A Polite Boy.

The other day we were riding in crowded cars. At one of the stations an old gentleman entered, and was looking around him for a seat, when a lad ten or twelve years of nge rose up, and said, "take my seat, sir." The offer was accepted and the infirm old man sat down.— "Why did you give me your seat?" he inquired of the boy, "Because you are old, sir, and I am a boy," was the quick reply. The passen-gers were very much pleased and gratified.— For my part, I wanted to seize hold of the litile market. respects than one. We once saw a lad run af-ter a lame old man in the street, and hoot at him, but he was known as one of the worst lads in the village. He would swear and disobey, Bobinetts, &c. cars never uses wicked or vulgar words. Ilis parents probably can trust him. One thing more: Doubtless every passen-ger in the cars felt that the little gentleman, who gave the old man a seat, was well instruccheap ted at home. In some instances a very thin coating of the color-ed matter is used, so as to spread over a very large surface a small portion of the material ers, Linen and Silk Hakfs, &c. used ; but in other cases the very reverse is the fact, and in one instance was procured from a piece of ornamental table contectionary not the size of a sugar almond a quantity of arsenite of copper sufficient to destroy the life of a heal-thy adult. Confectioners have no reasons to use these poisons, for there are harmless veretable colors enough to answer their purposes.

BALL ROOM TALK .- A good story is told of a Bostonian's first appearance in polite society in Arkansas. The company were engaged in dan Arkansas. The company were engaged in dan-cing, but the loveliest female-present occupied a chair at the window, without a partner. Step-ping up to the lady, with a 'palpitating heart, his mind greatly excited for fear of refusal, he exclaimed—"Will you do me the honor to grace me with your company for the next set?" Her lustrous eyes shone with unwonted brilliancy, her white pearly teeth glistened in the flickering candle light her beavy showy hosem ince and candle light, her heavy, snowy bosom rose and fell with joyful rapture, as she replied.—" Yes sr-ee! for I have sot, and sot, and sot, till I have about tuk root !"

GETTING OVER A DIFFICULTY .--- A class which graduated not over a thousand years ago, em-braced among its members one Tom Elliott, an incorrigible wag, who was not noted for any ricelar and marked attention to his studies. Mathematics was a particular object of Tom's disregard, and this caused him an occasional jeu d' esprit with the dry professor of conics. On one occasion, the forfessor, during the reciation, asked Tom to explain the horizontal pa

Tailas of the sun. Tom replied : "I don't know how." "But," said the professor, "suppose you were ascortain if appointed by the government to ascertain it what would you do?" "I'd resign," gravely responded Tom, amid the convulsive laughter of the class, and even the professor actually perpetrated a grin.

HIS FEET SLIPPED BENEATH HIM .- A new sensation novel has the following capital climax. "It is good :

Am I really dear to you, Sophia? I whis pered, and pressed my burning lips to her rosy mouth. She did not say yes: she did not say no; but she returned my kiss; my soul was no longer in the body ; I touched the stars ; I knew the happiness of the scraphim; and the earth went from under my feet !

A WARNING TO SLANDERERS .- The legal pu ishment for slander in Orange county, I. Y., in rather severe, though occasionally just enough. It appears that some three months ago, a woman having a husband and family, gonded to despe-ration by a man who boasted that he was her paramour, publicly shot him with a pistol, the bullet knocking out several of the fellow's teeth. and inflicting a severe wound. She was indic ed for an assault and battery with intent to kill. and tried at Orange County Court last week. The jury after an hour's absence, returned a verdict of acquittal, which was received with undersold. great applause.
