The Dayton Empire speaking of Fremont, says: "Is this the man for our country when foreign nations theraten-with war? Is this the man to guide the ship of State through the prisent complication of our foreign affairs? Is he the man to biring peace and quiet to the country. By a careful and patriotic management of our internal affairs? He is not. It is no time now for Racky Mountain clumbers and Mariposa claim owners. It is a time for the master-spirita of the country. THE PARTY OF THE CONSTITUTION .- Judg The Party of the Constitution.—July ing from the signs of the times, says the Philadelphia Argas, the present conflict of the Democratic party and all others combined, is to decide the griat question of the Union and the Constitution. Shall they be preserved in their purity, or trampled under foot by those unworthy to enjoy the blassings which flow from than I I Becomes a scrious question, and one when we forn, is too little, pondered by those who oppose so vehemently the oldest and only Cansitutional party of the country. The principles of the Democratic party are as firm and Constitutional partylof the country. The principles of the Democratic party are as firm and immovable as are the mountain chains that bind together our great and wide country. What great measurewas ever proposed, and successfully carried and, enforced by, any other party? What party, has ever regarded, the rights and interests of the whole country without reference to particular sections, and has ever secured the largest liberty to, the citizen? What party is now contending against the wildest notions of freedom and combinations of power, that has freedom and combinations of power, that has yet cursed the country? The National Demo-eratic party: like truth, it has ever resisted error. Could the great and good now sleeping in the grave, appear to us, what a spectacle would be presented. The great Clay and Webster would now stead by the side of Cathoun and Buchanan upon the only intportant questions of the day, us do inany other men of mark who have 'until now stood in opposition.' The fact is, the various opposition for need to the country are driven to the wall, and have ring, all their hopes upon the agitation, of the blavery question. We do not hear, a word upon any other subject—a mute indorsement of the policy of their oppositions. Now who can he side as to their duty? The Democratic party occupy the only, ground ut, peace and Constitutional freedom, as relating to the trother oppositions. So the treatment of the ground arredom, as relating to the treatment of the late. There is but one path, and all good men and true, if they will consider and examine the subject, cannot but feel the truth and be guided. Could the great and good now sleening bulject, cannot but feel the truth and be guided by it.
