ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.—It is scarcely necessary to inform the young folks that Wednesday, was St. Valentine's Day. the windows of the book stores and fancy shops, with their grotesque carricatures, and their sweet little cupids with their round red cheeks puffed out to bursting, weeks ago conveyed the gladsome intelligence that the good old Saint was expected on the 14th. While the boys and girls had a jolly time of it in the jam in and around the Post Office, the day no doubt served to revive many an old association among the older and graver portion of the community. Who does not remember the peculiar sensations with which he or she opened their first valentine? There were the two hearts pierced with a single dart, bleeding and forlorn, all in a beautiful wreath of roses, with a touching couplet about the "Turtle dove" and "never dying love." And the best of it was, we knew, or felt sure we knew, the handwriting on the envelope. It very much resembled the chirography-or rather let us call it "scrawl"-of the note which was thrown out of the school window, the summer before. Of course we leel sure, as every boy does on such occasions, that there was only one being in the wide world from whom that missive could come; and what did we do but scamper off to the book store and invest a dime in a representation of two model specimens of humanity, with bronzed hair, very red cheeks, and expressionless eyes, sitting in a very highly colored arbor and looking the very picture of love and happiness-with the announcement below that these were

Two hearts that beat as one." devotion. She removed to a distant State, and of course we vowed "never to forget as 'long as life lasted." Strange to say, life is not over with either of the parties yet; but we are pretty certain neither of the actors in this interesting little lifedrama-which after all is but a chapter from the same old tale-have any idea within several hundred miles where the other might be found to-day. "Sich is life!" So pass away the day-dreams of our youth, The list of comic valentines takes wide range. Here, for instance, is St. Valentine's compliments to the Fop: 'A shining black hat, and glossy shirt collar, A coat, pants and vest of cut most divine A little switch cane, you really would make for Your tailor a beautiful traveling sign"

Here is what he thinks of our " strongminded women :" Peace! brainless babbler—whats the use Of proving to the world that you're a goose, By asking husbands—for thus runs your speeche

Could you expect that I, in very deed. Could wed a man whose nose had gone to seed? Here is a polite way of enclosing "the nitten" in an envelope:

"Of thy teasing and pleading I'm sure if I loved thee I'd tell thee so quick, What use or advantage In wooing like this? When a woman says "No?" Do you think she means "Yes?" To which the young "Gent" replies i

A love-lorn damsel, which we select from a pile on the desk before us-of course we mean a pile of valentines, not of damsels-informs her lover: "They bid me forget thee! as if I could tear From my heart the image so long cherish'd there Like a rose in the wilderness, blooming and free

Like a fount in the desert that love is to me! 'Tis the star that illumines my desolate way.

Our space will admit of only one more election, entitled, "Lines to a Lady."-We feel certain all our readers will be charmed with the chaste elegance of the entiment. Here are the "lines:"

THE LENTEN SEASON.—Lent commenced on Wednesday, and will be observed with the usual strictness by the Roman Catholic Church,. The following rules have been issued by Bishop Wood, for the information of all members of the Cathoic persuasion :

The first day of Lent, Ash Wednesday, falls this year on the 14th of February.

1. All the faithful who have completed their twenty-first year are bound to observe the Fast of Lent, unless dispensed for legitimate reasons.

2. One meal a day only is allowed, except on Sundays.

3. This meal is not to be taken until 4. On those days on which permission is granted to eat meat, both meat and fish are not to be used at the same meal, ever by way of condiment.

5. A collation, or partial meal, is allowed in the evening. The general practice of plous Christians limits its, quantity to the fourth part of an ordinary meal.

6. Bread, Butter, cheese, fruit of all kinds, salads, vegetables and fish are permitted at the collation. Milk and eggs are prohibited.

Custom has made it lawful to drink in the morning some warm liquid, such as tea and coffee, or thin chocolate made with water. Necessity and custom have author

8. Necessity and custom have authorized the use of lard instead of butter, in preparing fish, vegetables, &c.
9. The following persons are not bound to observe the fast, viz:—all under twenty-one years of age, the sick, those who are obliged to do hard work, and all who, through weeklages cannot fost without obliged to do hard work, and all who, through weakness, cannot fast without injury to their health.

and last Saturdays of Lent. ond and last Saturdays of Lent.

11. Persons exempted from the obligation of fasting by age or laborious occupation, are not restricted to the use of meat at one meal, only on those days on which its use is granted by dispensation.

FASHIONS FOR FEBRUARY .- According to some of our fashion Magazines some important changes will take place in the fashions for February. Dress skirts will be as long and as wide at the bottom as heretofore, notwithstanding the prediction that short and narrow ones would be in favor. Skirts will be but little trim med, and often not at all. The Gabrielle style will continue popular for ordinary wear. A few double skirts have made their appearance, but there is no probability that they will become general. The fronts of dresses will have but few if any pleats, but all skirts will be very much gored. Short waists will be worn the remainder of the winter, and belts of moderate width always warn with them .-Basques, like the skirt, fitting close to the figure, will be again popular as the spring approaches, and when these are now worn a belt is fastened over them .-Sleeves will be trimmed from the wrist to the shoulder, sometimes made to wind around the arm in a spiral column.

In Bonnets the newest style is the Pa mela, which has just made its appearance in Paris. Imagine a saucer, slightly bent down at the sides, and with strings fastened to these sides, and some idea may be gathered of these strangest of all small bonnets. They are made of drawn black velvet, and at the top of the bonnet, or rather saucer, a black velvet bow is placed the long end of which falls at the side in the inside there is a very small wreath of rose buds, and a similar wreath is re-These two lines "set us up" in that peated at the back. ty faces under them. Linen Collars and Sleeves are worn or namented with lace or embroidery, either in satin stitch or "Point Russe," which somewhat resembles the cat stitch. This "Point Russe" is done in colored cotton or sometimes even in fine zephyr. Sleeve are made with deep wristbands.

FAIR.—The ladies of St. Johns Episco pal Church have been holding a fair for the benefit of the Church, in Rheem's Hall, during the present week. It has been largely attended, and will no doubt realize a handsome amount for the Church

SOMETHING NEW AND ECO-The days of humbug and swindling in spurious Gas Burners are at an end where the PAT-ENT STEEL TIP REGULATOR is introduced. I propose to the people of Carlisle to furnish them with a Burner or Regulator at that will save from 20 to 2 per cent. In their Gas bills, I further propose to prove demonstratively on their Gas Pipes the truth of my assertions before they adopt them, which is but fair.

The principles of the Regulator are, first: The Consumer knows exactly what he consumes, for they are gaged at high pressure, while common Burners are gaged at high. Second: They can be regulated to ourn six different sized lights, viz: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 feet (cubic) per hour. They can after burning four or five years, be renewed for five cents per Burner, leng the price of the small steel tip at the top of the Burner, and the only thing perishable about it; besides, having an independent chamber for heating the Gas, which the only sure means of saving.

I have sold them in all the Eastern and Western effics with marked success, and would be pleused to give an improvement that would justify all that burn Gas to adopt them.

I will be at the Franklin House for a few days, where all who wish can see the "Regulator" free of charge. I will also call on the citizens at their stores and dwellings, giving all a chance to get this truly remarkable and Gas saving Eurner.
