THE IRISH WITNESS.

Witnesses in courtare not always as manageable as 'clay in the hands of the potter.'
Sometimes the dullness of the deponent proves a dangerous weapon to the lawyers, or mystefies the bench in a manner to set the audience in a roar of laughter. Not seldom a stupid exterior masks the most mischievous and cunning, and so, to the delight of the lookers on, a brow-beating attorney 'catches a tartar,' and the witness escapes in triumph.

An action was brought against the owner of a wagon, which by the carelessness of the driver, had crushed an unlucky donkey against a wall and killed him. Sergeant Cockle, well known for his roughness of examination, was perplexing one of the witness es, who found no other way of extricating himself than by giving a graphic description of the matter in question.

'Well, my Lord Joodge,' said the hesitatthere you are the wall.' The describer now hesitated as if trying to recollect his third po

'Come fellow,' said Cockle, 'out with your story at once. You have not told us where

Of course the court was in a roar. 'My Lord Joodge,' said the witness, with sudden sparkle in his eye, 'his honor, the counsel was the ass.'

But the lawyers are not the only victims of facetious witnesses. Now and then the court catches it in the most palpable and ludicrous manner. Here is a case which will be remembered by a good many who were present on the occasion, as a veritable fact, that made a world of fun at the time of its occurence in one of the Southern counties of this State .one of the Southern counties of this State.—
Judge G—— is a very decided character, and more good stories are told about him than any man on the bench in that region. The judge's manner in court is dogmatic, and arrogant; and nothing pleases the bar as well as to see him heartily laughed at. They had a fine chance one day when an Irish witness was on the stand who being rather anmanage.

able, was taken in hand by the Judge, with a manner which said very plainly. You shall see gentlemen, how I'll handle him. Well Dennis,' said the judge, blandly, *tell me the contents of the chest.' Yes, yer honor, said the witness engerly * First there was a picture of Dan O'Connell -the great Trish patriot-maybe yer honor's heard of him?'

'Certainly,' said the Judge. 'Go on with the inventory. Then there was a picture of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ-mabe yer honor's heard

The seemingly unaffected look of inquir and doubt that accompanied the witness' words, set the audience in a roar of laughter—and the judge will never hear the last of it

A DETECTIVE'S WAGER.—A good story is told of a wager laid by a London detective with a country gentleman, that the latter could not proceed from Oxford circus to the bank, via Holbern, on foot, with a guinea, without being robbed of it. The wager was accepted, and the country gentleman "decided" to carry the guinea in his mouth as cided" to carry the guinea in his mouth as the safest place. All went well until the Females! Females! country gentleman came to Holborn bars, where a crowd was collected around a Jew peddler boy whose box had been upset by a boor. The crowd sympathizingly helped the lad to pick up his traps; but he would not; be comforted because he had lost all his savings, consisting of a guinea. Says a boy with a preternatural squint while pointing to the country gentleman "I seed that gent pick it up and put it in

The unhappy country gentleman was convicted on the clearest evidence; he was bonnetted, had his cont split up the back, and was obliged, in addition to pay the wager to

How to Increase a FARM .- Rev. S. King, in a recent address to the California Tarmers, rebukes what he calls their 'lust for immense ranches.' He tells them that if they have fifty acres and desire to have fifty more, they should annex the fifty that lie beneath those they already own, and gain their title to them by the use of a subsoil plow. Thi is good advice, applicable in all localities, as a man had better increase his estate by thor ough culture, than by merely increasing its

A Bold Man .- A gay fellow, who had taken lodgings at a public house, and got considerably in debt, absented himself, and took new quarters. This so enraged the landlord that he commissioned his wife to go and dun him, which the debtor having heard of, declared publicly that if she came, he would kiss her. 'Will he?' said the lady; Will he? Give me my bonnet, Molly; I will see whether any fellow has such impudence! 'My dear,' said the cooling husband, 'pray do not be too rash. You do not know what a man may do when he's in a passion.

Just So .- An English writer, in giving advice to a young married woman, argues the advantage of keeping a garden and attending to it herself, and, as a sort of clincher, adds that mother Eve married a gardener. Quilp truly remarks that the gardener, in consequence of the match, lost his situation.

LOAFERS .- Different nations have different kinds of loafers. The Italian loafer spends his time in sleeping—the Turkish in dream-ing—the Spanish in praying—the French in laughing—the English in swearing—the Russian in gambling—the Hungarian in smoking—the German in drinking—and the Amer ican in talking politics.
