FIRE AT THE OHIO STATE FAIR GROUNDS .-GREAT DESTRUCTION OF CATTLE AND HORSES.—About 10 o'clock last night flames were discovered to be issuing from a building on the state Fair grounds, about half a mile from the righton House, which was occupied by Wiliam Hogan, a dairyman, as a stable for his cows and horses. The alarm was given, but the building being well stocked with hay and grain, t was impossible to allay the flunes until it urned to the ground.

Seventy six as good cows as could be picked. out in the county were destroyed, together with four valuable horses, one mule, and four milkcarts, with apparatus, together with sufficient hay and grain for the winter. One horse, together with two cows and a valuable Durham they are so severely burned that it is believed they cannot survive. The entire loss is estima ted at from $5,000 to $7,000, on which there is no insurance. - Cincinnati Times.
