GEN'R. WILLIAM M'LAUGHLIN.-During last week we had the pleasure of forming an acquaintance with Gen'l. Wu. M'LAUGHLIN, of fansfield, Ohio. The General is an intelligent plain and unassuming gentleman, and an old fashioned Democrat. For six years he served the people of his district as Senator in the State Senate of Ohio (two of which he presided as Speaker. The General also commanded a company during the Mexican war, and done good service during that campaign. We wish the General success through life, and hope that for his services to his country and his fellow-citizens, he will be suitably rewarded.

Our Town presents a beautiful appearan just now. The trees have put forth their foliage, the green grass is springing up luxuriant ly in the public squares, and the air is sweet with the perfume of buds and blossoms. The town is improving rapidly, also, and the great mercase in the value of property of late, is some evidence, we think, that Carlisle is about to awake from the Rip Van Winkle sleep that has so long afflicted it. Indeed, the town presents a lively and animated appearance this spring and the spirit of enterprise and improve observable in nearly every street. May the good work go on, and may those who have been induced to improve and beautify their properties-and thus increase their value and add to the appearance of the town—be well recompensed for their enterprise. Considering the many advantages possessed by Carlisle, it should, and doubtless will be, ere long, one of the most prosperous inland towns in the State. All that is wanted to make it a town of importance, is a spirit of enterprise. Now that wa ter and gas have been introduced into the bor ough, every facility is offered for manufacture ing purposes. If our citizens would but re member that nothing adds value to town property more certainly than by establishing mar ufactories, they would, we think, make an early effort to supply this great want in Carlisic. The employment of labor is what we want to make our town what it should be. If we can either through our own citizens, through strangers, get some kind of industry started, Carlisle can soon boast of being one of the most thrifty, as it is now one of the hand somest towns in the State. Let our people conder over this.

This result carries with it an immense influ nce. "Straws show which way the wind what we may expect this tall. It is, indeed, the commencement of the Presidential campaign, and certainly it is an auspicious comment. To show that our opponents so regarded it before the election, we have only to refer to the columns of the Daily Niws, the Know-Nothing organ. A day or two before he election that paper used this language :

"Much depends upon the result of the ap-"Much depends upon the result of the approaching election. The eyes of the Nation are upon us. A defeat of Loco Focoism then is a defeat of Loco Focoism at the next General Election in Pennsylvania, and this fact is well understood by men of all parties throughout the country. Hence the general concern manifasted elsewhere as to the result, and the deep interest shown in the context as it progresses. interest shown in the contest as it progresses. Hence the wonderful excitions made by our opponents. Never were they more unceasing in their efforts, more actively atively at work and more desparately determined to resort to all kinds of means, to ensure the election of their ticket. With them it is the death struggle.—'Defeated here now, their ascendancy in Pennsylvania is at an end. Triumphantly successful now, we shall not fail so to dishearten our opponents, and inspire confidence and encournterest shown in the contest as it progresse opponents, and inspire confidence and encour-age our friends in the interior, as to make suc-

tess next fall in the State an easy task. Let us then do our duty, and all will be well." It will be seen by the above that our ene ics admit that this election secures the State to the Democrats this fall-and this, it must be confessed, is a very rational conclusion.
