by a powerrul effort, and turning to the envoy, cooly said, "Sir, I have not put myself under the protection of your truce without knowing your more of warfare. You see that gui," "aid he, politing to the solitary six pounder. It is well charged with grape, and I have the solemin pledge of my commander that it shall be fired at the very moment that I give the signal. There-fore, restrain these men, and respect the laws of war, or you shall instantly accompany me to the other world." This was enough. Shapp was no more molested, he returned to his com-rader in asfety, lought out the desperate action that ensued, and obtained promotion for his bra-very. The counter instance referred to at the head of our paragraph was told as follows : After the British and I ultimes had withdrawn, Crogham missed one man (only one) who had belonged to this little band, and all efforts for his discovery were for some time, unsuccessful. At has his remains wore discovered in the garret of one of the block houses, where he had reep for safety, and was cat ha two hay a cannon ball. All the rest, considering their chances for life not worth at though, had only sought to do thot duty, and escaped alive from perhaps the most despe-rate fight on record. The only man that was killed happened to be the only man that was killed happened to be the only man that was

The Veiled Picture.

The Veiled Picture. A story is told of two artist lovers, both of whom sought the hand of a noted painter's daughter. And the question, which of the two should possess himself of the prize so carnestly coreted by both, having come finally to the fa-ther, he promised to give his child to the one that could paint the best. So each strove for the maidron, with the highest skill his genius could command. One painted a picture of fruit, and displayed it to the father's inspection of the layer where are bidges preserved. with a call. October 1, 1857. fruit, and displayed it to the father's inspection in a beautiful grove, where gay birds sang sweet-ly among the follage, and all nature rejoiced in the luxuriance of bountiful life. Presently the birds came down to the carisas of the young pinter, and attempted to eat the fruit he had plettred there. In his surprise and joy at the young artist's skill, the father declared that no one could triumph over that. Soon, however, the second lover came with his plettre, and it was velled. "Take the vell from your painting," said the old man.

"I. leave that to you," said the young artis

<sup>44</sup> I. leave that to you," said the young artist with simplicity. The lather of the young and lovely maiden then approached the velice picture, and attempted to uncover it. But imagine his astonishment, when, as he attempted to take off the veli, he found the veli listoif to be a picture!--We need not say who was the lucky lover; for the artist, who deceived the birls by skill in painting fruit, manifested great powers of art, he who could so veli his canvass with the pendil as to deceive a skillul master, was surely the greatest artist.--N. Y. Atlas.

What is Democracy.

The Hon. Win. Allen, formerly United States Senator, from Ohio, gives the following an swer to this question. It is eloquent and wowacy is a sentiment not to be ap iust : plate, compromised, is a sentiment not to be ap-palled, corrupted or compromised. It knows no baseness, it cowers to no danger—it op-presses no weakness. Fearless, generous and humane, it rebukes the arrogen; cherishes honor, and sympathizes with the humble. If honor, and sympathizes with the humble. It asks nothing but what it denotes. Destruc-tive only to despotism, it is the sole conserva-tive of liberty, labor and property. It is the sentiment of freedom, c qual rights, of equal obligations. It is the law of nature pervading the law of the lap. The stupid, the selfish and the base in Apirit may demonnee it as a vulgar thing; Aut in the history of our race, Democratic Arinciple has developed and illus-trated the sights moral and intellectual attri-butes of dur nature. Yes, that is a noble, more butes of our nature. Yes, that is a noble, mag nanimous, and sublime sentiment, which en nanimods, and subline scattment, which ex-pandsour affections, enlarges the circle of our sympathics, and clevates the soul of man, un-til blaining an equality with the best, he re-jects, as unworthy of his dignity, any political immunities over the humblest of his followers."
