

THE LATE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Full and Graphic Account—Scenes and Incidents.—The scene of the late terrible accident on the Pennsylvania railroad at Slip Rock, one mile east of Perryville station, was visited by the editor of the Junonia True Democrat at the time of its occurrence, who furnishes us with a full and graphic account of the affair and the scenes and incidents connected with it. The place is one of the most dangerous on the road, owing to the peculiar formation of the rock. It is a loose strata of limestone, under which the water collects and freezes, and when mild weather thaws it, it becomes a greasy mass, liable to be thrown upon the railroad track by the vibration of any passing train.

THE WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN TENNESSEE. A Desperate Fight at Spring Hill—Three Federal Regiments Defeated and Overpowered—Escape of the Cavalry and Artillery. NASHVILLE, March 6. There was fighting all day yesterday, between Van Dorn's Rebel command and three Federal regiments of infantry, about five miles east of Nashville, at Spring Hill. Colonel Coburn's three regiments of infantry were cut to pieces or captured by the Rebel force. They fought desperately, but their ammunition became exhausted, and being overpowered by superior numbers, were either killed or captured. The cavalry and artillery got off safely. No reinforcements from General Gilbert's command at Franklin reached the scene of action. Seven regiments of infantry are at that place. Van Dorn is reported to have 18,000 men in his command.

THE WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN TENNESSEE. DIFFICULTIES AMONG GENERALS.—Every important military enterprise, says the Ledger, seems to be frustrated or delayed by quarrels among the Generals in command. Gen. Hunter and General Foster have had a misunderstanding just at the commencement of their work. Foster went to Washington to have the affair settled, and while he was gone General Hunter dismissed Foster's staff, on the plea that they were trying to create mutiny.

THE WAR NEWS. THE WAR IN TENNESSEE. MAKE A NOTE OF THIS.—The New York Herald, a neutral paper, says: "Senator Wilson, who has just urged the mammoth Conscription bill through the Senate, is the man who stopped enlistments a few months ago, and thus left the Army of the Potomac unsupported and prevented the capture of Richmond. Without a particle of sagacity or common sense, Senator Wilson keeps office by constantly playing the demagogue. If the people of Massachusetts have any intelligence they will reward this obnoxious charlatan according to his deserts."
