Horrible Occurrence in Luzerne County.—Wife Killed by her Husband.—Mysterious Discovery of Human Remains.

We condense the following from the Pittston, Luzerne county, Pa., Gazette, of Oct. 28th: "One of the most appalling tragedies which have taken place in Luzerne county, Pa., occurred in this place last week. Early on Friday morning it was rumored that a woman living in White Oak Hollow, about two miles from this borough, had been brutally murdered by her husband, a man named Francis Burns, in the employ of the Pennsylvania Coal Company. The constables were immediately on the alert, and having ascertained that the report was well founded, a search was made for the supposed murderer. He was soon discovered in a coal bed or cave, near the town. His face, hands, and clothes were besmeared with coal dust, and his behavior was so suspicious that the bystanders of his guilt. The excited crowd which met the prisoner on his way to the justice's office, took possession of him, and demanded he should be hanged. It was with the utmost difficulty the constable managed to rescue him from their grasp. During the hearing before Esquire Reddin the scene was one of great excitement; nothing would satisfy the indignation of the mob but the immediate application of the lynch law. The prisoner, however, was eventually taken to the lock-up, and a coroner's jury summoned to hold an inquest on the body.

On arriving at the prisoner's residence, which is situated in one of the wildest spots of this section of the country, the body of the murdered woman was found lying on a miserable apology for a bed, in a wretched hotel, which, with husband and two children, she had inhabited for some months. Drs. Nugent and Dirkin made the post-mortem examination of the body, and testified that the cause of death was concussion of the brain, produced by violence. One or two flesh wounds and several severe bruises were discovered on the body, but there was no fracture. A man named Cooper, being duly sworn, said:—Last night I heard a woman's screams and blows being struck; have frequently known Burns to ill-use his wife. Other witnesses were examined, who testified to the brutality of Burns, and that he was rendered to the effect that she was murdered by him. Burns then committed to Wilkes-barre jail. The same day (Friday) coroner's reached Pittston that the remains of a human being had been discovered on Everhart's Island, near the Lackawanna, so far decomposed that identification was impossible. The coroner, therefore, at the close of the inquest upon the body of the unfortunate woman whose murder we have already mentioned, hastened with his jury to the spot, accompanied by many others, and there, in the presence of a large number of witnesses, he proceeded to follow. There, hidden in a cave, and covered by water, lay all that was visible of a human body. It was lying on the back, the legs drawn under the body, but with the head and arms turned completely round, and the face buried downwards in the earth. The search instantly commenced. The bones of the unknown were in a good state of preservation, but so much disturbed from the natural arrangement, while the flesh had entirely disappeared. The skull bore no marks of injury, except indeed the absence of one tooth from the upper and two from the lower jaw—the only sign of violence discovered was a fracture of the right leg, just above the ankle joint. An inquest was held, at which it was determined that the remains were those of the woman who had been murdered by her husband, Francis Burns. The manner of his death was not stated, and the Gazette says: "We are informed that there was a good deal of mystery attached to Miss's disappearance. He was very trustworthy and economical in his habits. It is said he had no relatives in this part of the country, and had loaned most of his money to his friends."

A Practical Suggestion. The Jeffersonian, published at West Chester, by John Hodgson, Esq., lately elected on the Democratic ticket to the Legislature, contains the following article, which we commend for its brevity and moderation: "THE REMEDY.—The entire bank capital existing in the United States is stated to be three hundred and forty-three millions of dollars. The entire paper currency is set down at one hundred and eighty-eight millions of dollars, of which fifty millions is in five-dollar notes, and about the same amount in ten-dollar notes. The amount of specie is valued at fifty-five millions of dollars, of which the banks hold sixty millions.

These statements have been made in official public documents, and are probably as near the facts as can be ascertained. In view of them, the remedy for a suspension of specie payments is apparent and easy. Let the General Government and the States cooperate to abolish the five and ten dollar notes. The result would be to reduce paper currency one half, and secure in its place gold and silver. A suspension then would not occur once in a century. This remedy was proposed and urged by James Buchanan as a Senator. The influence of his Administration may be compared to that of the Administration of the States in bringing about this great reform. No question of domestic policy is so transcendently of great importance. It is a people's measure. All parties should unite upon it, and demonstrate that the people are able to manage their affairs of Government. Of course the remedy would be applied with due caution, so as not to disturb violently the measure of value or the relation of debtor and creditor. In our opinion, this grand and only true cure of the American banking system might be applied during Mr. Buchanan's Administration. A longer period is not requisite.

From Washington. Rejected Returns of Oxford Precinct, Johnson County, Kansas Territory.—Gov. Walker's Secretary, Geo. W. Walker, has received from the Washington Territory—Sale of Public Lands—Indian Trust Funds—Decision of the Attorney General—Death of an Army Officer. WASHINGTON, Nov. 1, 1857. [Correspondence of the Phila. Press.] The decision of Gov. Walker and Secretary Stanton in purging the polls of the late election in Johnson county, by striking out the returns of Oxford precinct, Johnson county, occasioned great discussion. He has heretofore confined his action to such questions as clearly came within his jurisdiction. In this instance, however, he has allowed his name to be used to create an exception to this action. His desire, as well as that of the Secretary, has been, and is to have a fair election, and to have the people's will as fairly expressed as possible. From the accounts in the papers, there seems to be no doubt that a fraud was committed in the election, and it was this fact which has induced Gov. Walker and Secretary Stanton to take this course. Reports have reached Washington from officers attached to the Interior Department of the discovery in Washington and Oregon Territories of one of the most valuable mineral resources of the United States, and which has been the subject of much speculation. This discovery is deemed of importance to the interests of the Pacific coast, furnishing cheaply, if looked after, the means for the transportation of goods and passengers to the vast forests of timber, admirably suited for naval purposes. THE NEWS FROM INDIA. The New York Times has the following comments on the late intelligence from India: "The news by the Baltic is highly favorable to the English in India. The tide is evidently turning in their favor, and we may expect to hear by the next India mail that the strength of the great rebellion has been broken, and the country effectually restored to British control. Then will commence the real difficulties of the British in India. It is not possible that India should continue to be governed by the same system which has led to this extensive and formidable insurrection. The India news by this arrival may be deemed a few words; but, as every point was considered before its arrival in the very extremity of danger, those few words tell the whole story of encouragement and confidence. Delhi still held out, on the 30th or 31st, and a sortie of the mutineers had been again repelled, and the arrival of the siege train, which was to be the signal for assault, was confidently expected within four days.
