BILL FOUND .- In the U. S. District Court last Postmaster at Centreville, in this county, for alleged offences against the Post Office laws.

THANKSGIVING DAY was well observed in churches, the banks and public offices were closed, the post and magnetic telegraph offices observed Sunday hours, and business of all kinds generally suspended. The sun shone bright, and the atmosphere was delightful and pleasant. In the afternoon the people generally settled their thanksgiving dinners by promenading our public streets, which presented quite a gay and animated appearance in consequence. We have heard of no fights or accidents on that day, and every one seemed to be duly sober and in a good humor.

MURDER CASE-VERDICT NOT GUILTY .-- OUR readers will recollect that a short time ago, a negro woman, who was confined in the jail of this county, made oath that a murder had been committed in Harrisburg, a year or two ago, by William Knox, and that the victim was buried in the garden belonging to the house in which Knox resided. The case was tried at Harrisgro woman the Commonwealth rested. Rebutting evidence was introduced, denying every particle of the colored girl's singular statement. The case was submitted without argument, and the jury after a brief charge by the Court, returned a verdict of not guilty without leaving

In the afternuon the Brigade was reviewed by Maj. Gen. E. M. BIDDLE and Staff.
