

the Detroit Free Press, 17th inst. ... The following extract from a late speech delivered in the Senate by Judge Douglas, should convince his friends in this and other States, that let others pursue what course they may, he will be found the warm advocate of the nominee of the Charleston Convention. His views on this point are sound and incontrovertible, evidencing his attachment to the party and its usage, regardless of personal feeling, and uninfluenced by disappointment or defeat.

THE NATIONAL CONVENTION—JUDGE DOUGLAS.
The following extract from a late speech delivered in the Senate by Judge Douglas, should convince his friends in this and other States, that let others pursue what course they may, he will be found the warm advocate of the nominee of the Charleston Convention. His views on this point are sound and incontrovertible, evidencing his attachment to the party and its usage, regardless of personal feeling, and uninfluenced by disappointment or defeat.

The Legislature.
On Tuesday last, the House, after a long discussion, passed the bill for the reorganization of the Legislature, by a strict party vote—59 to 51. Judge Bell's resolutions, recommending a temporary organization, were rejected in the Senate, by a vote of 17 to 9. The Democratic members submitted and placed upon the Journal their reasons for voting against the Republican resolutions, which are as follows:—

Dr. Robert J. Breckinridge's Letter to the Vice President.
Dr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, has written a very eloquent and conservative Union letter to the Vice President. We have not space for the whole of it, but can give only the concluding portion: "It is the furthest possible from being true that the secession of a portion of the slave States, or the disruption of the Union on the slave issue, is a necessary, a wise, or an allowable alternative. It is true the States are sovereign States. But it is equally true that the Union is a nation—the American people a people. The States cannot and do not disappear, like a cloud of insects; nor do powerful nationalities fade in a day, like the flower of the grass. It took the Roman Empire a thousand years to rise, and the British Empire has survived through all the possible fortune of four thousand years."

Notice.
LETTERS of Administration on the estate of Frances Longo, late of Baltimore, Pa., have been issued by the Register of Cumberland Co., Pa., to the undersigned living in same township. All persons indebted to said estate will make immediate payment, and those having claims will present them for settlement.
HENRY O. BOESER, Adm'r.
Jan. 26, 1860—60

Town and Country.
THE subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public generally, that he still continues the Undertaking business, and is ready to wait upon customers either by day or by night. He has made COFFINS and Caskets constantly on hand, both plain and ornamental. He has constantly on hand Robt. Potter's Patent Metallic Burial Case, of which he has made COFFINS and Caskets constantly on hand, and is recommended as superior to any of the kind now in use, it being perfectly airtight.

Notice.
LETTERS of Administration on the estate of Mrs. Susan M. Gaines, late of Clark County, Pa., have been issued by the Register of Cumberland County, Pa., to James J. Logan, of York township, York County, Pa. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims will present them for settlement.
JAMES J. LOGAN, Adm'r.
Dec. 29, 1859—60

Notice.
LETTERS of Administration on the estate of Logan Antiquity, late of the County of Cumberland, Pa., have been issued by the Register of Cumberland County, Pa., to James J. Logan, of York township, York County, Pa. All persons indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment, and those having claims will present them for settlement.
JAMES J. LOGAN, Adm'r.
Dec. 29, 1859—60