

AMERICAN VOLUNTEER.

JOHN B. BRATTON, Editor & Proprietor. CARLISLE, PA., APRIL 28, 1859.

Democratic State Nominations.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL, RICHARDSON L. WRIGHT, Of Philadelphia. FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL, JOHN ROWE, Of Franklin County.

THE WEATHER.—The weather this spring has been very bleak. For several days in the beginning of last week it was not that much more desirable, but on Friday morning it commenced an old-fashioned rain, and on Saturday rain fell in torrents with a little sprinkling of snow.

CLEANLINESS AND HEALTH.—As the warm weather approaches the Borough Authorities should pay particular attention to the cleanliness of the streets. No branch of the municipal arrangements for keeping the town pure and healthy, requires greater watchfulness than street cleaning.

HOME HIS DRY.—Being in the vicinity of the Market House, on Saturday morning last, we heard our Chief Burgess giving orders to a herd of colored rowdies, who are constantly hanging about the Market House, to march.

THE GAORS.—We observe by our exchanges from all parts of the country, that the prospect for a heavy winter-crop is very encouraging, and unless some unforeseen calamity befall it, the producer and consumer will both have ample cause for rejoicing at harvest.

BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS.—A large and varied assortment of flowers may be seen at the green house of Mr. Wm. Linn, at the east end of the town. Mr. L. is a highly successful Florist, and cultivates every variety of flowering plants and shrubs.

SUSPICION OF FOOT PLAY.—We learn from the Lewistown Democrat, that David Smith, of near McVeytown, formerly of Carlisle, was drowned in the Juniata river, about four miles above Lewistown, under circumstances which would seem to demand a judicial investigation.

SEDDEN DEATH.—Recently, Mr. Geo. Mell, of Mechanicsburg, engineer in a steam mill at that place, fell to the ground and almost instantly expired, as he was returning home from his work. The deceased was unusually happy on the evening referred to, and had just sung that well-known hymn, "How happy are they who their Savior obey," when death took hold of him.

APPROPRIATION TO THE PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEERS.—It appears that the statement which found its way into the Volunteer, along with other papers, that the Legislature had made an appropriation of $200 to each of the surviving officers and privates of the two Regiments of Pennsylvania Volunteers who served in the war with Mexico, is altogether erroneous.

A WORD FOR THE BIRDS.—Wilson, the ornithologist, computes that each red-winged blackbird destroys on an average fifty gnats a day during the summer. A few figures would show you how many this would amount to in the course of the season.

STATE ELECTIONS.—With the exception of Virginia, which will hold its election on the 20th of May, there will be no more State elections held until August, when the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, Missouri, North Carolina, and Texas will elect.

The Mutiny in Jamaica.

The future of Jamaica bids fair to be a very gloomy one, says the Pennsylvania. Mutiny is rife in every part of the Island. A fierce rabble of negroes and mongrels, armed with muskets, revolvers and cutlasses, traversed the streets of Westmoreland and the principal towns, defying the authorities and committing all sorts of excesses.

THE MUTINY IN JAMAICA.—The mutiny in Jamaica bids fair to be a very gloomy one, says the Pennsylvania. Mutiny is rife in every part of the Island. A fierce rabble of negroes and mongrels, armed with muskets, revolvers and cutlasses, traversed the streets of Westmoreland and the principal towns, defying the authorities and committing all sorts of excesses.

THE MUTINY IN JAMAICA.—The mutiny in Jamaica bids fair to be a very gloomy one, says the Pennsylvania. Mutiny is rife in every part of the Island. A fierce rabble of negroes and mongrels, armed with muskets, revolvers and cutlasses, traversed the streets of Westmoreland and the principal towns, defying the authorities and committing all sorts of excesses.

THE MUTINY IN JAMAICA.—The mutiny in Jamaica bids fair to be a very gloomy one, says the Pennsylvania. Mutiny is rife in every part of the Island. A fierce rabble of negroes and mongrels, armed with muskets, revolvers and cutlasses, traversed the streets of Westmoreland and the principal towns, defying the authorities and committing all sorts of excesses.

THE MUTINY IN JAMAICA.—The mutiny in Jamaica bids fair to be a very gloomy one, says the Pennsylvania. Mutiny is rife in every part of the Island. A fierce rabble of negroes and mongrels, armed with muskets, revolvers and cutlasses, traversed the streets of Westmoreland and the principal towns, defying the authorities and committing all sorts of excesses.

THE MUTINY IN JAMAICA.—The mutiny in Jamaica bids fair to be a very gloomy one, says the Pennsylvania. Mutiny is rife in every part of the Island. A fierce rabble of negroes and mongrels, armed with muskets, revolvers and cutlasses, traversed the streets of Westmoreland and the principal towns, defying the authorities and committing all sorts of excesses.

THAT CONVENTION.

The bolters' convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 13th inst., was a complete failure. It was reasonable to suppose, that after such extraordinary efforts to procure attendance, and the much loud boasting that it would be the largest gathering ever held in Pennsylvania, it would have approximated to something imposing if not grand.

THE CONVENTION.—The bolters' convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 13th inst., was a complete failure. It was reasonable to suppose, that after such extraordinary efforts to procure attendance, and the much loud boasting that it would be the largest gathering ever held in Pennsylvania, it would have approximated to something imposing if not grand.

THE CONVENTION.—The bolters' convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 13th inst., was a complete failure. It was reasonable to suppose, that after such extraordinary efforts to procure attendance, and the much loud boasting that it would be the largest gathering ever held in Pennsylvania, it would have approximated to something imposing if not grand.

THE CONVENTION.—The bolters' convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 13th inst., was a complete failure. It was reasonable to suppose, that after such extraordinary efforts to procure attendance, and the much loud boasting that it would be the largest gathering ever held in Pennsylvania, it would have approximated to something imposing if not grand.

THE CONVENTION.—The bolters' convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 13th inst., was a complete failure. It was reasonable to suppose, that after such extraordinary efforts to procure attendance, and the much loud boasting that it would be the largest gathering ever held in Pennsylvania, it would have approximated to something imposing if not grand.

THE CONVENTION.—The bolters' convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 13th inst., was a complete failure. It was reasonable to suppose, that after such extraordinary efforts to procure attendance, and the much loud boasting that it would be the largest gathering ever held in Pennsylvania, it would have approximated to something imposing if not grand.

THE SLAVE TRADE AND FILLIBUSTERISM.

The charge recently delivered to the grand jury in the U. S. Court at Mobile, by Judge Campbell, is very highly commended by the Savannah Republican as an "earnest and conscientious condemnation of the slave trade and fillibusterism."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The charge recently delivered to the grand jury in the U. S. Court at Mobile, by Judge Campbell, is very highly commended by the Savannah Republican as an "earnest and conscientious condemnation of the slave trade and fillibusterism."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The charge recently delivered to the grand jury in the U. S. Court at Mobile, by Judge Campbell, is very highly commended by the Savannah Republican as an "earnest and conscientious condemnation of the slave trade and fillibusterism."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The charge recently delivered to the grand jury in the U. S. Court at Mobile, by Judge Campbell, is very highly commended by the Savannah Republican as an "earnest and conscientious condemnation of the slave trade and fillibusterism."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The charge recently delivered to the grand jury in the U. S. Court at Mobile, by Judge Campbell, is very highly commended by the Savannah Republican as an "earnest and conscientious condemnation of the slave trade and fillibusterism."

THE SLAVE TRADE.—The charge recently delivered to the grand jury in the U. S. Court at Mobile, by Judge Campbell, is very highly commended by the Savannah Republican as an "earnest and conscientious condemnation of the slave trade and fillibusterism."

UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICTS.

Lord Campbell recently introduced in the British Parliament a bill, substituting the verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases.

UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICTS.—Lord Campbell recently introduced in the British Parliament a bill, substituting the verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases.

UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICTS.—Lord Campbell recently introduced in the British Parliament a bill, substituting the verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases.

UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICTS.—Lord Campbell recently introduced in the British Parliament a bill, substituting the verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases.

UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICTS.—Lord Campbell recently introduced in the British Parliament a bill, substituting the verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases.

UNANIMOUS JURY VERDICTS.—Lord Campbell recently introduced in the British Parliament a bill, substituting the verdict of juries in civil cases. The unanimous verdict of juries in civil cases.

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."

THE PIKE'S PEAK EMIGRATION.—A correspondent of the Boston Journal writing from Broome county, Kansas, says: "The roads in this vicinity, leading West from the river, are white with the wagons of Pike's Peak emigrants. They are camped in large parties along the waters of a gold stream, waiting for the grass to start before proceeding further."