Hill, the great medical and interary quack of the age; such as 'Essence of Water Dock,' a safe remedy for scurvy; and the Elixir of Baridans, which was infallible against gout and rheamatism. Those who needed the lat-ter were encouraged by the information added to the advertisement that 'The baridana (bur-dock) is a common innocent British plant.' Dr. Hill's 'elixir' met with a rival in a medi-cine against the same disease by one Colley, who announced as an 'effectual remedy' his 'Anti-cathartie Wine,' supposing, perhaps, that the very name of wine was enough to Anti-cathartic Wine, supposing, perhaps, that the very name of wine was enough to cure a gouty patient. But all of these inven-tions were thrown into the shade by the 'Medito stir until his return. Scarcely, however, 'is infused a salutary composition,' consisting chiefly of Eastern vegetables,' and by 'wrap-ping up this quilt,' sufferers under all sorts of diseases were to find quick relief. We learn from the same advertisement that the 'author has invented a medicinal cap, for the constant wear of those who are vaporois, or subject to catch cold;'' and of this it is fur-ther stated 'likewise of the studious, particu-larly those who apply it constantly to their pen, and is so curiously contrived that gen-ther second the very damegrous. HUMAN BEINGS DO NOT LIKE TO BE CLASSED. One thing very slowly learnt by most human beings is, that they are of no earthly consequence beyond a very small circle indeed, and that really nobody, is thinking or talking about them. Almost every common-place man and woman in this world has a vague, but deep rooted belief that they are quite different from anybody else, and of course quite superior to every body else. It may be in only one respect they fancy they are this, but that one re-spect is quite sufficient. I believe, that, if a grocer or silk mercer in a little town has a hundred customers, each separate customer lives on under the impression that the grocer or the silk mercer is prepared to give to him or her certain advantages in buying and sel-ling which will not be accorded to the other ninety-nine customers. "Say it is for Mrs. Brown," is Mrs. Brown's direction to her servant, when sending for some sugar; "say it is for Mrs. Brown, and she will give it a little The grocer keenly alive to the weaknesses of his fellow-creatures, encourages this notion. "This tea," he says, "would be four and six pence a pound to any one else, but to you it is only four and three pence." Judg-cent to go home for food : and he was observed. ing from my own observation, I should say that retail dealers trade a good deal upon this singular fact in the constitution of the human mind, that it is inexpressibly bitter to mos people to believe that they stand on the ordinary level of humanity-that in the main, they are just like their own neighbors. Mrs. Brown would be filled with unutterable wrath. if it were represented to her that the grocer treats her precisely as he does Mrs. Smith, who lives on one side of her, and Mrs. Snooks, who lives on the other. She would be still more angry, if you asked her what earthly reason there is why she should in any way
