

Minister's Visit to the Condemned--Sixteen Hours in the Cells.

[From the Washington Chronicle, July 10.] The Rev. Dr. Gillette, pastor of the First Baptist Church, improved the solemnities of the past week by an appropriate sermon, especially to young men. He had never before been so impressed with the importance of this duty than during the sixteen hours which he passed with the convicts in the penitentiary between Thursday afternoon and that of Friday.

On Thursday Dr. G. was called upon by Assistant Secretary of War Eckert, who invited him to visit the cells of the condemned convicts for the purpose of administering to them such spiritual aid as he might be able to give. Stepping into the Secretary's carriage, he at once accompanied him thither. On their arrival, Mr. Eckert introduced him to other officers, and then to the convicts. Their first call was upon Payson, whose real name he was ascertained to be Lewis Thornton Powell, his middle name being after the Rev. Dr. Thornton, a Presbyterian clergyman of Charleston, South Carolina. Powell welcomed him, and at once proceeded to relate his early history. His father was a Baptist minister. The convict had been from infancy brought up under religious influence. At twelve years of age he was by his own father consigned to God in baptism, and became a member of the church. In great opposition to the wishes of his family he entered the rebellion. For a time he endeavored to retain his religious character, but became connected with Gilmer. This was followed by his going into Mosby's gang, which was far worse. His next companion was Smith.

Dr. Gillette found Powell to be young man of cultivated mind, ingenious, frank, candid, and an earnest supplicant for Divine favor. In conversation he referred to his mother, and with a tearful eye he related the pleasant seasons once enjoyed by him in the church, in the Sabbath school and the social circles. Powell frankly stated the conviction of the enormity of his crime. The moment he fled from the house of Secretary Seward and leaped into the saddle of his horse, his mind was quickened into a realization sense of the horror of the damnable deed which he had perpetrated, and he became miserably wretched--life itself became loathsome.

The Doctor then inquired into the published statement in the paper that he was a "junty hat." That hat was placed upon his head by the advice and hands of Dr. G. when Powell's hands were pinioned behind his back. Dr. G. suggested the hat on account of the intense heat. Powell said: "I was told on the morning of his execution that he ate heartily, &c. On that morning he positively declined taking any food, and he was equally persistent in refusing stimulants. The last prayer was, as suggested by his friend, the Doctor, 'Lord Jesus, receive my spirit.'"

The preacher then visited Harold, and his description corresponded with those already published. He was a young man of about 25 years of age, and described the scene in which Harold's sisters were present. One of them read to him from her prayer book; and after Dr. G. had offered prayer, the same sister followed in an invocation to the throne of Divine grace on behalf of her brother which affected all present.

His next call was on Atzerot. For twenty-nine years, he acknowledged he had been stepped in sin; the victim of base passions, the slave of the passions of the flesh. His wonder was if his soul could be saved. Rev. Mr. Butler, the Lutheran preacher, soon arrived, and attended him most faithfully. From the latter clergyman we learn that he professed to have found peace with Heaven. The penitentiary Chaplain, Mr. G. presented him from offering any assistance to Mrs. Surratt, but she was well attended by the Rev. Fathers Wigot and Walter. Dr. G. described the scene of the daughter's hasty retreat to her father's house, and the anxious inquiries of that mother. "Is there any hope?" She replied, "hope is gone." "Oh, Father Wigot and Walter prepare my father for death." In her agony she fell against the speaker in the doorway and said "hope is dead."

The Doctor stated that these remarks were made strictly in a religious point of view, that being the place for none other.

THE CONSPIRACY. Impenachment of the Testimony of Weichman--Innocence of Mrs. Surratt--Affidavit of John P. Brophy.

The Washington Constitutional Union, of July 11, publishes an affidavit of John P. Brophy, who says he could have it proved if he were allowed, that Weichman is and always was a lawyer, and that he was a partner of his father; that since the trial closed, he has admitted that he was a liar; that a short time before the assassination, Weichman introduced Atzerot to him as a particular friend of his, and that on the same day he and Atzerot were riding on C. & O. horses.

Brophy says he can bring other and new witnesses to testify to his intimacy with Atzerot; that since the trial closed Weichman told Brophy that Mrs. Surratt was a liar, and that the thought of John going to Richmond, and imploring him to remain at home and not bring trouble upon himself and upon the family; that once while some men were at the residence Mrs. Surratt called John, her son, and said to him, "I am afraid there is something going on, why do you not come here now? Now, John, I do not feel easy about this, and you must tell me what you are about. Brophy asked Weichman if John told him, and Weichman replied that John did not and would not testify in court.

Since the close of the trial, Weichman offered to give Brophy a letter to President Johnson in favor of Mrs. Surratt, provided Brophy would keep it a profound secret; Brophy asked Weichman to give him a similar letter to Judge Holt, and he replied: "No, I will not write him, because I have no confidence whatever in Holt." Brophy further says that Weichman had him summoned to testify to his observations, and that he (Brophy) would not give him a witness stand. These and other things were sworn to by John P. Brophy on the 7th inst. Gen. Hartman wrote in substance as follows: "The President is a short time before the execution: 'The prisoner Payne has just told me that Mrs. Surratt is entirely innocent of the assassination of President Lincoln, and that she had no knowledge thereof. He also states that she had no knowledge of the abduction and murder plot; that nothing was ever said to her about it, and that her name was never mentioned by the parties connected therewith.'"

In the course of his economic investigations about the revenue department, President Johnson might notice the fact that there are thousands of small assistant revenue assessors scattered throughout the country, who are getting four dollars a day while employed, and that each of such days is made up of no more than from two to three hours of actual employment. Two dollars an hour is rather "steep" pay--even if the Government is to be rich. Give them something more to do or turn them out.

S. CAROLINA AND GEORGIA.

Address of Governor Brown to the People--Fourth in August--Affairs in Charleston.

New York, July 15.--The Steamer Fulton arrived at this port this afternoon, bringing advices from Savannah and Charleston to the 11th inst. The Savannah Herald contains an address by ex-Governor Brown to the people of Georgia, in which he urges them to support not only the Government of the United States, but the administration of the Chief Magistrate. He appeals to them to take the solemn oath and observe in good faith. He argues that slavery is now dead forever. As to his slaves, he will immediately emancipate and treat them as free, giving them a part of the crop, or wages for their labor. To those who cannot support the Constitution of this government, he suggests emigration from the country.

The Herald says the 6th U. S. Infantry are to garrison the city of Charleston. The fourth of July was celebrated in Augusta, Georgia, by a procession of colored persons, with banners, on which the mottoes, "Death to Disunion and Slavery," and "Liberty and Equality" were inscribed. In the afternoon the troops paraded, and in the evening there was a fine display of fireworks. The railroads are being completed to the interior, and communication re-established. The 4th of July was appropriately celebrated by the negroes by the burning of large numbers of negroes are dying in and about Macon, destitute of medical aid and the necessities of life.

Captain Clarke, of the 2d Michigan regiment, was shot to death by disorderly soldiers of the 4th Regulars, near Macon, on the 1st. The Charleston Courier complains of the frequent occurrence of riots and breaches of the peace, saying that people cannot walk the streets at night without the fear of being robbed or killed. This condition of affairs appears to have arisen from the distinction of color maintained there. The negroes attack white citizens and white citizens attack the negroes. The white and black soldiers also attack each other.

Some of the radical organs don't feel exactly easy about the sudden and barbarous execution of Mrs. Surratt on the flimsy evidence of a drunken tavern keeper--who was a witness to save him from being tried as a principal--and they are now dressing up unauthorized and irresponsible batches of stuff that were never given in evidence and are unworthy of a moment's serious attention. It will require an immense amount of labor for them to convince the world of the justice of their own conclusions in regard to that victim of "military justice."

Jonathan Jessup has been appointed postmaster at York; William Brimley at Reading, and David Emory at Newcastle, Pa.

Died. On the 4th inst, LYDIA ALICE JENNIE GRACE, infant daughter of J. A. and ANNIE E. McCONNELL, aged 9 months and 7 days.

Go, little loved one, go, A mother's heart can toll; And when you are far away, Thy soul has gone by sorrow To stand before thy Lord.

Short as thy suffering time, And wretched as thy reward; Thy soul has gone by sorrow To stand before thy Lord.
