The fact is a singupation : that the converts are mainly from abread. The Mormons have proceed and on their way to Utah. The fact is a singupation : that the converts are mainly from abread. The Mormons have their "stakes" and missionaries all over Europe. Their plan, crowned with auccess, is to select matives of a country they wish to operate in seed them outfrom among them, and feed them with their central church funds, until their proselytism is so successful as to allow a support from "officings" of the converts they make. For this end their tracts are wide, circulated. A little while ago 25,000 copies of one of their weekly journals were distributed in London. The Book of Mormon is their great are instained into many of the modern languages, such as French, Geingens, Prinks, Polynesian and Welst. Here is the great source of supply. Rarely do we hear of a convert in our State; and we believe there are no places of worship or preachers in these parts. It will be one of the most difficulty of duties for the general government to dcai with this miscrable community—a burden on the land— a disgrace to this nineteenth century—a perfect modern Sodom. Every American, of any mor-al sense, must feel a degree of loathing that the people of Illinois would not allow such a seething cess-pool to stand among them; that they should have warned the pestilence from out of their borders; and when the Mormons refused to go, that the indigmant people pitch-ed them out neck and erop. It is worthy of remark and note, that British maw-worms ever on the scent for make-weights against our coun-tre mode this nurification work the ground such a course on the part of the general govern ment. But there are political relations between Utsh and the United States that necessitate du Uth and the United States that necessitate du-tics on the part of both. The Unh people petitioned for a territorial government; Con-gress created such a government; and hence they are under our jurisdiction ard laws.— These laws must be executed as well in Utah as in the other territories, and the people of this territory are as much bound to obey the laws and respect the constituted authorities as the people of any other territory.
