Anecdote of Robert Bruce.

During the long struggle of Robert Bruce, Earl of Carrick, for the throne of Scotland, at the time when King Edward of England was endeavoring to bring the Gaulic kingdom under his yoke, the brave Bruce was frequently hard beset—his friends defeated, scattered, and himself compelled to wander alone in the forrest.—Surrounded by foreign foes and treacherous countrymen, almost any other man would have been disheartened, and submitted to what appeared to be his destiny. But he was not, and to his indomitable perseverance and chivalric spirit alone can be attributed his final triumph and accession to the Scottish throne. Among other adventures related of his wanderings, the following is preserved in Scottish legend:

It was near night when coming upon a cottage he boldly entered it, where he found the mistress, an old true-hearted Scotswoman, sitting alone. Upon seeing a stranger enter she asked him who and what he was. The king answered that he was a traveller, who was journeying through the country.

'All travellers,' said the good woman, 'are welcome here for the sake of one.'

'And who is that one,' said the king, 'for whose sake you make all travellers welcome?'

'It is our lawful king, Robert the Bruce,' answered the mistress, 'who is the lawful lord of this country; and although he is now pursued and hunted after with hounds and horns. I hope to live to see him king over all Scotland.'

'Since you love him so well, dame,' said the king, 'know that you see him before you. I am Robert the Bruce.'

'You!' said the good woman, in great surprise, 'and wherefore are you thus alone?—Where are your men?'

'I have none with me at this moment,' answered Bruce, 'and therefore I must travel alone.'

'But that shall not be,' said the brave old dame, 'for I have two stout sons, gallant and trusty men, who shall be your servants for life and death.'

So she brought her two sons, and though she well knew the dangers to which she exposed them, she made them swear fidelity to the king; and they afterwards became high officers in his service.

A Brave Girl.

A letter from Iowa Points, Kansas territory, Feb. 4, contains the following narrative of extraordinary endurance:

"Miss Martha Perkins, who resides five miles from this place, was on a visit to her brother-in-law, who resides here. On Thursday last, the 5th inst., she started to walk home. It was snowing hard at the time she started, and continued for two days. The snow was eighteen inches deep. Her road was mostly over high rolling prairie—the snow beating directly in her face. She pursued her journey with much difficulty, until within a mile from home, she lost her way, and rambled about until nearly sunset, when she took refuge for the night in a deep, bushy ravine. There, in the deep snow, she constructed a very ingenious little house out of the tall weeds that grew near by, and there passed the first night of camp life, without food to sustain life or fire to warm, or any clothing except her apparel, to shelter her from the storm. The little weed house she had erected being the only thing she had to keep her from exposure to the bleak winds and storm.

Early the next morning she started out in pursuit of her home, but went entirely a different course. After traveling all day, frequently through snow four feet deep, exhausted and fatigued, her feet frozen, abandoning all idea of ever reaching home, she stopped and again built her a weed hut. In this little frail tenement she resigned herself to her fate and it came well nigh being her last resting place upon this earth. She remained in this situation, at this last named place, from Wednesday until Saturday, about 12 o'clock, when she was found by a party who were in search of her.—She had been out four days and a half and four nights, exposed to the merciless storm on the prairies. During two nights of her exposure the thermometer ranged from 17 to 20 degrees below zero. She said to those who found her, that she never slept during the whole time, believing that if she had gone to sleep, she would never wake again. It is a most miraculous escape from death, and those noble spirits who searched and found her deserve great praise.—To think that a young and delicate girl, not over sixteen years of age, could travel through such a snow storm five miles, wading often waist deep in snow, lie out on the open prairie exposed to the storm of snow and the piercing blast of wintry winds four days and nights without food, fire, or even blanket, and then live, is hard to believe, but such is the fact beyond a doubt, as at least half of our citizens who were in search of her can testify. Her feet were badly frozen, but it is believed she will entirely recover, with the loss perhaps of a few of her toes."

The Price of Old Alderman.

A good story is going the rounds about one of our new Alderman, which is related to us this wise:

The Grand Jury summoned Ald. ——— before them, and the following conversation occurred:

'Ald. ———, has any one ever offered you any money in the shape of a bribe, since your election?'

'Yes sir.'

'Who was it,' said one of the Grand Jury.

'Mr. ———,'

'And how much did he offer you?' inquired one of the other jurors.

'Twenty-five dollars,' responded the Alderman with a curl of his lip.

'Did you take it?' said the foreman.

(Emphatically) 'No sir.'

Mr. ———, the briber, was sent for.

'Mr. ———, did you offer Ald. ——— twenty-five dollars as a bribe for voting so and so?'

'Yes sir.'

'Did he take it?'

'No sir.'

'Why didn't he take it?' said one of the jurors, much surprised.

'Well, he said that he couldn't sell himself for twenty-five dollars, as that was the price of old Aldermen—new ones range higher.'

ANECDOTE OF RICHARD III.—In the town of Leicester the house is still shown where Richard III passed the night before the battle of Bosworth; and there is a story of him still preserved in the corporation records, which illustrates the caution and darkness of that prince's character.

It was the custom to carry, among the baggage of his camp, a cumbersome wooden bed, which he pretended was the only bed he could sleep in. Here he contrived a receptacle for his treasure, which lay concealed under a weight of timber. After the fatal day in which Richard fell, the Earl of Richmond entered Leicester with his victorious troops; the friends of Richard were pillaged, but the bed was neglected by every plunderer as useless lumber. The owner of the house afterwards discovered the hoard, became suddenly rich, without any visible cause. He bought lands, and at length arrived at the dignity of being mayor of Leicester. Many years afterwards, his widow, who had been left in great affluence, was murdered for her wealth by her own servant maid, who had been privy to the affair and at the trial of this woman and her accomplices, the whole transaction came to light.

EXTRAORDINARY PHENOMENON.—On Thursday morning last, about ten o'clock we witnessed a sight in the heavens, the like of which we never saw before; but it is impossible for us to give anything like a correct description of it. The sun was partially clouded by large masses of vaporous matter, about the edges of which, in one or two places, as well as in or two other parts of the sky, were bright spots of almost equal brilliancy with the sun. Several rainbows streched out in different directions from the cloud. An immense white ring also formed a circuit in the heavens. It was a most beautiful, though unusual sight.—Huntsville (Mo.) Citizen.

MR. DAVID SIPE, of Carlisle, has been appointed Agent for the county of Cumberland, for the sale of FISK'S PATENT METALLIC BURIAL CASE, which is superior to any of the kind now in use, for ordinary interments and transporting the dead. It prevents immediate decomposition and obviates the necessity of hasty burials, for, being perfectly air-tight, it prevents any unpleasant odor from escaping and can be kept from day to day, until it suits the convenience of the friends of the deceased to inter. We might offer hundreds of certificates in corroboration of these facts, but the following will suffice:

Certificates from Clay, Webster and others.

WASHINGTON, April 5th.

GENTLEMEN—We witnessed the utility of your ornamental "Metallic Patent Burial Case," used to convey the remains of the late Hon. John C. Calhoun to the Congressional Cemetry, which impressed us with the belief that it is the best article known to us for transporting the dead to their final resting place. With respect we subscribe ourselves. Yours, &c.

$5000 Reward—Great Race.

THE great race between the Clothing Stores of Carlisle, resulted in the complete triumph of the new store of ARNOLD & SON, in the store room lately occupied by Wise & Campbell, corner of North Hanover and Louther sts. It is now conceded by all and every one that they stand pre-eminent among the clothing dealers in Carlisle, having succeeded in convincing their friends, that they can sell Clothing made and got up, according to the latest styles, from 20 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other house is possibly able to furnish them. They have now on hand a large and splendid assortment of

Ready-made Clothing,

Furnishing Goods, Cloths, Cassimeres and Vestings. Also, Hats and Caps, and every thing in their line for Men and Boys. Their materials were selected with the greatest care, purchased at the lowest cash prices, and at such houses only, who never deal in anything like auction trash. Their friends may therefore rest assured that articles purchased of them will and must give satisfaction. Clothing made at the shortest notice in the most fashionable style, having for that purpose secured the services of an experienced Cutter, and laid in a splendid assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings, &c., which for beauty and durability cannot be surpassed. To the citizens of the surrounding country we would say, give us a fair trial. All we ask is a fair look at our stock and we will not fail to convince you that our Clothing is better made, of better materials, better trimmed, cut with more taste, and last though not least, cheaper than you have ever bought elsewhere. Also, a large lot of Trunks, Carpet Bags, Umbrellas, &c.

All hail creation far and near,
Of ARNOLD'S Store you shall hear;
Let pealing drums and cannon's roar
Proclaim the news from shore to shore;
Great bargains sure, are on the wing,
Rare wonders then we now will sing:
At first we'll speak of CLOTHING rare,
Such trophies, sure will make you stare,
Of broad and narrow cloth so cheap
We'll take a moment's time to speak.
Delighted too you can't but be
With prices and their quality;
Dress and Sack Coats—aye, Vestings too,
What bargains now for all of you!
The Cents will our compliments receive,
And call they must the wonders to believe.
In Pants we have all kinds of styles,
One dollar and upwards, piles on piles.
In Summer Goods—for soon 'twill come—
We'll give you bargains all for fun.
Frocks and Over-coats so very fine,
Great wonders you shall see in every line.
Hosiery, Suspenders, Under-shirts for all,
All kinds of Gloves to please all who call.
But we cannot stop to enumerate,
We have bargains both good and great.
Our stock too in the Furnishing line
Is plentiful, cheap and fine.
