From the New York Post.

THE BOND STREET AFFAIR.

MRS. CUNNINGHAM AGAIN IN THE TOMBS.

Until to-day Mrs. Cunningham has been suffered to remain at the house No. 31 Bond street, alleging that she was too ill for removal. She has been under the special charge of Captain Dilks, of the Fifteenth Ward Police, acting as agent of the Warden of the City Prison, to which she had been formerly committed by the warrant of Justice Davidson. This morning, however, no chance of her obtaining bail remaining, it was resolved to remove her to the legitimate place of confinement—the Tombs. Perhaps the action of the authorities was a little hastened in the matter by the following:

LETTER FROM MR. EDWARDS.

"Dear Sir: As counsel and attorney for some of the heirs for Harvey Burdell, I have long been desirous to secure possession of the house No. 31 Bond street.

"As I gather, Justice Davidson has issued his warrant of commitment against Mrs. Cunningham; and therefore, as the house referred to cannot rightfully, and, as I think, not legally be made a prison, and as it appears to me that the matter of the safe and proper disposition of the accused is with you more than with any one else, I claim that the house, the property of my clients, be freed from Mrs. Cunningham's presence.

"Always respectfully.

"CHARLES EDWARDS.

"A. OAKLEY HALL, Esq., District Attorney.

"NEW YORK, August 13, 1857."

Upon the receipt of the above letter this morning, Mr. Hall despatched Officer Smith, of the First District Police Court, to Capt. Dilks to make arrangements to remove Mrs. Cunningham to the Tombs as quickly and quietly as possible. Officer Smith and Capt. Dilks proceeded to the house about 9 o'clock, and informed Mrs. Cunningham of their errand. Her daughters were with her, and as soon as the subject was broached, Augusta, the eldest, who has for some time been ill of a nervous disorder, fell in a fainting fit. She was revived with some difficulty, only to relapse into another.—Medical attendance was procured, but it was not until after 11 o'clock that she became so far recovered that it was thought that she might bear her mothers removal. Helen bore up bravely, and decided to accompany her mother, who still appears to be very ill and weak.—Dr. Smith was in attendance upon the family.

An officer was then sent for a carriage, which drove up to the door immediately. A quantity of bedding, clothing, &c., was brought and placed in the carriage, and then the door was thrown open, and Mrs. Cunningham was brought out lying on a mattress, borne by Capt. Dilks and Officer Smith, who placed her carefully on the back seat. She appeared to be dressed in black, was covered over with shawls, &c., and wore a thick veil over her face. She uttered no word, and made no motion, but laid as if entirely helpless. Miss Helen was then handed in. Officer Dilks and Smith seated themselves beside her, the curtains were carefully closed, and at precisely half past eleven o'clock, Mrs. Cunningham rode away from No. 31 Bond street, probably never to return.

Not above 50 persons were assembled in the street when the carriage drove away. The crowd consisted of servants from the neighboring houses, a few chance foot passengers, and two reporters. Silence prevailed while Mrs. Cunningham was being brought out, only one old gentleman asked Capt. Dilks if one of the bundles he brought out contained the baby.—As the carriage disappeared, however, various remarks were indulged in.

The carriage drove through Broadway and Leonard streets, and reached the Tombs at fifteen minutes before 12 o'clock. Here a crowd of 50 persons collected, curious to catch a glimpse of the notorious woman, but she was hurried through to the matron's room, where a physician was in attendance and took her in charge. As the door was closed, she was lying on the mattress, apparently insensible, and her daughter Helen bending anxiously over her.

Wilmot's Consistency.

The Montrose Democrat, referring to Wilmot's Know-Nothing Letter, gives the following convincing evidence of his sincerity in denouncing the Catholic Church for interfering in politics:—

"Now we can show that Wilmot's letter proves him grossly inconsistent; that his denunciation of clerical interference in politics harmonizes poorly with his own conduct during the late Presidential canvass. Many of our fellow citizens remember well the disgusting scene enacted in the Old Court House at this place last August. Wilmot and two bigoted priests were the chief actors. They vied with other in denouncing the Democratic party and its brightest lights. They played the part of demagogues to perfection. It was such a spectacle as we hope for the honor of humanity, never to witness again. A man appointed to administer justice, and two poor deluded beings claiming to be the agents of the Almighty, pandering to the prejudices, and appealing to the passions of an excited and misguided crowd! With ridiculous and impious vanity assuming to shield with eternal condemnation their superiors in all that constitutes the man, these pharasaical three, assaulted measures they could comprehend, protested against the elevation of a patriot and statesman, and racked their puny intellects in the vain endeavor to turn sensible men into devotees of a reckless speculator and adventurer whose claims to preferment rested on the expertness he had displayed in fleecing the Government out of its just dues. And now Mr. Wilmot, who was then "cheek by jowl" with political parsons, urging them on to an abandonment of their proper duties, has the cool impudence to protest against the interference of the clergy in politics, and assaults a body of men whom he fails to convict of that impropriety! Such conduct deserves the execration of all good citizens: and when we consider the motive which is the parent of it, we cannot doubt that this demagogue will be speedily and overwhelmingly condemned by those he has so long and so successfully deceived."

ADVANTAGE OF FOREIGN TRAVEL.—An elderly lady, who, with her daughter, has but recently returned from a rather rapid journey through England, France, part of Germany, and Italy, was asked, the other day, if they had visited Rome, and she replied in the negative. "La! Ma, yes we did," said the daughter, "that was the place where we bought the bad stockings!"

☞ Gerrit Smith, in a recently published letter, says that his expectations in regard to his gifts of land to colored men have not been fully realized. He says: "of the three thousand colored men to whom I gave land, probably less than fifty have taken and continue to hold possession of their grants. What is worse, half the three thousand, as I judge, have either sold their land, or been so careless as to allow it to be sold for taxes."

☞ Nickel, used in the coinage of the new cent piece, is found in large quantities in Berks county—in the South Mountain range.

75 Dollars Reward!

STOLEN on Saturday night the 8th instant, from the stable of the Eagle Works, Harrisburg, Pa.

A Grey Mare,

about 14 or 15 hands high, and about 8 or 9 years old, with glass eyes, white face, and an old scar on her right rump. She has a REMARKABLY WIDE BREAST, and stands with her fore feet towards each other; one of her hoofs is split. She was in good condition, a very fast traveler, and goes up hill in a trot or canter, but very carefully down hill, and has the habit of biting at a person who comes near her. There was also stolen at the same time,

A SADLE AND BRIDLE.

FIFTY DOLLARS will be paid for her recovery, and TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS for the conviction of the THIEF.

Any person who has seen her since she was stolen, will be suitably rewarded if they will at once send information of the time and place.—The person first seen with her was a man about 6 feet high, light complexion and about 160 to 160 pounds weight, and belongs to a gang who have been stealing other horses, and it is supposed took others at the same time. Farmers and others are interested in ferreting out this gang.

It is supposed he went towards Maryland, and perhaps Baltimore or Frederick, or towards Chambersburg. Address

RESOLUTION

PROPOSING AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMONWEALTH.

RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met: That the following amendments are proposed to the constitution of the commonwealth in accordance with the provisions of the tenth article thereof.

FIRST AMENDMENT.

There shall be an additional article to said constitution to be designated as article eleven, as follows:

ARTICLE XI.

OF PUBLIC DEBTS.

SECTION 1. The state may contract debts, to supply casual deficits or failures in revenues, or to meet expenses not otherwise provided for; but the aggregate amount of such debts direct and contingent, whether contracted by virtue of one or more acts of the general assembly, or at different periods of time, shall never exceed seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and the money arising from the creation of such debts; shall be applied to the purpose for which it was obtained, or to repay the debts so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever.

SECTION 2. In addition to the above limited power the state may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the state in war, or to redeem the present outstanding indebtedness of the state; but the money arising from the contracting of such debts, shall be applied to the purpose for which it was raised, or to repay such debts, and to no other purpose whatever.

SECTION 3. Except the debts above specified, in sections one and two of this article, no debt whatever shall be created by, or on behalf of the state.

SECTION 4. To provide for the payment of the present debt, and any additional debt contracted as aforesaid, the legislature shall, at its first session, after the adoption of this amendment, create a sinking fund, which shall be sufficient to pay the accruing interest on such debt, and annually to reduce the principal thereof by a sum not less than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; which sinking fund shall consist of the net annual income of the public works, from time to time owned by the state, or the proceeds of the sale of the same, or any part thereof, and of the income or proceeds of sale of stocks owned by the state, together with other funds, or resources, that may be designated by law. The said sinking fund may be increased, from time to time, by assigning to it any part of the taxes, or other revenues of the state, not required for the ordinary and current expenses of government, and unless in case of war, invasion or insurrection, no part of the said sinking fund shall be used or applied otherwise than in extinguishment of the public debt, until the amount of such debt is reduced below the sum of five millions of dollars.

SECTION 5. The credit of the commonwealth shall not in any manner, or event, be pledged, or loaned to, any individual, company, corporation, or association; nor shall the commonwealth hereafter become a joint owner, or stockholder, in any company, association, or corporation.

SECTION 6. The commonwealth shall not assume the debt, or any part thereof, of any county, city, borough, or township; or of any corporation, or association; unless such debt shall have been contracted to enable the state to repel invasion, suppress domestic insurrection, defend itself in time of war, or to assist the state in the discharge of any portion of its present indebtedness.

SECTION 7. The legislature shall not authorize any county, city, borough, township, or incorporated district, by virtue of a vote of its citizens, or otherwise, to become a stockholder in any company, association, or corporation; or to obtain money for, or loan its credit to any corporation, association, institution, or party

ARTICLE XII.

OF NEW COUNTIES.

No county shall be divided by a line cutting off over one-tenth of its population, (either to form a new county or otherwise,) without the express assent of such county, by a vote of the electors thereof; nor shall any new county be established, containing less than four hundred square miles.

THIRD AMENDMENT.

From section two of the first article of the constitution, strike out the words, "of the city of Philadelphia, and of each county respectively;" from section five, same article, strike out the words, "of Philadelphia and of the several counties;" from section seven, same article, strike out the words, "neither the city of Philadelphia nor any," and insert in lieu thereof the words, "and no;" and strike out "section four, same article," and in lieu thereof insert the following:

"SECTION 4. In the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, and in every seventh year thereafter, representatives to the number of one hundred, shall be apportioned and distributed equally, throughout the state, by districts, in proportion to the number of taxable inhabitants in the several parts thereof: except that any county containing at least three thousand five hundred taxables, may be allowed a separate representation; but no more than three counties shall be joined, and no county shall be divided, in the formation of a district. Any city containing a sufficient number of taxables to entitle it to at least two representatives, shall have a separate representation assigned it, and shall be divided into convenient districts of contiguous territory, of equal taxable population as near as may be, each of which districts shall elect one representative."

At the end of section seven, same article, insert these words, "the city of Philadelphia shall be divided into single senatorial districts, of contiguous territory as nearly equal in taxable population as possible; but no ward shall be divided in the formation thereof."

The legislature, at its first session, after the adoption of this amendment, shall divide the city of Philadelphia into senatorial and representative districts, in the manner above provided; such districts to remain unchanged until the apportionment in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

FOURTH AMENDMENT.

There shall be an additional section to the first article of said constitution, which shall be numbered and read as follows:

SECTION 26. The legislature shall have the power to alter, revoke, or annul, any charter of incorporation hereafter conferred by, or under, any special, or general law, whenever in their opinion it may be injurious to the citizens of the commonwealth; in such manner, however, that no injustice shall be done to the corporators.
