were found vigilant at their post.

While the members of the Court were waiting in the lobby for the arrival of some of their associates, it was suggested by Assistant Judge-Advocate. Lingham that the passage in the building adjoining the cheatre to the south be opened, as there was some confusion of statement in the testimony of witness as to the point whether there was any entrance to the theatre at that side.

The keys were procured and the door opened, when it was found that this passage communicated with the stage and also with communicated with the stage and also with the third story of the adjoining building oc-cupied by the brothers Ford as a sleeping apartment. The second story is an adjunct to the theatre, communicating with the dress circle, and the room is known as the " promenade saloon" of Fords's, and is elegantly furnished, it will be remembered, with mir tors carpets, marble tables, &c. The lower story is rented out as a restaurent and be tween the restaurent and theatre, as above stated, is this passage, which leads directly back to the stage, on a little lower level than the stage.

Returning from an inspection of this passage, the Court proceeded to the theatre, passing in by the usual entrance, and therees to the stage. The stage is almost precisely in the condition it was at the moment of flie assassination.—The scene (third net, "American Cousin") is set, as at that moment, with the red-curtained recess in the center, used by "Asa Trenchard." The box used by Mr. Lincoln bears the same picture of Washington at its front, and a couple of flugs are dra-ped over the box as then, but not the Treasury Guard's flag, which caught Booth's spur on that ocasion. The green baize stage-cloth has a foot-long rent at the point where Booth struck the stage; but whether made by him in his fall is not known.

A close inspection was made of the stagethe wall and the door, wereby access to the box was prevented while Both was doing his bloody work.

The curious fact, not before remarked, was elicited that the excuvation, (some three inches in length and one is depth) in the wall, intended to admit the bar, had been covered carefully at some time previous to sumed; the assassination with a neatly-fitting piece A'lar of wall-paper, similar in color to that on the wall, and which had evidently been pusted over the excapation, covering it to the sight.

This accounts for the fact, not heretofore explained, that such a disfigurement on the wall attracted no attention. This piece of paper—apparently a squarish, oblong slip, judging from the paste marks—is missing. Measuring the distance from the wall to the angle of the door, the brace must have been some four or five feet in length, and prepared with some care to fit exactly. The box is in much the same condition as when the assassination took place, with the exception that the rocking chair used by Mr. Lincoln has been removed.

Returning to the stage via the dress circle, it was noticed that the guard on duty were quartered quite comfortably in the spacious promenade saloon. The seats in the theatre were covered by a heavy cont of dust, adding something to the general feeling of unpleas-antness about the somber, dimly-lt interior of any theatro by day; and which was a thousand times neightened on this occasion by the awful associations now so indissolubly linked with this building.

A close inspection was next made of the rear exit and its approaches, by which Boothescaped. Two doors were found in the rear, one of large size, perhaps fifteen feet by twenty, hung at the top by hinges, and used only for the passing in and out of large articles, stage machinery, &c., &c. This door, which is in the center of the stage rear, was not open on the night of the as a sinalion. PHILADELPHIA MARKET May 24, 1865. Miss Kate Vandersliee, of Pottsville, savs: "I was benefitted harry by using the Phoenix Pectograthan any, other medicine I ever, used."

Eliar Oberboltzer, of Liouville, Chester county, was circed of a cough of many years' standing by using the Phoenix Pectoral.

Joseph Lukeus, of 'Hall street, Phoenixville, certifies that he was circel of accough of two yearstanding, when all other medicines had failed, by the use of the Phoenix Pectoral.

Jacob Powers certifies that he has sold hundred of bottles of the Phoenix Pectoral, and that all who used it bear festimony of its wonderful effect in curing cough.

The West Chester Teffersonian says: "We have known Dr. Oberholtzer personally a number of years, and it gives as the greatest pleasure to recommend his medicines, inakminch as the publicarely have the benefit of family medicines prepared by a physician of his requirements and experience. Dr. Oberholtzer is a member of the Alumni of the Medical Department of the University of Remissivania, at which institucion he graduated in 1954."

The Reading Gazette says: "This cough remedy is made by Dr. L. Oberholtzer, of Phomixvillo, Pa., and it has acquired an unsurpassed reputa-dy is made by Dr. L. Oberholtzer, of Phonixville, Pa., and it has acquired an unsurpassed reputation in curing congles. It is energilly and skill-fully prepared from Wild Cherry Bark and Sones. Snake Root."

Dr. Geo. B. Wood, Professor of the Practice of Medicine in the University of Pennsylvanis, Physician to the Pennsylvanis, Itospital, and one of the authors of the United States Disponsatory, says of Seneka Snake Root: "Its action is specially directed to the lungs:"

Cumberland County Agricultural Society.

THE rebellion is now over, and we are again restored to our peaceful avocations, we cannot better mark time ser than by making preparations to return to the accustomed FALL EXHIBITION of our Society, and that we may have the most extensive, the best and most interesting that we have ever hed, let us begin to prepare for it now. The season is most profitions and promising of fruitful results—and our singetiles for the only ment of such an exhibition as we will have—have been sharpened by the disappointments of the last three years.
