

American Volunteer

VOL. 52.

CARLEISLE, PA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1865.

NO. 25.

AMERICAN VOLUNTEER.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY MORNING
JOHN B. BRATTON.

TERMS:

Subscription—Two Dollars if paid within the year, Two Dollars and Fifty Cents if not paid in advance. The year begins with the first of January. No subscription discontinued until arrears are paid up. For each additional insertion, those of a greater length in proportion.
Advertisements—Accompanied by the cash, and exceeding one square, will be inserted three times for $2.50, and twenty cents for each additional insertion. Those of a greater length in proportion.
Carriage Passes—Such as Hand-bills, Postings, bills, Envelopes, Labels, Bills, &c., executed with neatness and at the shortest notice.

W. B. BUTLER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
CARLEISLE, PA.
Office with Wm. J. Shearer, Esq.
Sept. 14, 1865—17.

JNO C GRAHAM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office formerly occupied by Judge Graham, South Hancock street, Carleisle. Sept. 7, 1865—17.

W. F. SADIER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
CARLEISLE, PA.
Office in Volunteer Building South Hancock Street, 7, 1865—17.

J. M. WRACKLEY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office on South Hancock Street, in the room formerly occupied by A. B. Sharpe, Sept. 7, 1865—17.

H. NEWSHAM,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office with Wm. H. Miller, Esq., southeast corner of Hancock and Pomfret streets, Carleisle, Dec. 2, 1865—17.

CHAS. E. MACLAUGHLIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office in Inboff's building, just opposite the Market House,
Carleisle, Dec. 3, 1865—17.

J. W. FOULK, Attorney at Law, Office with James R. Smith, Esq., Room 2, No. 211 business corner of W. and N. streets, Carleisle, Dec. 3, 1865—17.

M. C. HIGMAN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Office in Rheim's Hall Building, in east of the Court House, next door to the Market House, Carleisle. Feb. 4, 1865—19.

JAMES A. DUNBAR,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
CARLEISLE, PA.
Office next door to the American Printing Office west of Hancock's hotel.
April 14, 1865—17.

F. E. BELZHOVER, ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW, CARLEISLE, PENNA.
Office on South Hancock street, opposite Dent's store.
Sept. 2, 1865—17.

DR. GEO. S. SEARIGHT, DENTIST,
Office at the residence of his mother, East Southeast corner of W. and N. streets, Carleisle, Dec. 2, 1865.

DR. J. C. LOOMIS, DENTIST, Office removed from South Hancock street to West Hancock street, opposite the Female High School, Carleisle. April 2, 1865.

Pedion Examining Surgeon,
Office at the residence of his mother, East Southeast corner of W. and N. streets, Carleisle, Dec. 2, 1865.

DR. J. C. KINKLE, Office, (up stairs) in W. J. Building, South East Corner of Market Square, Carleisle. (Nov. 2, 1865—17.)

COAL AND LUMBER YARD, Subscriber having leased the land situated on the corner of W. and N. streets, Carleisle, Pa., and having obtained the necessary stock of Coal and Lumber, I have the pleasure to announce that I will have constantly on hand and for sale to order all kinds and quality of associated.

COAL AND LUMBER,
Lumber, together with an immense new stock of coal, will be constantly on hand and for sale to order all kinds and quality of associated.

FRAME STUFF,
Paints, Plastering, Lathing, Shingling, Work done in all its branches. To wit: Lumber Yard, and every article that belongs to a Lumber Yard.
I have on hand, of different qualities, a heavy stock of—my own I can furnish bills to order of any length and direct the transportation and on the most reasonable terms. My worked boards will be kept under cover so they can be furnished dry at all times.

I have constantly on hand all kinds of FAMI-LY COAL under cover, which I will deliver cheap and as fast as orders come in. To wit: Lumber Yard, Lumber, Doek, Egg, Stone and Nut, Lumber, Fiddler, Travertine, Locust Mountain, Lumber, which I please myself to sell at the lowest prices.

Lumbermen and Blacksmiths' Coal,
I have on hand which I will sell at the lowest price.
Yard west side of Grammar School, Main Street, Carleisle, Pa.
ANDREW H. BLAIR.

NOTICE—I still retain the same position in the firm of DELANOY & BLAIR, which will be run as heretofore, at the old stand, near the Gas House. As our purchases will be made together at the head of the market, we can furnish you with the best quality of goods at the lowest price. We are also agents for our customers and the public on the most reasonable terms. Having relinquished the Coal and Lumber business, all kinds of Coal and Lumber are kept constantly on hand and in the best condition. The Lumber Yard will be managed by Geo. Zales, whose experience and skill I will recommend to the community. By strict attention to business, short profits, and a desire to do right we will secure a liberal share of public patronage.
ANDREW H. BLAIR.

CHAINS—500 pairs of Traces Chains, all kinds, with a large assortment of Halterchains,
Frog
Tongue
Spreads, &c., &c.
See all the Cheap Hardware, &c., &c. at the
No. 17, 1865.

SAINTS of Every Description, in large and small packages, Linseed Oil, &c., at the
LIZARD & SON'S

Poetical.

CORNS.

BY J. O. WHITTIER.

Heep high the farmer's wintry hoard!
Heep high the golden corn!
No richer gift had Autumn poured From out her lavish horn!
Let other lands exulting, gleam The apple from the pine,
The orange from its glossy green,
The cluster from the vine,
We better love the hearty gift Of rugged vales below,
To cheer us when the storms shall drift Our harvest fields with snow.
Through vales of grass, and meads of flowers O' ploughs that furrows mow, While on the hills the frosty showers Of changing April played.

We dropped the seed o'er hill and plain, Beneath the parting May,
And fragrant from the ripening grain
The robber crows away.
All through the long bright days of June,
As leaves grew bright and fair,
And waded in but midsummer noon,
I set out my ransomed grain,
And now with Autumn's moulted eyes,
As leaves fall from the tree, Waplock away his frosty hooves,
And bear its treasures home.

There, richer than the faded gifts App'showered of gold,
He hands the broken grain shall sift,
And knead its meal of gold.
Let vapid idlers lol in silk, Around the costly board;
Give us but bread of corn and milk,
By homespun beaus purged.
Then shame on all the proud and vain, Whose folly laughs at scorn,
The woe of our hardy grain, Our wealth of golden corn.

Let earth withhold her godly root, Let midday light the eye,
Give to the worm the orchard's fruit,
The wheat's self to the fly;
But let the good old crop decay,
The hills our fathers tread;
Still let us for his golden corn Send up our thanks to God.

DEATH OF THE RICHEST MAN IN OHIO.
Simon Jennings, of Wellsville, Ohio, died suddenly, while sitting in his chair, last week. He possessed a large estate, and was in the shape of real estate and mortgages in a number of Ohio counties. He was noted for his extreme parsimony, and intense devotion to money-making. Through worth millions, when traveling on the cars he would carry a lunch in his pocket, to have the expense of a dinner at an eating-house. He destroyed the roads below Wellsville, in the Virginia side of the Ohio river, and made that his home, to escape paying taxes in Ohio on his mortgages, judgment notes and money. He always managed some of his estates in the most judicious manner, and was justly due from him. The heavy Federal income tax nearly broke his heart. He was very obese and gross looking, and for several years drank whisky in large quantities. He was a man of the highest moral character, and leaves no direct issue—dying childless. He has several collateral heirs, however, but leaves property enough to bestow a large portion on each of them. We have not heard that he left any bequests to benevolent objects.

The Cleveland Leader adds the following:
"The old rich man, who informed us of the death of this gentleman, entertained the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in a certain county in Northern Ohio. His hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible opportunity for making maple sugar. On approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had not only tacked his few maps, but even prepared them, so as to be sure to drain the last drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day,
he saw a company of rough looking men, who
were engaged in making sugar. They had
not only tacked his few maps, but even pre-
pared them, so as to be sure to drain the last
drop of maple sap. He was very angry, and
went to the trees and, giving a vigorous
"yandallism" stirred the blood of the owner,
but he smothered his wrath, being intent on
getting data for prosecuting the robbers and
the party by giving some reminiscences of
Mr. Jennings. One story was told him with
great relish by the real estate owner himself,
and is briefly as follows: A few years since
Mr. Jennings took occasion to ride out in a
buggy to his extensive unimproved lands in
a certain county in Northern Ohio. His
hundreds of acres there were covered with
virgin forest and afforded the best possible
opportunity for making maple sugar. On
approaching the woods, one early spring day, he saw a