SORGHUM AND ITS CELTERR.

The following, which we transfer to our olumns from the Germantown Telegraph, comes from a gentleman of great experience in the matter of which he writes:

Although Sorghum, its culture, &c., have been the theme of frequent newspaper essays, yet from the increasing interest manifested proper curing of it, and if the weather is by the community at large in this compara-tively new plant, and the real ralue which I am sure it possesses in the catalogue of our home products, I am induced again to call attention to the encouragement and development of this branch of our domestic economy. I have said domestic economy, because I believe unhesitatingly that the moment Pennsylvania shall have introduced the culture of the Chinese sugar cane regularly into her system of open fires, dry corn-cobs being about the husbandry, she will add to her possive wealth best fuel that can be used. Pine and some annually, over and above her present savings, more than a million dollars.

The aggregate of syrup made in Chester and adjacent counties the pass season, cannot have fallen short of 32,000 gallons, a gain of two to one over last year. And from pressure that the state of the s

The following embraces briefly the outline of a method of culture which has, so far as lific American. my experience and observation have reached, fully counteracted all constitutional tendence to disease, and secured a vigorous and health growth throughout. Any other method, however, by which the diminutive plant shall be stimulated in its infancy to a vigorous growth, and the other conditions fulfilled, may succeed equality well. In choice of soil select upland, light lam or sandy. It should be of sufficient strength to produce forty or fifty bushels of corn to the acre. Plow deeply in March, and cultivate thoroughly in early part of May. Pro-cure pure, well ripened seed, four quarts to the acre; and for the same amount of ground 150 to 200 pounds of finely powdered superphosphate of lime, to be applied in drills. Scald the seed, and keep moist and warm till it has begun to sprout; dry with plaster, drop in light furrows, and cover to the depth of one-half to three-fourths of an inch. When up, and the plant has four or five leaves, it should be partially thinned, but this process should be conducted with care, seeking to retain the strongest plants, to be selected from on subsequent occasions, until reduced to 8 or 10 inches, in the row, When the cane is thick enough without the suckers, advantage will result from the re moval, in the subsequent handling, and a heavier crop will be realized. Such treatment, with thorough cultivation till about three feet high, will secure a crop, varying according to the season, of from 150 to 25 gallons of syrup to the acre. The cane may be regarded as fit to work up when a majority of the heads have become brown. At this stage it may be cut off (ob liquely) at the ground, the tops lopped off below the upper joint, blanded and tied into bundles, and shocked or filled where it can be sheltered from the sun and weather. In this condition it may remain, if necessary,

It is an interesting fact connected with the crop of the past season, that the juice, weighed by sacharometer, ranged from 9 to 14 degrees, while ordinarily it has weighed from 6 to 11 degrees. This difference is at tributable. I think, to the extraordinary drouth of the season, but not at all calculate to confirm the suspicion that the cane will true—and I think they are all susceptible of proof—it follows that the agricultural interests of the States where sorghum can be suc cessfully raised, and in common with these, the interests of our whole people, will be promoted by the early introduction of its culindependence, combined with the consideration of the very limited amount of capital necessary to establish the manufacture, it seems to me should stimulate every farmer to introduce the culture of the cane, and should prompt enterprising men in every neighborhood to provide establishments for its manu-

A very common opinion prevailed for a long period, that tobacco was a tropical plant, and could not be cultivated in latitudes of moderate temperature. It is a fact, however, that it will grow and may be cultivated not only in all latitudes where corn or maize comes to maturity, but in regions much further north. Large crops of tobacco are now raised in the valley of the Connecticut, and the leaf of the plant is smooth and held to be well suited for the wrapers of cigars. sortment of It is also cultivated in some portions of Albany and Ontario counties in New York, thus proving that the plant may thrive in our most northern States. And not only may it be cultivated in such latitudes, but it is well known that soon after it was introduced from America into England it was cultivated for a period with success in several sections of that country, and also in Ireland. In 1570 it was grown in Yorkshire to a considerable extent, but its cultivation was prohibited by an act of Government, for the purpose of deriving a large revenue from that which was imported. This occurred during the period of the Commonwealth, in 1652, and since then not a leaf of tobacco, except as a

ARDNER & CO. now manufacture and keep constantly FOR SALE, at their extensive Steam Works on East Main st., Carlisle, a large assortment of Agricultural Implements, of well known and approved usefulness to Farmers, among which they would call especial attention to WILLOUGHBY'S CELEBRATED

Patent Gum Spring Grain Drill. which has taken over fifty first class premiums at State and County Pairs. To the farmers of Cumberland, York and Per recounties we need not speak in detail of the merits of his drill, as scores of then in detail of the merits of his drill, as scores of them are now in use on the best farms in these counties. Its reputation is established as the most counties, grain drill now manufabtured in the United States. It sows Wheat, Rye, Yats, Barley and Grass, evenly and regular, without bunching the seed. The cum springs pass the drill over stumps and stones, without breaking pins or the drill. For even and regular sowing, the Willoughby Gum Spring Drill is used to farmers as reliable implements of established character:

Moreison's Patent Corn Planter, Lash's Patent Straw and Fodder Cutter, Bridendolf's Patent Corn Sheller, Johnston's Cast Iron Hogs Trough, Harn's Patent Cicer Mill.

Also, Three and Four Horre Powers and Threst ing Machines, Cast Iron Field Rollers. Plough Castings of various patterns, Corn Crushers, and other articles for farmers too numerous to mention Also, Egg Coal Stoves and ten plate Wood Stoves. with an immense variety of other castings for hone keepers and others. We have sleep an attractive variety of patterns for
