following excellent advice to his daughters.

The Violator.

The violator—the violator was the national flower of Athens, which city, personified by a young man, was represented as a man.

AN ADVENTURE.

The vast hunting region of which the late known Pawnee Hook is the center, was for years the dark and bloody scene of Indian warfare.

Defeated, and in every way humbled, the Pawnee became enervated and pacified, taking game by stealth, and flying from the shadow of pursuit.

There are five hundred of the devils, said Grin to his companion, a few Teutonic in his hand.

"There are not forty," answered Sage. "Twenty dollars, then is the figure," said Grin.

And not slackening their speed for an instant, the hands of the doughty desperado were grasped in confirmation of the bet.

"I'll count them," said Grin, and snatching the action to the word, the veteran of the woods stepped forward upon the eastern face, and checked the forefinger of his opponent.

"Thirty-seven, thirty-eight, thirty-nine," he uttered with animation, as the last finger dodged behind the moon.

"No! I haven't," said he. "Then your getting on too fast, too fast, do you mean to go back to the beginning of the book?"

"No! I haven't," said he. "Then your getting on too fast, too fast, do you mean to go back to the beginning of the book?"
