BRUTAL MURDER. - The Clarksville Tobacco Plant gives the following particulars of a recent murder at Scottsburg, a station on the Richmond and Donville Railroad, in Halifax county, Va. :

·A man by the name of Tuck was beating th son of a man named Ashby--Ashby interfered, and demanded that Tuck should desist. Tuck inquired if he took up the quarrel. Ashby re-sponded, without manifesting any purpose of violence, that if a man could not protect his own offspring he did not know what right he had. Thereupon Tuck seized Ashby and struck him several blows. He then held him by the collar at arm's length with his left hand, and with his right took a knife from his pocket, . opened it with his teeth, and cut Ashby to the heart. Tuck then escaped, and is still at large.
