

Wants and muskets, with large quantities of ammunition. They retreated on the Horse Shoe, but it is hoped that Gen. Hill will meet and still further rout them near West Union.

Gen. Morris was to return to-day by St. George to Laurel Hill. He brings Garnett's body here, and it will be forwarded to his friends.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.
GRAFTON, Va., July 15.
A train arrived here this morning, bringing the body of Gen. Garnett. He held a commission as Adjutant General of Virginia, and was in command of the rebel forces in western Virginia.

The rebels were pursued from Laurel Hill by Gen. Morris' command, consisting of the Fourth Ohio and Seventh and Eighth Indiana Regiments.

At Carrack's Ford Gen. Garnett attempted to rally his forces, and a sharp skirmish ensued, in which Gen. Garnett was killed and 20 of his men fell on the ground, and many bodies were carried off.

The rebels were completely routed and scattered. Gen. Morris' command captured 40 loads of provisions, and all their horses, wagons, &c.

Gen. Garnett's remains will be entombed in the place of his friends.

Two men were killed and two wounded in the Ohio Fourteenth Regiment. There were no other losses on our side.

FOURTH DISTRICT.
WASHINGTON, July 15.
The following is the official report of the battle of Carrack's Ford, dated Huttonsville, Va., July 15, 1861:

Col. E. D. Townsend, Assistant Adjutant General; Gen. Garnett and his forces have been routed, and his baggage and one gun taken, and his army completely demoralized.

Gen. Garnett was killed while attempting to rally his forces at Carrack's Ford, near St. George.

We have completely annihilated the enemy in western Virginia.

Our losses are not 13 killed, while the number of prisoners we have taken will amount to at least 1,000. We have captured 7 of the enemy's guns.

A portion of Garnett's forces retreated, but I look for their capture by General Hill, who is in hot pursuit.

The troops that Garnett had under his command are said to be the remnants of the 2nd, 4th, 6th, 8th, 10th, 12th, 14th, 16th, 18th, 20th, 22nd, 24th, 26th, 28th, 30th, 32nd, 34th, 36th, 38th, 40th, 42nd, 44th, 46th, 48th, 50th, 52nd, 54th, 56th, 58th, 60th, 62nd, 64th, 66th, 68th, 70th, 72nd, 74th, 76th, 78th, 80th, 82nd, 84th, 86th, 88th, 90th, 92nd, 94th, 96th, 98th, 100th.

Our success is complete, and I firmly believe that Secession is killed in this section of the country.

G. B. McLELLAN,
Maj. Gen'l. U. S. Army.

Hickman and Forney.
These twin renegades from Democracy appear to have been very unfortunate at the opening of the present extra session of Congress.

Hickman having, before leaving home, denounced Gen. Scott as a traitor, on account of his diary, and Forney, who went on to Washington full of fight, so far as the use of the tongue is light, made a strong war speech on the evening of his arrival, and in various ways assumed airs indicating that he considered himself the leader of the Republican party. The next day, filled with this feeling, he went into the House, and when the time for organizing had arrived, he arose and nominated F. P. Blair, jr., for Speaker, making a few remarks indicating that he, John Hickman, desired and expected, as his nominee to be elected. When the vote was taken, Blair was elected, but Blair was very pointedly rebuffed in the House of Representatives.
