THE CATTLE PLAGUE IN ENGLAND.

The following extract of a letter from a distinguished gentleman in England to a gentleman in Germantown, in relation to the Cattle Plague prevailing there, has been handed us for publication, and possesses peculiar interest at this time to our farmers here. It will be seenthat it is of very recent date.

"All is very quiet here in the political world, but the country is a good-deal agitated at the present moment in consequence of the ravage made by the cattle plague, which appears to increase rather than diminish, and baffles all medical science. This being the period of Quarter Sessions, the magistrates in all the English counties are adopting the west strictles. LONDON, January 12, 1866. Sessions, the magistrates in all the English counties are adopting the most stringent measures to carry out the orders of the Government for preventing the contagion spreading, by stopping the transit of eattle from one part of the country to another, which is a very difficult matter to accomplish. The effect of this fatality has been to raise the price of provisions of all sorts, and meat has been especially dear; but at the present moment the prices have fallen, from the markets being glutted in consequence of the farmers glutted in consequence of the farmers slaughtering their oxen, and sending the carcuses to London, for fear they might become infected; but eventually this circumstance must occasion a deficiency in the supply, and prices will probably rise higher than ever. I trust the scourge will not reach your shores, and, as I believe no foreign cattle are imported from Europe, either to the United States or Canadas, there is every ground to hope i will not reach America."

THE COMMISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE We observe that our agricultural and other exchanges continue "after" Mr. - Commissioner-of-Agriculture and that a number of State Agricultural, Pomological and other Societies, are also "down" upon Sir Isaac. The Indiana State Board of Agricultural recently voted him "notoriously incompetent to fill the position he now holds," and that "his further continuance in his present position is detrimental to the interests for which the Purchase which the Bureau was established." the Ohio Pomological Society "adds in-sult to injury" by gravely resolving "that we earnestly entreat the President of the United States to appoint we earnestly entreat the President of the United States to appoint a competent man to be the head of the Department of Agriculture—the incompetence of the present incumbent being a source of general remark and complaint from the intelligent president which is a survey of our extended. agriculturalists of all parts of our extendcountry."

These are strong intinations, and evidently "mean mischief" toward "the present incumbent." Had we not long ago expressed and reiterated our opinion on the subject we should feel included the subject, we should feel inclined to defend the Commissioner—on the principle of aiding the weakest party—but as matters stand we are disposed to "let him alone severely." If we had the power, however, either J. S. Grinnell, late Chief Clerk in the Department, Dr. Townshend of Ohio, Col. B. P. Johnson of New York, or Only, Col. B. F. Johnson of New York, Dr. Loring of Mass., or some other competent man would be appointed Commissioner of Agriculture without the least delay or reluctance.—Rural New Yorker.

How to get rid of Rats.—For some years I was considerably annoyed with rats. I tried various "vermin-poisons," traps, etc., with very little success, until I thought of a mode which we adopted for destroying dogs that used to hunt our rabbit-warren in the old country. So I got a quantity of broken bottles and window-glass, and with a hammer and an old dow-glass, and with a hammer and an old would do to pound the glass on). I then sitted the course part out, and mixed a cupful of the fine with a cupful of thou and another of out-meal, and scanting it with a few drops of essence of aniseed to attract them. I placed it out to the course of the cupful of the state of the cupful of the attract them. I placed it on boards in the cellar, etc. They are it up so fast that one of the family observed, that, "instead of poisoning, it must be fattening them;" but a few days told a different story. The last mess served for them require mess. hast mess served for them remains un-touched yet, though put down last fall, and no appearance of rat or mouse, living or dead since. Neither have we noticed any smell, or blue-bottle (meat) flies, as there would have been had they died on the premises. It was a happy riddenge there would have been and they died on the premises. It was a happy riddance. The mixture must be kept from children, dogs, and other silly animals, as it would kill them as well as the rats. -Ex.

FARMING TOOLS.—There is a plow out in the snow, and the horse-rake is up in the middle of the field. Neglect left them there when he went off fishing instead of daishing his work. Neglect will always distributed by the first chains, and the horse-rake is up in large assortment of large them in and see if they want repairing.—Yes, a tooth is gone, and a handle of the plow is split. Well, look about, examine all the tools, and place those that want repairing in the shop. The first stormy day that comes they must be repaired, and so of all other tools that need mending, devote the stormy days to them till. ing; devote the stormy days to them till all are in order and ready for use. Every farmer should have such tools as are necessary to do the ordinary repairs of his farm ing tools. If he has not got such, let him get them forthwith. It will be money in his pocket.—Mirror and Farmer.

THE Strawborry beds will be tried severely by the present winter. If they get through it scatheless, or moderately so, we need scarcely fear for the future.—Moist winters, with frequent alternations in the temperature in the temperature of the atmosphere, like the present, we have always found to be the most destructive of the strawberry plant, where they have been heavily covered, especially with manure. Last winter was one of the driest for many years, in this section, the plants came out of it in the most perfect health, and the fruit was never finer or more abun-

BLANKETING HORSES IN WINTER, This is often wrongly done. When the horse becomes heated by hard labor or long travelling, the blanket is thrown on his back at once—the vapor steams up from his hot sides, becomes condensed and wets the blanket, and as the horse continues to cool, the cold and wet covering is of little use. A better way is to let the animal stand uncovered for a few minutes, a longer or shorter period, according to circumstances, until cooled down to about ordinary temperature, but not to any degree of chillness, then throw on a dry blanket. Farmers should remember

RATS.—Neighbor Jones says, that if we will go to a tin shop and get a lot of scrap tin, and crowd it into their holes, they will evacuate the premises at once. Whether they fear them as traps, or whether they scratch their sides, or whether they have a natural fear for it. whether they have a natural fear for it he could not tell. He only knows the fact .- Rural American.

THE corn crop in the United States in 1865 was the most luxuriant ever known, both in quantity and quality.— Compared with the corn crops of 1864 and 1863, the account stands as follows: Corn crop of 1865, 704,427,583 bushels; 1864, 530,581,403 bushels; 1863, 451,967,

Egg Bread, (Very Nicc.)—Break nine eggs in a dish, and beat well; add one pint of water, one quart of flour, two table-spoons melted butter, one table-spoon

COCOANUT PIE.—One quart of milk, six eggs, one cocoanut grated. This quantity makes three pies. Put it in a riel
