

TERMS.—One Dollar and Fifty Cents, paid in advance; Two Dollars if paid within the year; and Two Dollars and Fifty Cents if not paid within the year. These terms will be rigidly adhered to in every instance. No subscription discontinued until all arrears are paid unless at the option of the Editor. ADVERTISEMENTS.—Such as Hand-bills, Postings, Pamphlets, Labels, &c., &c., executed with accuracy and at the shortest notice.

American Volunteer.

BY JOHN B. BRATTON. "OUR COUNTRY—MAY IT ALWAYS BE RIGHT—BUT RIGHT OR WRONG, OUR COUNTRY." AT $2.00 PER ANNUM.

VOL. 44. CARLISLE, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1858. NO. 42.

Odds and Evds.

Outo said, "I'd had rather people should inquire why he had not a statue erected in his memory than why he had." "I'm glad you admire my dress," said a young lady to a gentleman at a late Washington party; "it just cost seven dollars, and I made every stitch of it myself." Upon which Mrs. Brown, of the Agitator, remarks, "When young ladies pride themselves upon the cheapness of their attire, instead of its expensiveness, shall have fewer broken fathers and husbands."

Poetical.

From the Dollar Times. FAREWELL TO YOUTH.

BY JAMES STEPHENSON. The days of my dream-life are past, And I am resolved to be sage, I have lived, as some others, too fast, But had to keep up with the age. How many maturity sees, Whether life has been joyous or sad, Who would not again like to be, A rosy cheeked lassie or lad? As the records of youth we unfold, Perchance we see many a blot, But its pages have pictures of gold, Which those of the present have not. Our loves and our friendships are there, Uncertain, alas! as the tide; They formed the sweet lessons of prayer, Yet the flame on their altar has died. What I cannot with pleasure recall, I bid forever be forgotten, Better have no remembrance at all, Than remember with tears of regret. Time changes the head and the heart, Experience teaches us truth; But we oft from its precepts depart, And have visions as age in youth. The world has enough that is real, With tangle beauties it teems; Then, why should we court the ideal, And feed the poor soul upon dreams. My manhood! I welcome its reign, Be its years unto wisdom resigned, The lost may it fully regain, And yet leave a foot-print behind.

DOES HE LOVE ME?

I wonder if he loves me, When he says my face is fair, And his dear hand softly lingers, 'Mid the ringlets of my hair! I wonder if he loves me— Oh, whisper very low, Bright, stately orbs of evening, The secret if you know! Clear streams that ripple softly, And birds that sweetly sing, For he ever said he loved me, The joyous tidings bring. Blue violets that he gave me, To the roscods in my hair, In pretty perfumed whisperm, My happiness declare! Oh, azure eyes, and faithful, Bright flowers of the dell— My timid heart was fearful, You'd nothing 'twas to tell! Then close your petals softly, Oh, blue eyes like to sleep, For he said that he loved me, Ye must not see me weep!— A dear arm stole around her, And on the loved one's breast, Young Kitten came to wonder— She knew that she was blest.

Miscellaneous.

From Dr. Livingstone's "Adventures and Discoveries in South Africa." Just published by HARRIS & BROS., New York.

AN ELEPHANT HUNT.

We were on the side of a fine green valley, studded here and there with trees, and out by numerous rivulets. I had retired from the noise, to take an observation among some rocks of a laminated grit, when I beheld an elephant and his herd, about a mile and a half or two miles distant. The calf was rolling in the mud, and the dam was standing fanning herself with her great ears. As I looked at them through my glass, I saw a long string of my own men appearing on the edge of the valley, and I perceived that they were about to proceed to hunt the elephant. "Our father will see to-day what sort of men he has got." I then went higher up the side of the valley, in order to have a distinct view of their mode of hunting. The object being, to totally unconscious of the approach of an enemy, stood for some time suckling her young one, which seemed about two years old; they then went into a pit containing mud, and secured themselves all over with it, the little one frisking about his dam, the larger one and the hunter kept incessantly, in elephantine fashion. She kept flapping her ears and wagging her tail, as if in the height of enjoyment. Then began the piping of her enemies, which was performed by blowing into a long pipe, the sound of which was like a hoarse cry. They call out to attract the animal's attention, "O chief! chief! I have come to kill you, O chief! chief! many more will die besides you, etc. The gods have said it," etc., etc. Both animals expanded their ears and listened, then left their mud and rushed toward them. The little one ran forward toward the end of the valley, but, seeing the men there, returned to his dam. She placed herself on the danger side of her calf, and passed her proboscis over it again and again, as if to assure it of safety. She frequently looked back to the men, who kept up an incessant shouting, singing, and piping; then looked at her young one and ran after it, sometimes sideways, as if her feelings were divided between anxiety to protect her offspring and desire to revenge the teeming of her persecutors. The men kept about one hundred yards in rear, and some that distance from her flanks, and continued thus until she was obliged to cease a rivulet. The time spent in descending and getting up the opposite bank allowed their coming up to the edge, and discharging their spears at about twenty yards distance. After the first discharge she appeared with her sides red with blood, and, besides to the for her own life, seemed to think no more of her young. I had previously sent off Sekwaku with orders to spare the calf. It went very fast, but neither young nor old ever returned to a gallop; the quickest pace is only a sharp trot. Before Sekwaku could reach them, the calf sought refuge in the water, and was killed. The pace of the dam gradually became slower. She turned with a shriek of rage, and made a furious charge back among them. They ranged about her, except in the first instance, never went further than one hun-

DOCTOR JOHNSON.

Dr. Johnson was one of the brightest literary ornaments of the eighteenth century. He was born at Litchfield, in Staffordshire, in September, 1709, and died in December, 1784, at the advanced age of nearly seventy-six years. His father was a bookseller, and from him he inherited political prejudices and a morbid melancholy, which had a baneful influence on his life. He was troubled with scrofula, which disfigured his face, and deprived him of the sight of one of his eyes. Notwithstanding these natural and constitutional defects, he rose to the highest eminence in the world of literature, by that patient and dogged industry, which, if not in itself a genius, is one of the best substitutes for it. He was for three years, and was driven from his studies there through extreme poverty. His first literary attempt was a translation, for which he received five guineas. In his twenty-sixth year he married a widow nearly double his age, whose fortune was less than eight hundred pounds sterling. He was a schoolmaster for a year and a half, and during this period wrote the most of his tragedy called Irene.

SOLDIER ANTS.

I observed several regiments of black soldiers returning from the marauding expeditions. They are black with a slight tinge of gray, and are nearly half an inch high, and on the time of march three or four feet high, when they are disturbed, they utter a distant hissing or chirping sound. They follow a few leaders who never carry anything, and they seem to be guided by a sent on the path by the leader; for, as the march proceeds, they throw the water from their basin behind a bush where I was seated, and I noticed that when a regiment had passed before I began my toilette, and when they returned they were totally at loss to find the way home, though they continued searching for the nearly half an hour, it was found only by one making a long circuit round the wet spot. The scent may have indicated also the propriety of their going in one direction only. If a handful of earth is thrown on the path at the middle of the regiment, either on its way home or abroad, they seem to be completely at loss as to their further progress. What it may be that guides them, they seem only to know that they are not to return, for they come up to the handful of earth, but they do not cross it, though not a quarter of an inch high. They will round and round their path again, but never think of retreating to their nest, or the place where they have been eating. After a quarter of an hour's confusion and hissing, one may make a circuit of a few yards, and then return to the place that roundabout way. When on their way to attack the abode of the white ants, the latter may be observed rushing about in a state of great perturbation. The black leaders, distinguished from the rest by their great size, especially in the region of the thorax, are the only ants one can see, and they seem to be in effect to chloroform, as it renders them insensible, but not dead, and only able to move on two hands. As the soldiers march, they carry their side, the rank and file seize them and carry them off.

Without these black soldier-ants the country would be overrun by the white ants; they are extremely prolific, and nothing can exceed the number of them which are produced in a year. They are an important part in the economy of nature by burying vegetable matter as quickly beneath the soil as the voracious red ant does animal substances. They dig their galleries generally by night, and work under galleries constructed by night to screen them from the observation of birds. At some given signal, however, I never could ascertain what, they rush out by hundreds, and the number of them which they digress into lengths may be heard like a gentle wind murmuring through the leaves of the trees. They drag these pieces to the doors of their abodes, and after some hours toil leave them to rot, and many of the bits of grass may be seen curled about the entrance of their holes, as if they were out of sight for perhaps a month, but they are never idle. On one occasion, a good bundle of grass was laid down for my bed on a spot which was quite smooth and destitute of plants. I had been told that the ants would not touch it, and I heard them incessantly nibbling and carrying away all that night; and they continued all next day (Sunday) and all that night too, with unabated energy. It was not until nearly six hours at it, and seemed as fresh as ever. In some situations, it remained a day, they devoured the grass beneath my mat, and would have eaten that too had we not laid down more grass. At some of their operations they beat time in a curious manner. Hundreds of them are engaged in building a large turbe, and they wish to beat it smooth. At a signal, they all give three or four energetic beats on the plaster in unison. It produces a sound like the dropping of rain on a bush when touched. These insects are an important element in forming a fertile soil. But for their labors, the tropical forests, bad as they are now with fallen trees, would be a thousand times worse. They would be important on account of the heaps of dead vegetation which they collect, and the small amount of gluvina that the comparatively small buried collections do now.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

In conducting the morning discipline to the boys and girls are now passing, the Medical Circular says, the mind as well as the body is sure to suffer from it. Instead of forcing as much instruction in a given time into the human brain as its capacity and powers of apprehension are capable of receiving, it is better to consider that childhood is the appropriate time for the discipline of the body, for the consolidation of the bony fabric, for the invigoration of the muscles, and the healthful development of the glandular or nutritive system. "Pure air, exercise, liberty, and a sufficiency of good food are absolutely necessary to physical development; to which we would add, moderate study, and a watchful encouragement of gay and joyous emotions." To enable us, however, to carry out such a system at school than is the present custom, so that we shall not be under the need of requiring one age to do the work of another. Time is an important element in training; and if we work against it, we put the child in a state of natural strain, which must be productive of much unconsidered evil.

DUMBNESS OUT OF THE SERVICE.

A thieving marine was drummed out of the service at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, on Wednesday last. He was tried by a court-martial, and sentenced to be kept in irons for one week, and red on broad water. The warrant was issued on Wednesday. Just at evening, as the workmen were leaving the yard, he was brought out accompanied by a file of marines, a card with the name of the offender, and a professional helmsman, and the tune of the "Rogues' March," executed in the style, by a detachment from the North Carolina Band, he was drummed out of the yard and served, and the proceedings were witnessed by a large number of spectators.

A WICKED GAZER.

A wicked gazer of a lawyer, in a country court, recently analyzed the bench by putting the following to his professional brethren: "Why is Judge—like necessary?" The members of the bar quickly answered, "Because he knows no law."

Random Reflections.

Next to that of umbrellas, the ownership of books is perhaps the most respected. Hence the philosophical though rude remark, that fools load books, and wise men borrow them. The value of a good thing depends on him who uses it. The joke of the lost is certain to be laughed at that of a poor relation is scarcely even listened to. My son, if thou wilt wear tight boots, there are three bad things thou wilt inevitably suffer; namely, a bad corn, a bad gait, and a bad temper. When a man is so reduced that he has to pawn his ring, it may be safely inferred that he is hardly worth a rap. It is the last rap of the hurry-gurdy that gets the player's head broken. How lonely in the holidays is a leg of mutton! Still, a prelude of hard dumping is an antidote to appetite. It is said that necessity knows no law. This accounts for public drinking such a virtue of necessity. Men, when taken to the pledge, and the police will not take supper when on ordinary duty; when genuine Havana's are no longer grown in Connecticut, nor great Suffolk Basses chopped and put in water, when an omnibus half empty goes the same pace as a full one; when original American faces are no longer to be traced as adaptations from the features of the original, but are made to look like those that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and has his shaving water brought without signing more than twice for it; when a lecturer has to make jokes that one can laugh at; when the law of private property extends to umbrellas, and a case of confiscation may be dealt with as a theft; when a landlord gives up taking rents, and a tenant's property is not safe from the touch of anybody's gin-bottle; when a bachelor in lodgings finds a shirt without a button off, and