You have doubtless seen the substance of an imparant conversation which occurred between president Johnson and "a distinguished Senator" on last Sunday, in which the President declared that there ought to be no more tinkering at the Constitution; that the passage of the ne-groundings bill for the District was unwise and milities, and would engender a strike which milities, and would engender a strike which would result in great injury to both races and in the cortain externanation of the negro population." The additingulated Senator" was Dixon of Connectient : and you may imagine that this disclosure o ent's views created no little sense the Pres mong the radicals. Those views are regarded as the death-knell of the Seventy-nine constitution al amendments now on hand. That some mem bers will be powerfully influenced by them can cearedly be questioned; and to have them given thus semi-officially to Congress when one of these propositions; was pending, shows that Mr. Johnson is dreadfully in carnest in what he says. It was amusing to see what a hornet's nest this little newspaper paragraph stirred up among the radicals, On Monday morning they were as uneasy as their troubled consciences could make them; and were gathered in little groupes, in the Senate and House, angrily and nervously discusing the issue. Strange to say, no one seemed to doubt the authenticity of the report, for they all knew that in Andrew Johnson they had a man with whom they could not trifle-a man of firm decision and unbending nerve. This declaration of the President will serve as a rallying point around which the conservative masses of the country may rally "in supporting the Government."

The National Intelligencer has already sounded the built for the coming contest, and in its issue of Monday declares that in the event of Congress falling to do its duty, the people will look to Andrew Johnson for the perfect assurance that his motto will be the same as that of Andrew Jackson, and they will rally to his standard as a party fully committed to his measures.

in my last letter I asserted that Massachusett had evaded the draft by putting negro substitutes into the army. I was in error in making the assertion too general—her substitutes were not all negroes: A number of them were Germans who ere induced to emigrate to Boston under the nent of some sort of labor contract. As soon as they landed in the "hub" they were kidnapped and forcibly enlisted in the service of the United States. After their enlistment these inveigled Germans were swindled out of $600 a piece. that the city of Boston mustered in about nine hundred recruits in this way, and pocketed the 150,000 This is the way in which New England pa-triolism pays its way. And these are the men who prated about "the barbarism of slavery"who would kidnap those of their own colo and sell them—not merely into slavery—but to death and wounds—to save their own carcasses from the sword and the bullet. Baron Gerolt, the Prinstan! Minister, and the representatives of ther foreign powers, have expressed the deter-mination that this matter shall be thoroughly investigated, and it may lead to some perplexing international complications. I undertake to say that, before another year has passed, New Eng-land "loyalty" will prove itself, in the eyes of the world, to be the grandest humbug America But these same Yankees are becoming con estricken. This week nearly six hundre dollars have been returned to the Treasury De partment, principally by New England gent men whose consciences were pricking them in view of their enormous stealings from the Gov ernment. Altogether some $20,000 have been re turned in this way. This, however, is but a drop in the bucket the be hundreds of millions of dol lars which found their way into the pockets of Yaukee contractors and officials during the last four years. Ben Butler's "pickings" alone amount to hundreds of thousands, and Ben is but a miserable Lazarus in comparison with some of these

New England Dives. The Senate, having disposed of the "Freedmen Bureau," continues to waste its time over anoth-ernegro bill—Trumbell's scheme for guaranteeing divil rights to persons of African descent, by Congressional statute, in opposition to the laws of iny Siate, Mr. Cowan made a strong speech against it on Wednesday, and showed wherein it regard to descent and inheritance, and other dvil regulations of the State. He insisted that ierii States should be before such a measure was acted upon. The peo-ple of these States, he declared, had done all that the most hopeful and sanguine could expect. He was tired, he said, of hearing so much talk about tresson and traitors. He would rather see son of the latter punished, than to hear so much talk. He denounced, as a delusion, the belief that every man who could not take the test oath was neces-

He was very de sirous that the Southern people should be brough

Think the Republicans in the Senate will give the District negro-suffrage bill the slip, after all the noise they have made about it. They are beginning to see what effect its passage will have upon their party, and that, taken in connection with the improbability of its ever receiving the sanction of the President, causes them to reflect over it, and not risk so much to gain so little, but the darkies still think their friends are in carness and continue to grow the Senate gallery. hdrav! nest, and continue to crowd the Senate gallery, hest, and continue to crowd the Senate gallery, day after day, to the exclusion of white people— waiting and only for the bill to pass. WEARING THE HAIR,-In describing a recep ion at the White House, the Washington Sto ays: A peculiar style of wearing the Hair last evening among the ladies was a subject of much comment, and the remarks were, for the most part, altogether in its favor, as a becoming sub titute for the water fall. "It is as much the duty of the vehicle to keep out of the way of pedestrians, as it is for the latter to escape being run over by the former Therefore drivers have no right to monopolis the privileges of the streets as they now do, an foot passengers should make them understar the fact by a few legal experiences."

M. E. CHURCH FESTIVAL,-Messrs. Editors: The committee of arrangements of the M. E. Church of Carlisle, are desirous (through your columns of tendering their grateful acknowledgements to the citizens of town and country for the very many liberal donations of money, groceries, beef poultry, flour, cakes and provisions of all kinds and also for the presence of so goodly a number of ladies and gentlemen at their supper and festival.

The committee would particularly thank the ladies and gentlemen whose untiring labors con-tributed so materially to the success of their enterprise—and also to the Carlisle Brass Band whose delightful strains added much to the fes tive scene. They desire also to thank the Good Templars for the use of their lodge on Tuesday evening, and with them those friends whose kindness enabled them to spread so magnificen a table, also to the Proprietor of the Hall for the many accommodations tendered them. The committee would also express their obligations to the editors of the Volunteer and Herald for the notice so kindly given of their supper and festival. Truly our lines have fallen in pleasant pla ces and the Church (that old ship of Zion,) which has long been among the breakers, we trust will be able through the liberality of a Christian com-

LOGAN.—Near Dillsburg, York county, Pa., Jan. 28th, at the close of the 68th year of her age, Miss Martha Logan, wife of Col. Henry Logan. The child of plous parents, themselves well in-formed, she had been carefully instructed in the truths of our holy religion. In early life she identified herself with the church of Christ; and the profession which she then made was not a mere form, but a solemn reality—the responsibilities and obligations of which she understood appreciated, remembered, and faithfully dis charged. She was evidently a true subject of say ing grace; and the love she bore to the Lord Jesus Christ, on whose merits alone she depended for salvation, was evidenced by her eminently exemplary walk and conversation. She loved the word of God, and while the daily and prayer ful perusal of it added to the extent and accuracy of her knowledge of divine truth, this truth was the appropriate aliment of her spiritual nature and imparted vigor and symmetry to her chris tian character. She loved the church and its or-dinances: valued the companionship of God's ministers and people: and delighted in the extension and prosperity of the Redeemer's cause The various appeals of benevolence found in her an unostentatious but cheerful giver, and to the or and needy she was a true friend. At home within the family circle-her influence, both by precept and example, was most happy and rerative, as she had the satisfaction of seein nost of her children become the acknowledge disciples of Christ, and one of them preparing for the ministry of the Gospel. For many years sho had been in extremely delicate bealth, but gentleness and patience and submission peculiarly characterized her spirit and life. During the protracted discipline of severe and accumulating through trials and afflictions which she passe her will was sweetly resigned to the divine will, and her trust in a covenant-keeping God firm and unshaken. She was ripening for Heaven And when her work was done and her appointe time had come, she peacefully departed this life to participate in the employments and enjoynents of the redeemed in glory-leaving earth amid the calm and quiet of a Sabbath morning, to enter an endless Sabbath amid the felicities of the Paradise of God. Divine grace had made her christian on earth, and the same rich and free race has made her an inhabitant of the heaven "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them." The large concourse of friends from far and near, on the occasion of her funeral ore testimony to the excellence of her characte and the great esteem with which she had been

The days of humbug and swindling in spurious Gas Burners are at an end where the PATENT STEEL TIP REGULATOR is introduced, 1 propose to the people of Carliste to furnish them with a Burners or Regulator Rise introduced, 1 propose to the people of Carliste to furnish them with a Burners or Regulator at their Gas fills, 1 further propose to prove demonstratively on their Gas Pipes the truth of my assertions before they adopt them, which is but fair.

The principles of the Regulator are, first: The Consumer knows exactly what he consumes, for they are gaged at high pressure, while common Burners are gaged at high pressure, while common Burners are gaged at high pressure, while common Burners are gaged at hor. Second: They can be regulated to burn six different sized lights, viz: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 feet (cubic) per hour. They can after burning four or five years, be renewed for five cents per Burner, being the price of the small steel tip at the top of the Burner, and the only thing perishable about it; besides, having an independent chamber for heating the Gas, which is the only sure means of saving.

I have sold them in all the Liestern and Western cities with marked success, and would be pleased to give an improvement that would justify all that burn Gas to adopt them.

I will be not the Exankalts Horst for a few days, where all who wish can see the "Regulator" free of charge. I will also call on the citizens at their stores and dwellings, giving all a chance to get this truly remarkable and the saving Burner.
