Finish thy work, the time is short; The sun is in the west; The night is coming down-till then Think not of rest.

Yes, finish all thy work, then rest; Till then, rest never; The rest prepared for thee by God Is rest forever

Finish thy work, then wipe thy brow , Ungird thee from thy toil : Take breath, and from each weary limb Shake off the soil.

Pinish thy work, then sit thee down On some celestial hill, And of its strength reviving air Take thou thy fill.

Pinish thy work, then go in peace; Life's battle fought and won, Hear from the throne the Master's voice. " Well done! well done!"

Finish thy work, then take thy harp, Give praise to God above : Sing a new song of mighty joy And endless love.

Give thanks to Him who held thee up In all thy paths below, Who made thee faithful unto death,

And crowns thee now ! WATER SHOULD NOT EVAPORATE ON SOILS.

A correspondent asks a question which is is pertinent to consider in this connection .-He writes: "You urgo drainage and deep culture. Why? To allow the water to leach through the soil? Will it not do more harm than good if allowed to escape in that way?' We cannot suppose that our correspondent can be really serious in asking such questions, though he may be, for we know that they are natural ones for the thoughtless, or for those ignorant of natural laws, to enter-

In reply, we would provide that the water which falls from the clouds should pass down through the soil, because, 1. It aids element fertility. Rain contains ammonia -Indeed, it is perhaps the most important means of conveying the ammonia of the atmosphere to the roots of plants. But if there is no provision by which it may pass down through the soil it (the water, evaporates, the ammonia is liberated in the atmosphere again, and the process of evaporation cools the surface of the soil and retards vegetable growth or development. Water should not be allowed to stand on the surface of soils, whether grain or grass lands, to evaporate.

2. The air follows water and operates to disintegrate the particles of soil and liberate food for the plant to take up, as well furnishes food direct. And air being admitted, the moisture of the atmosphere supplies the plant in time of drouth-in other words, the soil is in condition to absorb and retain moisture sufficient for the purposes of vegetable growth without obstructing that growth by a surplus which must be got rid of by the chilling (to the plant) process of evaporation.

3. Not the least important is the increased action of light and heat, from the sun, in the development of the plant. All know that the hot, dry seasons develop the most good, nutritious qualities in forage and fruit. The grape gives more sugar, the sugar cane yields a greater per cent. of sacharine matter, the seeds of the grains are more perfectly developed, the juices of the grasses are more nutritions oven them in the seeds. tritions, even though the growth is far less in a dry season than in a wet one. And on deep tilled, well drained soils, it has been again and again demonstrated that drouths do not diminish the quantity, and are sure to improve the quality of the product.

No, good friend, rain water is manure if properly used. But it must not evaporate. It is God's way of irrigating your soil—a wonderful provision of which you should take advantage. advantage. It falls upon the earth, does its work, bubbles out at the hill side in springs the mouths of God's underdrains-follows the path of rivulet and river to the ocean, ascends in vapor, becomes clouds and descends as So on your little domain you must make the minor under-drains and water-course which God in His wisdom has taught you are necessary. And you will reap the reward of your labor in more abundant harvests, fewer failures, a more healthful climate, and less suffering during both the wet and the dry seasons.

Currants, gooseberries, peaches and pears require no sugar to preserve them. Rasporter and blackberries do not require more than four ounces of sugar to a pound of fruit, and strawberries but little more. We have now the different kinds, nearly as fresh as when first gathered. Put them up the same way as if you need the when first gathered. Horses and Mules .- During the year ending June 30th, 1863, there were purchased for the army 173,852 horses and 86,254 mules, and there were captured 7,783 horses and 6,315 mules, which, added to those on hand at the commencement of the year, made the number of 197,457 horses and 110, 1068 mules. 068 mules. There were condemned, sold, died, or lost by capture during the year, 57,-676 horses and 17,170 mules. More than one horse out of every four was thus hors du combat, while nearly one mule in every seven was a used up beast. Yet $16,631 58 was paid for veterinary surgeons, and $39,293 39 for medicines for horses and mules. This the most favorite brands. Canl. Oil Lawns and the most favorite brands. Canl. A writer in the Canada Farmer says that he has sown turnip seed for twenty-three years, and has annually proved its vitality by first sowing one hundred seeds in a flower pot The result has invariably been from ninety-six to one hundred plants from one hundred seeds of one year old. He now has sixty-eight plants from one hundred seeds, gathered in the year 1856, showing sixty-eight per cent. of vitality in turnip seed eight years old.

Sterns, of Los Angelos, California, lost about 7,000 head of cattle, through want of food during the last winter. That gentiemen is believed to be the largest stock and land owner in the United States. He owns this year 48,000 cattle, besides nine thousand calves.

Mr. Joel Melick, of Woodbridge, has lost during the past few days three valuable horses. They were attacked with the diptheria, and so fatal was the disease, that one of them died in less than ten hours after being attacked.

Without cog wheels, the whole strain of forcing the cloth through the machine is put upon the lower roll, causing three times as much strain upon the lower roll as when cog wheels with our Patent Regulator are used, besides the extra strain upon the cloth. strain upon the cloth.

In reply to the question, "How Long will it Last?" we can only say, "As long as a wash tub. cooking stove, or any other family utensil." See testimony of Orange Judd, of the American Agriculturalist, No. 41 Park Row, N. Y., who says of

UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER, UNIVERSAL CLOTHES WRINGER,

"We think the machine much more than pays for itself every year in the saving of garment! We consider it important that the Wringer be fitted with Cogs, otherwise a mass of garments may clog the rollers, and the rollers upon the crankshaft slip and tear the clothes, or the rudder break loose the shaft. Our own is one of the first made, and it is, as good as new after nearly four years' constant use."
