The Fading One. Did you ever see some member of a family fading away—gradually, yet surely, beyond all...

Portrait.

A HOUSEHOLD GIRL. BY R. H. STODDARD. I've lost my little May at last; She perished in the Spring, When earliest flowers began to bud...

GOOD HEART AND WILLING HAND.

BY CHARLES MACKAY. In storm of shine, two friends of mine Go forth to work or play, And when they visit poor men's homes...

Miscellaneous.

THE LEFT EYE.

A rich old man, who resided at the extremity of the cape, had two beautiful daughters, the youngest of whom, named Kookju, was as much distinguished for her beauty...

LIFE'S COMPENSATIONS.

The happiness of this world is not so unequally distributed as many imagine, the rich have not all the privileges, nor the poor all the miseries...

COL. YELL'S FIRST COURT.

When Colonel Archibald Yell, afterwards killed at the battle of Buena Vista, had taken his seat for the first time upon the bench, in Arkansas...

THE HOMESTEAD.

How sacred the recollections that cluster about the spot where we were born—the spot where first we learned to walk, to crawl, to creep...

THE MANUFACTURE OF WORDS.

The following sensible remarks are extracted from Kegan's Magazine: No permission has been so much abused in our day as that of license for the manufacture of words...

THE BRAIN IN CHILDHOOD.

It is a fact well attested by experience, that the memory will be seriously injured by pressing upon it too early and too much...

CONFERRING OF DOCTORS' DEGREES.

The prodigality of parchment indulged in by some of our universities about the commencement season is truly wonderful. Having it in their power to make Doctors an indefinite number of mankind, they seem disposed to exercise their prerogative to the utmost...

BUNYAN'S TOMB.

A correspondent of "Moore's Rural N. W. Yorker," thus speaks of the sepulchre of the "immortal dreamer": In a quiet and secluded cemetery of the great metropolis of England, lie the precious ashes of one of the best and noblest of men...
