From Wilkes' Spirit, of 26th inst. Letter from John C. Hecnan.

LONDON, May 5.

DEAR SPIRIT:—I am happy to inform you that I am in the very best of health, and that the little scar I got under the eye is almost entirely gone. In a week or more, no night the leaves approach in one would suppose for a moment that I had se the tender rudiments of the been hit there at all. I need not say anything The leaves are cooling, and to you about the manner in which the fight was brought to a conclusion-only this, I have no fault to find with Sayers for anything that ine given by the ancients to was done. It was natural that he should unds, estcomed efficacious against avail himself of every opportunity that offered to save his belt, and his hard carned reputation; but there are others who I hold response sible for depriving me of what I carned, and is a compound of sixty-four all that I am sorry for is, that there is no pulvorized, and reduced by earthly way in which I can get redress. I am entirely in the hands of the referce, and he says Sayers had a right to be relieved when I got him "in chancery;" so he gave him two months to get his wind and come to time. Rather a long spell! This, I think, should be the newest of what is called the new rules of the ring. I am glad to say, however, that through the determination of Mr. Wilkes, I have got a day set for a new battle, but I cannot mention it at present, as it would come back here in time to interrupt the meeting. In the mean-time I think I shall go over to Ireland to appears to me that he must have train, or to some place at any rate where I the profit who does not see in shall not be harrassed as I was before. They jetions and hatred between the gave me a pretty rough time of it with their gold but the seeds of discord and warrants and notices to quit, and I want no more of that kind of exercise. I must say, however, that I have but little faith in being able to get the belt, though I have the most perfect confidence in being able to win it in less than half an hour. The persons who were willing to bet 100 to 40 against me before, will not let me have it under any circause if cause there be, seems likely force, will not let me have it under any circles. Demagagues North and South fan cumstances, and it must not be forgotten that he for selfish and ambifious objects; Mr. Dowling, who showed me so much favor by selfish and ambitious objects; Mr. Dowling, who showed me so much favor at misses, which are usually inert in the last fight, is looked up to by the boxers coare likely to be drawn into the here as the natural protector of the trophy of timerificed, notens votens. 48 M'Cormic's Reaper and Mower. HIGHLY IMPROVED, FOR 1860.

CONSTRUCTED from the first on correct principles, it has always been eminently successful, and with its present improvements fally meeting all the requirements of the age; it now defies all competition.

Farmers who may desire it are at liberty, to work one of these Machines through the harvest with the confert, and refer and pay for the one reperturb. The Machine is now perfectly balanced, not leaving a pound weight on the horses' neck; the execution in reapping and mowing, in both wet and dry, in perfect; it cuts the widestswarth, and as now dry, is perfect; it cuts the widestswarth, and as now made, with the lightest draft of any Machine now in use. It is so constructed that the labor of raking off is very much hightened, deaster wheel, on an enoff is very much lightened, desistor wheel, on an entire new principle, on the grain side, whelly relieves the horses from the presente of the machine from strain in turning, and is so arranged that the cutting bar is completely and easily thrown oreir obstructs tions while in motion by the driver, without the use of levers and complicated machinery. A very decided and important feature in its improvement consists in its nearlest arrangement for sengating dad. sists in its perfect arrangement for separating and cleaning the track in moving.

It is the most simple, most substantial, most durable, and in every way the most complete and reli-able Reaper and Mower in the world, and as such able Reaper and allower in the world, and as such is WARRANTED.

The Two-Horse Machine (with easy draft for two horses,) cuts a swarth 5½ feet wide, and the Four-Horse Machine a foot wider. For particulars address
