THE DYING BOY TO HIS MOTHER.

- "Mother, will I ever wear Shining robes all white and fair? Will the angels love me too, Watch and guard my steps like you
- "Yes, love, for the paths of heaven Payed with gold, are straight and ev And the care of angel bands, Better than these failing hands.
- "Tell me, mother, will I know All the friends I loved below, For the care they render me Shall I watch them tenderly?"
- "Holy child, yes, surely thou, By thy mother's side shalt bow oothe her all her lonely way, Bless her night and cheer her day.
- Soon shall death return from me, Then in waiting thou wilt be; May thine angel fingers press Softly on this fading tress;
- Sing me Heaven's tenderest notes, While my trembling spirit fleats On the threshold it hath tred, Bear, oh, bear it up to God."

TRUE POLITENESS.

Those who wish to make others happy n Those who wish to make others happy must be attentive to little things, and to the manner in which they perform their acts of kindness. The pleasure a favor is adapted to convey, is often greatly lessened through want of a pleasant manner on the part of the person conferring it. A boy once carried some food to a starving widow and her children. "Here is some meat for you," said he, in a coarse, rude voite. He laid it on the table and went out. Now his gift would have conferred far greater happiness if it had been bestowed in a gentle and kind manner. True politeness is true benevolence. Its importance is appropriately set forth in the following extract taken from an exchange paper:

How few children think it worth while to b polite to their playmates and intimate friends? By politeness. I do not mean a great deal of unnecessary bowing and courtesying, but that delicate attention to the comfort of those around that springs from a kind, and generous

I have seen them come in on a cold winter's day, and draw their chairs before the fire in such a way that those who were sitting back could scarcely feel the warmth of it, and this without any apology for such a breach of noticiness.

Sometimes they interrupt those in the room when they are engaged in conversation, by ask-ing some foolish question, instead of waiting as they should do until an opportunity is given them to speak. Then, they are impolite to their playmates, and to their sisters and broth-Instead of cheerfully assisting when the selves.

Some boys think it beneath them to be politic to a sister. I feel sad when I see such a boy. But there are many who think differently. I recollect that I used to meet a fine, manly lad, last winter, drawing his sister to school on a sled. Her rosy checks and sparkling eyes bore testimony that his politeness was not thrown away upon her. She would pat his check with her hand and call him her kind brother.

cheek with her hand and call him her kind brother.

He would frequently meet boys of his acquaintance who would urge him to leave his sister and go with them to play. He would answer them, "Yes, when I have taken little Firmy to school." I never saw him impatient when he was walking with his little sister, because she could not keep up with him; and he would never run away and leave her. Do you not think that boy was a good brother, and a good son? He was always kind and polite to his sister, and to all. Do you think he would forget to be polite as he grows older? No, for it will become a habit with him; and these little attentions, which cost him nothing, and are it will become a labit with him; and these litle attentions, which cost him nothing, and arso gratifying to those that receive them, will gain him many a friend.

Think of this, my young friends, when you

Mindness; and remember that you lose nothing by being polite. Be polite at home. Be polite towards your parents, and your brothers and sisters. This is the true place to cultivate good manners. It is worth much more than all the schools for manners that have ever been established. When you retire to sleep, bid your parents, your brothers and sisters, and all, a kind" good night. And when you meet them again the next day, greet them with a pleasant 'good morning.' If any one does a favor for you, thank him for it. When you are helped at the table, thank those who help you. When you wish anything handed to you do not say, 'dive me some — or 'Hand me the —,' but ask pleasantly and respectfully. 'Will you please to give me some or 'Hand me the —,' but ask pleasantly and respectfully. 'Will you please to give me some —?' Please hand to me the —.' It is these little things that make persons polite. N. Y. Observer.

Enstern Swords.

There have been some curious features co anufactured in early nected with the sword manuactured in early times. The Damascus blades, and the Tolodo blades, have each in their own particular sphere acquired great fame for their excellence; the keemess of the edge and the extensive and perfect elasticity having been carried in them to the utmost point. We have all read of Orientals wearing their swords twisted round their waists, or eren coiled up in their turbans, so great was their elasticity; and swords have been so keen as to cut a silk shawl in two, while resting lightly on the edge. Such, at least, have been the reported wonders; but the Eastcros may probably in this, as in many other matters, embellish their stories a little.

S5000 Reward—Great Race.

I HE great race between the Clothing Stores of Carlisle, resulted in the complete triumph of the new store of ARNOLD & SON, in the store room lately occupied by Wise & Campbell, corner of North Hanover and Louther sis. It is now conceded by all and overy one that they stand pre-eminent among the clothing dealers in Carlisle, having succeeded in convincing their friefits, that they can sell Clothing made and got up, according to the latest styles, from 20 to 25 per cent. cheaper than any other house is possibly able to furnish them. They have now on hand a large and splendid assortment of $5000 Reward-Great Race.

Ready-made Clothing, Ready-made Clothing.

Furnishing Goods, Cloths, Classimeres and Vestings. Also, Ilats and Caps, and every thing in their line for Men. and Boys. Their materials were selected with the greatest care, purchased at the lowest cash prices, and at such houses only, who never deal in anything like auction trash. Their friends may therefore rest assured that articles purchased of them will and must give satisfaction. Clothing made at the shortest notice in the most fashionable style, having for that nursess secured the services of an ex-d give satisfaction. Clothing made at the shortest notice in the most fashionable style, having for that purpose secured the services of an experienced Gutter, and laid in a splendid assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings, §c., which to the clitzens of the surrounding country we would say, give us a fair trial. All we ask is a fair look at our stock and we will not fall to conyou that our Clothing is better made, of botter materials, better frimmed, cut with more taste, and last though not least, cheaper than you have ever bought elsewhere. Also, a large for lot of Trunks, Carpet Bags, Umbrollas, §c.

All hall creation far and near,
Of Annold's Store you shall hear;
Let pealing drums and cannon's rear
Preciain the news from shore to shore;
Great bargains sure, are on the wing,
Rare wonders then we now will sing;
At first we'll speak of Clething rare,
Such trophies, sure will make you stare,
of broad and narrow cloth so cheap
We'll take a moment's time to speak.
Delighted too you can't but bo
With prices and their quality: We'll take a moment's time to speak.
Delighted too you can't but bo
With prices and their quality;
Dress and Sack Coats—aye, Vestings too,
What bargains now for all of you!
The Gents will our compliments receive,
And call they must the wonders to believe.
In Pants we have all kinds of styles,
One dollar and upwards, piles on piles.
In Summer Goods—for soon 'twill come—We'll give you bargains all for fun.
Frocks and Over-coats so very fine,
Great wonders you shall see in every line,
Hosiery, Suspenders, Under-shirts for all,
All kinds of Glores to please all who call.
But we cannot stop to enumerate,
We have bargains both good and great.
Our stock too in the Furnishing line
Is plentiful, cheap and fine.
