asserts, that "this question of slavery meets ns everywhere, it meets us here, at home, and on the stern and bloody battle field," and exclaims in excited and angry terms "we must meet it." But how? "Necessarily in one of three ways," says the Senator. "First—we can submit to be ruled and ruined by it.—Second—we can continue as we have been doing—fight the rebellion with one hand, and hold up slavery with the other, until both parties are exhausted; then settle our difficulty by allowing, or by compelling the seceding States to fall back into the Union with slavery, slave representation and all its concomitants as aforeus everywhere, it meets us here, at home, and

But the Senator asserts "this would be a false and fallacious cure for our existing ills. Let "The orders heretofore issued from this and fallacious cure for our existing ills. Let "The orders heretofore issued from this no one delude himself and others, by point-department in regard to pillaging, maraudto the promised land. It never should, it never can, it never will be done." There you have it, sir! There is no mistaking the position of the Senator from Brad-ford and his followers. He and they will never, no, never! consent that this Constitution shall be maintained as it is, and the Union restored as it was. Oh, no sir! He and they assert, "it never sheuld, it never ean, it never will be done." I hold him and them to all the consequences of this treasonable ane rebellious position. It is fortunate, sir, that it is so boldly and defiantly proclaimed. The people fully understand it, have the simple and direct remedy in their own hands, and that they will apply it swiftly and surely, who will doubt? But, sir, in order to show what are the true, legitimate and constitutional objects of this unhappy struggle, I would refer the Senate to the recorded opinions of those who are directing it. First of all, sir, let me read from the Proclamation of President Lincoln, issued on the 15th day of

I appeal to all loyal citizens to favor, facilitate, and aid this effort to maintain the honor, the integrity, and the existence of our national Union, and the perpetuity of popular government, and to redress wrongs already long enough endured.

I deem it proper to say that the first service assigned to the forces hereby called forth, will probably be to repossess the forts, places and property which have been seized from the Union; and in every event, the utmost care will be observed, consistently with the objects aforesaid, to avoid any devastation, any destruction of or interference with property, or any disturbance of peaceful citizens in any part of the country.

Again, the joint proclamation of Commodore Goldsborough and General Burnside to the people of North Carolina, dated the 18th of February, declares:

"They impose upon your credulity by tel-ling you of wicked, and even diabolical intentions on our part; of our desire to destroy your freedom, demolish your property, liberate your slaves, injure your women, and such like enormities—all of which we assure you is not only ridiculous, but utterly and wilfully false.

"The government asks only that its authority may be recognized; and, we repeat, in no manner or way does it desire to interfere with your laws, constitutionally established, your institutions of any kind whatever, your property of any sort, or usages in any respect.

Is the Senator from Bradford satisfied as to the true design and object of this war?— No wonder, sir, he and his misguided followers "fear that there are too many men in high places, who are willing to settle our difficulties by allowing, or by compelling the second States to fall back into the Union with slavery, slave representation, and all its concomitants as aforetime." I fear, Mr. Speaker, I have already trespassed upon the patience of the Senate long-er than I should; but the vast extent of the subject, the interest attached to it, and the nomentous results flowing from it are my excuse. I would have preferred that some one more able and prepared had performed the duty assigned me. In discharging it, I have had but one object in view; which was to direct the mind of each Senator to the true considerations involved in the resolutions before us. I have endeavored to show what was our duty, not as Northern men, not as Southern men, but as national men; as men, who, in this storm and darkness, with the lurid glare of danger and destruction casting its baleful gleams around and about us, should eling to the Constitution of our fathers as our only pillar of safety—our ark of refuge.— There I plant myself; wherever it leads I will follow, with life, family, property—with all that is near and dear to me; feeling that in so doing I am performing the part of a true patriot and a Christian.

E. SHOWER. Carlisle, April 12, 1861. CARLISLE FOUNDRY. Farming Implement Depot, GARDNER & CO. now manufacture and keep constantly FOR SALE, at their extensive Steam Works on East Main st., Carlisic, a large assortment of Agricultural Implements, of well known and approved usefulness to Farmers, among which they would call especial attention to

WILLOUGHBY'S CELEBRATED Patent Gum Spring Grain Drill, which has taken over fifty first class premiums at State and County Fairs. To the farmers of Cum-berland, York and Porry counties we need not speak in detail of the merits of this drill, as scores of them in detail of the merits of this drill, as scores of them are now in use on the heat farms in these counties. Its reputation is established as the most complete grain drill now manufactured in the United States. It sows Wheat, Ryo, Oats, Barley and Grass, evenly and regular, without bunching the seed. The gum springs pass the drill over stumps and stones, without breaking pins or the drill. For even and regular sowing, the Willeughby Gum Spring Drill is unequalled by any other. We also manufacture and sell the following articles, which we can recommend to farmers as reliable implements of established character:

haracter: Morrison's Patent Corn Planter. Lash's Patent Straw and Fodder Cutter, Bridendolf's Patent Corn Sheller, Johnston's Cast Iron Hoys' Trough, Harn's Patent Cider Mill.

Also, Three and Four Horse Powers and Thresh-Also, Three and Kour Horse Fowers and Loresping Machines, Cast Iron Field Rollers, Plough Castings of various patterns, Corn Crushers, and other articles for farmers too numerous to mention, Also, Egg Coal Stoves and ten plate Wood Stoves, with an immense variety of other enstings for house keepers, and others. We have also an attractive variety of patterns for variety of patterns for
