We had hoped that the fine, seasonable weather with which April opened, after an unusually cold March—the coldest for some twenty years-there would have been a coninuance of it, and enabled both farmers and gardners to have caught up with their spring work. At this writing, howeve, (Thursday, A. M., 10th.) we have lifteen inches of snow on the ground, which was parts of three days falling—having commenced on Tuesday maning, intermitting on Wednes-day up to between five and six o'clock. This will of course proclude out door operations for several days, and may result in a heavy freshet, though at this writing the sun is shining brightly with a mild temperature, and will should it continue for two or three days, cause the white current to vanish with injury .-Late springs are as a rule favorable to frui grain and grass; and if followed by settled mild weather from the middle of April, it is better for all crops, oats and early potatoes excepted, as well as a few of the early garden

Be this as it may, we must come back to our text, and say, that it is time now that some of the usual garden crops should be in the ground, and most of the rest put in with-in the present month. We shall therefore make a few suggestions as mere reminders as to what we have to do in the garden.

Peas.—The first crop is in and probably up; the second crop might be Early Frame, which should be in this week. They should be followed by the Dwarf, Blue Imperial, Large White Marrowfat, Tom Thumb, Champing of England and Engage at an intermediate of England. pion of England, and Eugene, at an interval of a week. These will give an excellent succession for the season.

HORN CARROT for soups and stews, is the carliest and best, and every garden should have a bed. Drill in rows.

RADISHES.—The Long Scarlet is the best for the fiast out door crop, to be followed by Yellow Turnip and White Summer; the two latter are well calculated for hot weather, then others do not perfect themselves.

Turnips.—Early Flat Dutch is the best to sow for the first crop. Some gardens will not produce turnips. This can be remedied by a good dressing of wood ashes or lime.

Carbades.—Plants of the Early York and Green Carled Savoy can be set out at any time. For large planting the Flat Dutch, Large Late Drumhead and Drumhead Savoy should be selected. We rarely plant other kinds.— Those who raise their own plants of the Saapplication or two of oil-soap water, not made too strong—say half a pound dissolved in a bucket of water.

Tonatoes.—Except persons who have their TOMATOES.—Except persons who have their regular conveniencies of hot-beds, it is cheaper to purchase Tomato plants than to raise them. They ought not to be set out much, if ranted not to crack, by any, before the tenth of May.

BEETS.—The Early Blood Turnip, and th Long Blood Red are the best. The seed of the former should have been sown two weeks ago; that of the latter at any time. The plants may be set out the first of May.

Beans.—The Bunch or Snapshort should be sown in drills early in May. As a Pole Bean the Wren's Egg is a superior variety. Lima Beans, by taking a piece of sod, reversing it and planting two or three beans in the roots, and placing it under grass, in a pot, will hasten their growth several days. To protect the Lima from rot, to which it is very able, grease the beans beans before planting with lard or tallow, the latter is the best—it is a sure remedy.

LETTUCE PLANTS from cold frames, can be set out at any time, like cabbage plants to

It is the best and wholesomest "greens" cultivated. CELERY should be sown at once. We like the White Solid the best. As a rule, Celery plants are set aut too late. The first and second weeks in July is a more suitable time, than later. Of course, for some time, until the young plants have commenced to grow, they should be protected against the sun from 9 to 5 o'clock. We plant from one-half to three-fourths of our crop between the rows of Colors of every description, dry and in oil, in cans the early corn, and it answers admirably, the shade afforded, being just what is needed. OKRA, SALSIFY, CUCUMBER, &c., should now be put in the ground. The herbs, such as Sweet Majoram, Thyme, Summer Savory, Rarsley, Lage. &c., should be sown forthwith, if not already done.

Serawberries.—Old beds should be overhauled, thinned out, bare places supplied, and all grass and weeds removed. New beils should be made without delay Varieties, like Hovey's Seedling, which are not rampant growers, produce best when planted in beds three and a half feet broad, the plants one pant growers, produce best when planted in beds three and a half feet broad, the plants one foot apart each way. But rank growers, like Wilson's Albany, should be planted three feet apart each way, in large beds. The second year, the hills or stools should be left supplies of about one foot or thereabouts in diameter, all the intermediate space being cultivated, and all runners beyond that limit removed. This will leave a space between the stools of nearly two feet. The Albany Seedling is a good variety with which to fertilise the Hovey, by planting a single row between two beds of the or if both varieties are desired, to plant alternate beds of each.

RASPBERRY, CURRANT and Gooseberry Beds should be carefully forked over, and a top dressing of stable manure applied. This will and 10 cents. turn under the grass, and the manure, fol-lowed the latter part of May, with a heavy mulching of refuse stuff of almost every kind, will keep the soil moist, cool and free from weeds, which is all important to insure an

ABTIFICIAL MANURES.

The farmer, in selecting manures, must first look to the character of the parties manufacturing or selling the artificial manure; second, to their ability to carry on the business properly, and to their chemical knowledge. One reason why our old furniers are unwilling to try manufactured manures is, that they know how readily they may be imthat they know how readily they may be imposed upon; they can judge of the worth of the barnyard and stable manures, but not of the other. They feel that they are entirely dependent upon the integrity of the parties manufacturing and selling. Hence a knowledge of the parties vending is of the highest impostance.
