The Publishers of The Aor could easily fill their columns with the unsought and most liberal commendations of the press throughout the country; but they prefer that it should stand altogether upon claims to public confidence, well known and established. They believe it has acquired this reputation by the candor, fearlessness and independence with which it has been conducted, through times of extraordinary confusion of ideas on public subjects, and latterly of almost unexampled publicitial. It is now, and will be, as heretofore, temporary form, and devoted to the maintenance of good government, devoted to the maintenance of good government,
