MEAN AND DISHONEST. - During the holding of the Fair of the Cumberland County Agricultural Society, the Cumberland Valley Railroad issued what purported to be "Excursion Tickets." A great number of persons from Harrishurn and other places came here on those tickets; but what was their surprise, on handing their tickets to the car agent on their return home, to be told that they were "not good," and that each passenger holding them must either pay full fare or leave the cars. So that, the passengers from Harrisburg coming to our Fair paid in the first place 75 cents for an "Exn ticket," and then 60 cents to get home sgain-just 15 cents more than full fare both ways. God frelp the men who can be guilty of thus imposing on strangers.

wet and disagreeable. The attendance of people far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the officers of the Society, and the recipts, we learn, were larger than last year.

The Fair was on a magnificent scale, and was alike creditable to most of the exhibitors, our county, and the officers of the Society. In many respects it was a more attractive one than that of last year, but in soure of the department was highly creditable, and the contributions by the ladies, in needle work, preserves, pickks, bread, butter, garden vegetables, &c., was universally commended. The display of innumerable fancy articles and curiosities of various kinds, attracted much attention. Capt. Bricken, of Newville, we learn, received the first premium, and richly the total states which shall be in force upon the subject."

ricultural department of this agricultural Fair. The exhibition of horses was large, but, so far as we could judge, poor. With the exception of a couple pairs draft horses, two or three tolerable saddle horses, and two or three stallions, it was nothing to brag of. There were a number of very good mules on exhibition, and one pair, owned by the Messrs Aul.'s, of Newwille, attracted much attention, and were the best on the ground. Of cattle it is scarcely necessary to speak, for, with the exception of the Kentucky heifers exhibited by Mr. Daniel. Ann. of Newville, there were none on the ground worthy of note. The same may be said of the swine: sheep there were none. It is a fact, and it is with reluctance that we make the acknowledgement, that the farmers of this county, generally speaking, appear to take no pains whatever to improve their stock, and hence it is that this feature of the Fair amounted allimost to a failure. We do hope our agricultural friends will think of this subject, and, like and formed will think of this subject, and, like and formed will think of this subject, and, like and the same bill, we may remark, recognised all the civil laws and officers of Kansas, but ville, attracted much attention, and were the most to a failure. We do hope our agricultural friends will think of this subject, and, like Repetition, by Mrs. Armes, of the first lesson their brethren in nearly all other counties of repealed the criminal laws, and left the people our State, make an effort to improve the breed of their horses, cattle, sheep and hogs. Of fowls, there were but few on exhibition Several coops of very fine chickens and a couple

The potatoes and seeds on exhibition were universally admired, for their size and beauty, and several very good specimens of apples, onions, quinces, &c., were also exhibited. On the whole, the Fair was a very creditable one, but, to tell the truth, in the agricultural department we noticed little that was worthy of commendation. Had it not been for the contributions of the ladies, mechanics and shop-keepers, the exhibition would not have been very creditable, either to the Society or to our county. We hope to see a decided imported ment in this respect by next year, for we heard a number of farmers declare on the grounds that in one year more they would try to have stock on exhibition that would be creditable alike to themselves and the Society. We since every hope this may be the case, for if an improvement in the agrealtural department is be induced to suggest that the name of the Society be changed from "Agreathrard Society" for 'Ladie's and Mechanic's Society. The state of the society is the state in the quality of stock.—They stand in their own light, and are losing money by not improving the breed of horses, cattle and other stock, and it is time they should know it.
