HAND LITERARY CONTROVERSY.—The London Athenæum says:

"We are about to enter another controversy. Sir Isaac Holdsworth Dixon announces his intention to answer to Mr. Macaulay's charges against Mr. Macaulay—no rumor has it—is entering upon a rejoinder to his various critics, particularly to the Times and the Athenæum. Mr. Pickard, and Malborough are the chief persons whose reputations have been assailed by Mr. Macaulay; and his judgment on these persons stands in highest need of explanation and defence. Mr. Dixon was understood to explain the entire case as against Penn—Mr. Macaulay's accusations standing in the last edition as they did in the first. We shall be glad to see how Mr. Macaulay can urge in defence of the latter charges of his assertion that Malborough's letter caused the failure at Brest—that Penn changed his religion for popery—that Penn lay buried in the Tower, and Schomberg a dissenting minister—the two latter blunders which Mr. Dixon pleasantly exposes. Literary controversy is always pleasant, and when conducted with ability, and with an earnest desire to find the truth, as this controversy most assuredly will be, is serviceable to history, as well as pleasing to readers."

THE QUESTION.—Abolition papers keep urging that the only question before the country, is the only issue in the Presidential campaign, is the question of slavery extension. It is a good, as every sensible man knows. The question touching slavery now is whether the people of the organized territories should have a right to determine and choose for themselves their own local laws and institutions. In other words, the great principle of popular sovereignty that lies at the basis of all our free institutions is to be given up. That is the issue.

There is no danger of slavery extension now; and the election next fall to determine whether there shall be more slavery. The false issue paraded in the abolition prints is a humbug. But the people are finding that fact out, and will repudiate it.—Pittsburg Post.

DISTRESSING CIRCUMSTANCE.—We learn that two little children were killed near Tiltonsville, in Jefferson county, Ohio, about 7 miles from Wheeling, on Sunday last, under the following circumstances: The day being pleasant, the children had taken a babe and gone out to play. Last winter some trees had been felled and cut into saw-log lengths, and left lying on the hill side. The thawing and washing of the dirt on the hill side had so loosened one of the logs that of its own weight it gave way and rolled down the hill at the particular time when the little children were at play, and, rolling over the party, the two eldest were instantly crushed to death, and, remarkable as it may appear, the little babe was saved with only a scratch, a knot on the log elevating so as to pass over the babe without hardly touching it.

ARTS AND CHARTS.—The Hon. A. T. Millburn in a lecture on the West, says:—"Two remarkable facts are to be noticed in respect to the Indians. The first is that the gigantic unknown to the Indian, makes its first appearance—from whence no man knows—when the white man comes and plants his fields, affording an abundance of delicious food to the pioneer. The second fact is, that the honey-bee is not found in the country while in the possession of the Indian. It keeps just in advance of the advancing wave of civilization. When the Indians see the swarms of these new visitors, their wise men sadly acknowledge that it is time for them to abandon their pleasant hunting grounds and the graves of their fathers, and seek new homes."

Mr. Francis P. Blair and Mr. Andrew Jackson Donelson both claim (says the New York Day Book) to have been warm friends of Gen. Jackson, to have been perfectly familiar with his views, and to have shared like brothers in society and affection. Now, Mr. Donelson declares that, if the General were alive, he would be a know-Nothing, while Mr. Blair avers that, were "Old Hickory" still living, he would be a genuine black republican. This is a very strange disagreement between two persons who knew all about Gen. Jackson.

FARMERS, TAKE NOTICE.

THE ATKIN'S SELF-RAKING

REAPER AND MOWER,

WILL be for sale in Carlisle, by Henry L. Burkholder, at the following rates: Reaper, cash, $155; Reaper and Mower, cash, $190; Reaper and Mower, on time, $210; Reaper, $180; $75 on delivery; $75 first of September, and the balance first of December, with freight from the Factory at Harrisburg. The Atkin's Reaper is built of the best material that can be found, and put up in the best workmanlike manner, warranted to cut grain as well as can be done with the Cradle. Farmers getting Atkin's Reaper do not run the risk they would in buying a Reaper about one thousand miles away from home; if there should anything break they can get the castings at the Factory at Harrisburg, at any time. Persons buying this Reaper have the benefit of all improvements free, hereafter, by applying to J. S. Wright, at the Factory.

CHRISTIAN STOUFFER, Agent at Chambersburg; H. L. BURKHOLDER, Travelling Agent at Carlisle; Henry Herr, Agent at Harrisburg, and James Patton, General Agent at the Factory, at Harrisburg, for Pennsylvania. Order through the above agents.

What better evidence of true worth could be given than such unparalleled increase—1 in 1852—3000 in 1856! And though so little known, and all the odium to come of numerous failures of other Self-rakers, yet not two-thirds of the customers could be supplied last year.—More will be disappointed the next, for, if farmers can get a reliable Self-raker, they are determined to have it; and this is now thoroughly established in the confidence of the farming public. It has a raker always on hand and doing the work, particularly in a heavy or lodged crop, better than a man. Saving at least another hand in binding; is even a greater Grain Saver than Labor Saver, and is also a fast rate Mower. If you intend getting rid of your old fashioned back-breaker, and to get a Raker with Bone and Muscle of Iron and Wood; you must be moving, for 3000 next harvest will by no means supply the demand, as the 1200 which was so insufficient the past season.

Strong, Reliable, Good Materials, and Well Built. A Reaper that constantly gets out of order is a nuisance and dear at any price.—Breakages with this have been inconsiderable, notwithstanding the increase of gearing by the Raker; owing to the care used in good materials and putting them together thoroughly.—Many have cut from 100 to 300 acres and over with one, without detention, or any expense for repairs. The harvest is a hurrying season; you want a machine that can be relied upon, and this is the one, as experience shows.

In case of Management, this is not surpassed. Few purchasers the past year, and not one Agent in ten had had any experience with it; and generally machines were shipped so late as only to be received just at harvest, or after it was begun. Hence there was no time to experiment and learn about it, which is generally so necessary with new machines. This will be obviated the coming season, with those who are wise in ordering earlier than last spring. Some, too, fell into improper hands, as orders were filled indiscriminately, till the supply failed.—In several instances machines were returned and sold again to proper parties, and they gave excellent satisfaction. Yet under all these disadvantages, not two per cent. gave any serious trouble; and we will guaranty much less next season.

A First Rate Mower—Knife Never Chokes. From the first introduction of this machine, farmers have said that to give it the lead far ahead of all others, we had only to make it as good in grass as in grain. We succeeded pretty well with the grass last season; but the motion of the knife was hardly fast enough to cut prairie grass, and some other kinds. A faster gear was made and supplied to a part of the purchasers, which gave excellent satisfaction, and this will be used on all this season. With this motion, and the knife in good order, it never chokes. We own Murray's patent for putting on the back sickle edge, by which choking is obviated; and to guard against contention, and insure our customers against molestation, we have bought the right to use Green and Forbush's patent on the knife as we build it. The change from Reaper to Mower is very simple and made in a few minutes; and a wheel is attached to the outer end of the moving bar, to regulate the height of cutting, to facilitate backing, and move from field to field.

Points to Consider in Buying a Reaper. Every farmer, by himself or with a neighbor, should have a Reaper. If you have none, or even if you have an old-fashioned back-breaker, you will look for one—

1st—To cut well, clean and easy, and with a knife that does not "choke."

2d—Strong and reliable, not getting sick when needed.

3d—Easily managed, that you, your boys and hands can work without difficulty.

4th—Not hard upon the Team, neither of heavy draught, galling their necks by heavy weight upon the pole, nor slumping their shoulders at every obstruction. There should be no side draught.

5th—Taking up lodged Grain, and working well in all kinds.

☞ Upon the first five points no Reaper excepting Atkin's Self-Raker, and few equal it, notwithstanding the addition of the Raker.

6th—Saving one hand in Raking, the hardest work in the harvest field.

7th—Saving at least another Hand in Binding, by having the gavels well laid.

8th—Saving in Cutting and Raking, not shattering by the reel, and by the Raker jerking it off the platform.

9th—Saving Wastage after binding, the grain being laid so evenly and straight as to be bound securely, preventing scattering in the after handling, and protecting the heads well when stacked.

☞ Upon the Sixth, Eighth and Ninth points, two unhesitatingly claim superiority over all other Reapers ever invented. The saving or wasting grain in harvesting with machines, is a point not properly appreciated. Even between those considered good and the Atkin's there is a difference, at present prices, of ten to twenty dollars per day, and over.

10th—Convertable into a Mower, with little trouble and small cost.

☞ Some old-fashioned back-breaking Reapers can be used for mowing, but no other Self-Raker; and no convertable machine claiming to be a good Reaper is inferior to do it in grass.

11th—Knife never chokes. By Murray's back sickle edge, for which we own the exclusive patent, the great trouble in Mowing Machines—the choking—is effectually obviated.

CARLISLE, Pa., Sept. 5, 1855.

J. S. WRIGHT, Esq.—Dear Sir—Having purchased in July last, Atkin's Self-Raking Reaper and Mower from your agent, H. L. Burkholder, Esq., I take pleasure in recommending it as the most economical Reaper for the farmer to buy. I am sure I never before cut and put up the same amount of grain with so little expense, so little help, and so well. I believe I have saved the one-third of the price of the Reaper this year. Not only that, but it runs light on the horses. The Raker saves a good man. The even and regular deposition of the gravels will save one man in four in binding. We have had from twenty to thirty farmers looking at it when going, many of whom had other Reapers but not the Raker, and the most of them said it was the best, all it performed well. I know of no machine equal to it. The Mower, after we had it started, cut 14 acres from 6 o'clock to 10 o'clock. It was timothy. If these lines can be of any avail to you, you may use them as you think best.

Yours Respectfully,

JOHN B. STERRETT.

CARLISLE, Oct. 9, 1855.

To J. S. WRIGHT, Esq.—Dear Sir—In July last I purchased of your agent in Carlisle, H. L. Burkholder, one of Atkin's Self-Raking Reaping Machines, and can safely recommend it as the most complete, economical labor-saving machine of the kind yet introduced into this part of the country; although my farm is hilly, it performed its work to my entire satisfaction, and to the admiration of a great number of farmers who were present on the occasion of its trial. Besides making the cleanest work of any Reaper I have ever seen, it requires but half the power to move it that Reapers do generally. Two horses or mules can draw it with ease, though I used four on account of the land being somewhat rough and uneven.

To all farmers having large crops to cut I would advise as a matter of convenience and economy to procure one of Atkin's Self-raking Reaping Machines. Yours Respectfully,

JACOB NOFFSINGER.

CARLISLE, Oct. 8, 1855.

MR. HENRY L. BURKHOLDER—Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in bearing testimony to the invaluable character of Atkin's Self-raking Reaper and Mower." I had both in use on my farm and each performed its work to my entire satisfaction, and to the admiration of many farmers who witnessed them in operation. I recommend this machine, as one of the most important inventions for the farmer, and a great economical labor-saving machine.

You, as the agent for Mr. J. S. Wright, have done a lasting benefit to our farming community by the introduction of the Reaper into this county.

Very Respectfully,

W. M. HENDERSON,

Oakland, Cumb. co., Pa.

YORK SULPHER SPRINGS, Pa., Oct. 1, 1855.

J. S. WRIGHT—Dear Sir—Automaton Self-raking Reaper I bought of you did its work well, cutting and raking better than I have ever had grain lifted from a hand rake, and taking off the heaviest and most weighty bundles. It is of easy draught and well built, and I think it will give perfect satisfaction to every farmer that wants one. I would not have any other.

W. F. BONNER.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 30, 1855.

J. S. WRIGHT—Dear Sir—The Reaper that I bought of your agent, Albert Jaques, I tried on my farm in the presence of some fifty of the best farmers in Dauphin county, and it gave perfect satisfaction to them all. I cut my harvest with the Reaper, and if I could not get another I would not take one thousand dollars for it. If this is of any use to you, you may use it as you choose.

HENRY HERR.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 17, 1855.

J. S. WRIGHT—Dear Sir—The Reaper that you sent me I was highly delighted with; it done its work to my entire satisfaction in grain and grass, and I consider it the best Reaper in use, and I recommend it to the farmers of New Jersey.

ELIJAH MOUNT.

MARIETTA, Pa., Oct. 18, 1855.

J. S. WRIGHT—Dear Sir—In regard to Atkin's Self-raking Reaper and Mower I bought of your agents, P. Morris & Co., of Philadelphia, and I must say, it done its work with entire satisfaction in grass and grain, and would recommend it to the farmers of Pennsylvania.

JOHN MUSSER.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 1, 1855.

J. S. WRIGHT—Dear Sir—Your agent, H. G. Bennet, called on us this summer, to see if we would accept the agency of the Atkin's Self-raking Reaper. We had made up our minds not to accept the agency of any Reaper or Mower, until we could get one that we could have confidence in to recommend to our customers, as we are manufacturing agricultural implements at Trenton. Now, Sir, we would be glad to accept the agency of Atkin's Reaper here, as we have implicit confidence to recommend it to the Farmers of New Jersey and Pennsylvania.
