From the N, Y. Times, May 11. Mr. Conner, the pupil of Mr. Wise, the erronaut, was advertised to make an ascension from Palace Garden at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and at the appointed hour the fences house-tops and trees in the vicinity were filled with a curious crowd, anxious to see all they could without paying the admittance fee.

The inflation of the balloon—the Venus progressed successfully until one of the strips of oiled muslin, of which it was made, gave way. Mr. Conner sewed it up as best he could, remarking, in reply to interrogatories, that the rent might give way, but that he would not give up the ascension for any such trifle as that. As the balloon filled, the wind, which was blowing in violent gusts, swayed it from side to side with such force that it was all four or five men could do to keep it in its place. Several attempted to dissuade Mr. Connor from the ascension, but he persisted in undertaking it, and when everything was in readiness stepped into the wicker basket, and shaking hands with his wife, gave the word to "let go." Before the balloon had risen high enough to clear the building, a violent gust of wind caught it and dashed i with great violence against the concert and cing saloon. The basket containing Mr. Conner was hurled through one of the windows which look out from this room upon the and plain. Garden, but unfortunately the anchorage which the balloon thus suddenly found proved only temporary, and the top of the basket in which the unfortunate erronaut still remained next caught underneath the edge of the street roof, peeling it off as if it were pasteboard.— Then it was dashed with great violence against a sky-light, and instantly the balloon collap-

The crowd inside the garden could not see where the balloon had gone. It was supposed it had landed in one of the adjacent yards.— There was intense excitement. Mrs. Connor fainted, the women screamed and the men rushed frantically for the street to learn the fate of Mr. Connor. No one expected to find him alive. People outside hurried through the basements of the adjoining dwellings into

The body of the balloon went into the adjacent yard, the basket containing Mr. Connor remaining on the roof of the concert saloon. He was taken out insensible and conveyed into a room over the bar-room attached to the garden, where several physicians at once attended him. On the face, breast and back of his head were several slight cuts. No bones were broken. His injuries proved to be chiefly internal. He remained in an unconscious state until closer o'clock leat and state until closer o'clock leat are from the leading importing houses of New York and Philadelphia, and availed ourselves of the entensive auction sale of Van, Wych, Townsend & Co., they can offer great inducements to the buying public. Mr. Connor is a young man, his age being only twenty-five. He has for some time past been a pupil of Prof. Wise, the erronaut. His enthusiasm on ballooning has been intense, and singularly enough, it was heartily participated by his wife. She had resolved to accompany him on the present voyage, and would have done so but for the incompetency of the balloon to carry two persons. The long erial voyage Mr. Connor took a few days ago from Palace Garden, was his first essay as a practical erronaut.

HOT TALLOW A CURE FOR INGROWING NAILS. -We take the following remedy for a very common and very painful affliction, from the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal:

The patient on whom I first tried this plan was a young lady, who had been unable put on a shoe for several months, and decidedly the worst case that I have ever seen. The disease had been of long standing. The edge of the nail was deeply undermined, the granulations formed a high ridge, partly covered with skin, and pus constantly oozed from the root of the nail. The whole toe was swellen, and extremely tender and painful. My mode of proceeding was this:

I put a very small piece of tallow in a spoon, and heated it over a lamp until it became very hot, and poured it on the granulations. The effect was almost magical. Pain and tenderness were at once relieved, and in a few days the granulations were all gone, the diseased parts dry and destitute of feeling, and the edge of the nail exposed so as to admit of being pared away without any inconvenience. The gure was complete, and the trouble pave re-

I have tried this plan repeatedly since, with the same satisfactory results. The operation the same satisfactory results. The operation causes but little pain if the tallow is properly heated. A repetition might in some cases be necessary, although I have never met with a case that did not yield to one application.

Admitting the theory of Dr. Lorinser to be correct, the modus operandi is very plainly to be seen. The liquid cautery insinuates itself since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and dandly of my head to loss its sensibility and the scalp on the crown of my head to loss its sensibility and the scalp on the crown of my head to loss its sensibility and the scalp on the crown of my head to loss its sensibility and the scalp on the crown of my head to loss its sensibility and the control of the 15th inst. THE FORREST CASE-FINAL DECREE-For rest against Forrest.—This case, which has occupied public attention for the last ten years, is near a termination. The counsel attended before the judge last Thursday morning for the purpose of settling the final order The order, as proposed by Mr. O'Conor, recites the decree of divorce on the legal steps already taken. It allows Mrs. Forrest alimony of $4,000 a year, dating from the 19th of November, 1850, and then provides for the arrearages due upon such allowance; which, with interest amount to $47,716 47. This sum is to be paid into the United States Life and Trust Company within thirty days after the settlement of the order. The arrearages and future allowance which is to be paid quarterly to be secured by depositing with the same company the mortgage held by Mr. Forrest upon the Fonthill estate or other adequate security. Mr. Van Buren proposed amending the order by deducting the interest upon the arrearages, which would lessen the sum about ten thousand dollars, and also giving Mr. Forrest ninety instead of thirty days osit the amount and mortgage in the DROUTH IN NEW YORK .- The farmers of New York grow anxious about the oats crop. In many counties hardly a drop of rain has fallen for a month. The grass is thin, and the promise of hay is not a cheering one. The baked earth on the uplands has been turned stiffly and in clods by the corn plowing. The most of it will have to be crushed or harrowed before planting. before planting. The long want of rain has in many districts established a positive drouth, with all the evils of falling springs, and diseolored and sickening vegetation. Cattle, on numerous farms, have been driven to inconve-nient distances for drink. In New England there is also a great need of rain.

HEENAN IN ENGLAND.—A London correspondent of the New York Post writes:

"Heenan is soon to commence his harvest by giving exhibitions. He goes to Liverpool this week, and appears in London next week, and may be assured of coining money by his mill for months to come. He is burning for another fight, but it is considered certain that Sayers would be whipped, and it will not be permitted, even if the authorities have to prosecute the parties for the fight which has tasecute the parties for the fight which has taken place, and so put Heenan out of the reach of victory, and Sayers out of the danger of defeat, knowing which, he will consent to the 47 Wall Street, New York, Dec. 20th, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: Your note of the 15th inst., has been since it began to turn gray, and the scalp on the crown of my head to lose its sensibility and dandruff to form upon it. Each of these disagoabilities increased with time, and about four months since a fourth was added to them, by hair falling off the top of my head and threatening to make me hald.

In this unpleasant predicament, I was induced to try Wood's Hair Restorative, mainly to arrest the falling off of my hair, for I had really no expectation that gray hair could over he restored to its original color except from dyes. I was, however, greatly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only the falling off was arrested, but the ly surprised to find after the use of two bottles only, that not only the falling off. was arrested, but the color was restored to the gray hairs and sensibility to the scalp, and dandruff ceased to form on my head, very much to the gratification of my wife, at whose solicitation I was induced to try it.

For this, among the many obligations I owe to her sex, I strongly recommend all husbands who value the admiration of their wives to profit by my-example, and use it if growing gray or getting bald.

Very respectfully, BEN. A. LAVENDER.
