In Pennsylvania, we have at increase of ten inthe next Congressional delegation, an increase of seven in Indiana, and five in Ohio, showing that the masses of the people have not been led astray by misrepresentation, but that from the beginning they have discorned the right, and have dared to approve it. They testify their confidence in the Democratic policy, and their belief that the Union can only be perpetuated under Democratic government. The plood and smoke, the cries of "bleeding," "burning," "sbricking" Kansas has not blinded them to reason, or to the force of truth, and the course of the Democracy in the last Congress has every where been triumphantly sustained by the " so ber second thought" of the people. As in the case of the gallant Representative from the First Pennsylvania District, so in Indiana. The fulest meet of hearty approval has been accorded to the Democratic Representatives, while those the lent themselves as the willing tools of Banks and Burlingame, and Wilson and Summer, and Weed and Greeley, have been left at home to regret, for the balance of their lives, their schemes of treason to the Constitution and the Union .-

Even Gampbell, of Ohio, one of the high-priests in the disunion conclave, has suffered reproof, being elected by a majority of only 19 Yotes. where formerly he received over three thousand. Such be the reward ever of Democratic courage and loyalty.
