THE STATE LIBRARY TELESCOPE.-The State librarian, Dr. EeWitt, in his last annual report to the Legislature, gives the following historical skotch of the telescope in the State library :

As the inquiry has often been made, in what way, and for what purpose was this in-strument procured? it may not be improper here to answer the inquiry. On the 15th of October, 1768, the American Philosophical Society addressed the Provincial Assembly then in session in the city of Philadelphia requesting them to purchase a reflecting tele scope with a micrometer, for the purpose of making observations on the transit of venus over the disk of the sun, which took place the following June; representing the great importance of such observations to the interests of astronomy and navigation; and consequently to trade and commerce; and stating, moreover, that there was not a telescope in the province, and possibly on the terescope in proper for this purpose. On the same day, the House voted to appropriate a hundred pounds sterling for the purchase of a telescope and micrometer, for the purpose mentioned in the address and aftersized for the use of the address, and, afterwards, for the use of the House; and the Speaker was directed to write to Reujamin Franklin, Esq., then in London, requesting him to purchase and forward the instruments. They were procured and used at Philadelphia in the observations made on that occasion, a full account of which was published in the first volume of the "transactions" of the society. It is said the same telescope was used by the commissioners appointed to survey the boundary lines between Rennsylvania and the States of Maryland, Virginia and New York. Where it was kept, and how used, from the completion of those surveys to the year 1802, I have not yet learned. On the 6th of April, 1802, a resolution was passed by the Legislature "that the Governor of this Commonwealth be, and he is hereby requested to present to Andrew Elliott, Esq., for his own use, during the pleasure of the Legislature, the tolescope purchased in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-nine, now the property of this State, with all the apparatus belonging to it, put in complete repair at the expense of the Commonwealth." The telescope remained in the possession of Mr. Elliott until 1811, when the Legislature was dan authorizing the then Se cretary of the Commonwealth to demand and receive from Mr. Elliott the telescope, and take proper care of the same until otherwise disposed of by the Legislature. In pursuance of this resolution, the Secretary received the telescope, and it remained in his possession until transferred to the apartments occupied

By the State Secretary, after the removal of the seat of government to Harrisburg. Since 1811, when it was received from Mr. Elliott, it has been several times repaired .-Until this year it lay for a long time useless owing to injuries it had sustained. It is now in good repair ; yet it is an old and somewhat complicated instrument, and should be carefully handled, and only by those acquainted with its use.
