A Sensation Question Pending-Gen. M'Kinstry's Vindication—Rough Handling of dis-tinguished Characters—How Contracts for the Army Supplies are let out—M. C.'s Im-plicated—The State Convention and the President—Mean Sccessionists.

Sr. Louis, June 16, 1862. A sensation for the West is pending. Gen.
M'Kinstry has forwarded to Washington a letter addressed to Gen. M. C. Meigs, Quartermaster General, in vindication of himself from the attacks and, aspersions of the Van Wyck Committee-the Holt-Campbell-and-Davis-War-Claim Commission and public journals and Congressional assailants in general. At a proper time, I have no doubt, you will publish the whole of the author's text, if not most of the appendix, containing 92 let ters, affidavits, disputches, etc., forming the testimony on which Gen. M'Kinstry bases his deturers prices, at the Hardware store of defense. It is not my intention, therefore, to attempt anything like a synopsis of this letter

| Country merchants supplied with Nails at material featurers prices, at the Hardware store of HENRY SAXTON, attempt anything like a synopsis of this letter | March 27, 1862 | East Main street which is now before me in pamphlet form, but merely to notice a few points which possess a national interest.

Gen. M'Kinstry charges, in the first place, that notwithstanding the long period that has elapsed since the assaults upon him commenced he has never been allowed a trial or a court of inquiry, or anything like a fair chance to vindicate himself. His friends as-sert that he never would have written this rindication if he could have had a military or civil trial, for the frauds indirectly impo ted to him by his enemies. But, passing this by, the first thing that must strike the reader of his vindication is the perfect control of the Quartermaster's office (at a critical period too, of the country's existence,) exercised by politicians and office-holders, as well as the subordinate position occupied by that officer in the presence of a Commanding-General.-His hands were tied excepting to the most common place things. Where anything big was to be given, there was a superior power was to be given, there was a superior power behind the throne "greater than the throne pour's Blusting and Rifle Powder. Also, itself," ready to jump upon him and carry it off. I give a few instances to illustrate this statement:

The Van Wyck and Holt-Davis and Campbell Committee have urged with great stress the extravagant manner of purcashing sup plies without advertisement, and allusion is made to corrupt contracts with "one Lamb" of Springfield, Ill. This Mr. Lamb was introduced to M'Kinstry by the following let

Washington, September 10, 1861. J. M'Kinstry, Brigadier General, and Quartermaster, St. Louis. Permit me to introduce James L. Lamb, esq., of Springfield, Illinois. I have known Mr. Lamb for a great many years. His reputation for integrity and ability to carry out his engagements are both un-questioned, and I shall be pleased, if consistent with the public good, that you will make purchases of him of any army supplies needed in your Department. Your obedient servant,

A. LINCOLN. Accompanying this was a letter from Secretary Cameron indorsing Mr. Lamb as a personal friend of the President, and adding: "If you can do anything for Mr. Lamb, in purchasing supplies you will oblige, provided he will make his prices suit you. M'Kinstry, it seems, did not feel at liberty to ignore such and anything."

M'Kinstry makes a strong point against
Mr. Hugh Campbell, one of the War Claims Commission, by showing that while a member of the firm of Robert Campbell & Co., of St. Louis, he allowed the claims of that firm to be audited at the full amounts, while other parties for the same supplies were compelled to suffer a deduction. Another instance of Mr. Campbell's fairness may be found in the deduction of Child, Pratt & Fox's bills for blankets from $8 to $4.33} per pair. The amusing feature of this transaction is that the identical blankets were purchased from Mr. Campbell's own store at an average of Colors of every description, dry and in oil, in cans $6 662 per pair. Mr. Campbell as Commisand tubes, at the Hardware Store of sioner reflects on his own honesty as trades-

The correspondence attached to this vindication is highly interesting. The name of Frank P Blair, jr., figures conspicuously in it. Here is one of Blair's letters:

"DEAR MAJOR: I wish you to give Jim Neal a fair chance. He is a personal friend of mine and a sound Union man. By employ? ing him you will confer a great favor. Your friend, FRANK P. BLAIR, jr.,

"Col., 1st Reg. Mo. Vols." As the Congressicnal Investigation Committee and the War Claims. Commission put down "Jim Neal" as a great rascal; this recommendation is rather heavy, on the St. Louis Representative. He figures in other letters to M'Kinstry. He says his friend Jno. H. Bowen "is all right," and wants M'Kinstry (in another note) to buy wagons from Espenchoid & Kearn Gormans, as Murphy & Verdian are Secessionists. He also wants a contract for Alex. Peterson to buy horses, as "Col. Bogy, member of the State Convention, may have a contract for horses. But for the dictatorial, the following is the best:

General: Mr. B. Gishard is the party of whom I spoke to you, and of whom I senty you a message by Charley Elleard. He wants to furnish some horses for the Government.—See that he is attended to.

M'Kinstry, in the text, says Col. Blair sent Michael and the war of contents of the said and the war of samples of cotton. EMBROIDERIES &c.

I would be much obliged to you if you would give me an order to your inspectors authorizing one of them to go up, by to-morrow morning's train, and attend to the business. If I had the order I will engage to see the inspectors to-night, or very early in the morning, and in time for the train. Allow me to suggest that if your present inspectors are so engaged that their services are needed here. I have no doubt Mr. Abrams, the white bearded gentleman, who has been in your service, would go up, and the order might be directed to him, and in which case I will see him. If I should not see you in person, I will call again at your residence to night, when I can get the order. I am thus explicit because I deaire to meet promptly my engagements with the Government through Mr. Huskell. I am, vory respectfully, your obedient servant,
JAMES S. ROLLINS.

I have thus given you a few points of the inside workings of contractors and politicians, from Gen. M'Kinstry's books. The moral to be derived from this expose is—Gen. M'Kinstry paid high prices because he was ordered to favor the favorites of superiors, and because there was no time, as the Pressdent said when swimming a torrent to swap horses. This vindication contains a letter from Gen. Fremont, of recent date exonerating Gen. M'Kinstry from any responsibility connected with the Beard contract for the St. Louis fortifica
