MENCEMENT EXERCISES .-- On Tuesening, an abolition harangue was nced before the Literary Societies l. S. M. Bowman. The address was solution of newspaper war literait possessed no literary merit, and lelivered in a tame and uninterestnanner. The young gentlemen of ocieties do themselves and their colno credit by imposing such stump ry entertainments. Wednesday morning the Alumni ess was delivered by Colonel R. M. erson. His theme was "The denent of National Character." The ents which entered into the develnt of National Character were eduand labor; and to attain the higheneral and every man be permitted joy the fruits of his own labor. This ess was the most scholarly effort of

He referred to the progress ethodism in the United States, and tained that it had done more in the of evangelization than any other rican church. Bishop Simpson is of the most powerful and eloquent es in the Methodist Church.

ish Government may be expected to go to sticks in a few years. The speech was carefully written, but was not delivered with enough vim; it was rehearsed too much after the manner of repeating a task.

The Revolution of Ideas-Sylvaus G. Grove, Columbia. His theme was the change in the manner of dealing with questions of philosophy, theology &c. from the speculation of the ancients.— It was a very creditable performance.

Circumstances Develop Faculties-J. E. McKelvy, Pittsburgh. His theory was that man is the creature of circumstances, and that great circumstances produce great minds. The address was well written and spoken distinctly.

Calamitics Give Birth to Great Minds-J. G. Hamblin, Princess Ann. Md. The subject was similar to the previous speech. The prominent idea suggested was that great calamities always produced their own heroes.

Popular Proverbs-L. E. McComas, Hagerstown Md. Every nation has its proverbs: they consist of short and pithy sentences, embodying the wit and wisdo m of the people. In every tongue there are proverbs as old as the language itself.— From the truths contained in these proverbs we may learn the character of the people. Proverbs grow stronger with age, and wield an influence on public morals. This was one of the most creditable performances on the programme. Mr. Mc. Comas has an eminently practical mind. He chooses practical questions, and deals with them in a straight forward, logical manner. The Motive Power of Progress-Jacob Todd, of Philadelphia. This speech gave evidence of a mature and cultivated mind. It ranked among the best efforts of the occasion. Mr. Todd already enjoys an enviable reputation for oratory, and nothing was detracted from it by his recent

We had not the pleasure of hearing the Master's Oration by Jno. C. Graham Esq., of Carlisle, and the Valedictory by Wilberforce Wells, of Philadelphia; but have heard them both spoken of as very creditable productions.

CARLISLE SPRINGS .- Casting pen and scissors aside a few days since, we, in company with a few others, paid a visit to the Carlisle Springs. We found quite a large party of permanent and transient visitors, and all appeared delighted with the place and with its management. Under the supervision of the present proprietors, Messrs. Thompson & M'Culloch, the Carlisle Springs must become a fashionable and favorite place of resort. The proprietors are gentlemen of capital, enterprise and experience, and are determined to spare neither pains or expense in beautifying and improving the property. Everything about the establishment is new, neat and clean, and every apartment has an inviting appearance. The Carlisle Springs should be and we hope will be a fashionable place of resort, for a more cozy, romantic, healthy spot cannot be found in our State. Those who visit the Springs now cannot fail to find pleasure and amusement. With great confidence we urge our friends who desire to escape from the dust and heat of town. to pay a visit to the Carlisle Springs.

Bold Robbery.-On Saturday evening last, Mr. John Good and Isaac Bear of South Middleton twp., were returning home from Mt. Holly paper mill. Just as they were turning into a mountain road which leads from the main road to their homes they were assaulted by tw individuals. Mr. Good was knocked insensible by a club or "billy," and his pockets rifled. Mr. Bear attempted to escape and fled a short distance, when he was overtaken and likewise knocked down and robbed. Both gentlemen were seriously bruised, but fortunately both recovered after the villains had escaped.-Mr. Good has extensive dealings with the Holly mills and settles his accounts the last day of the month. This the rascals doubtless knew and expected a rich haul. Luckily they were disappointed, as neither of the gentlemen had much noney about them.

LECTURE OF REV. JOHN CHAMBERS.-This eloquent divine delivered a lecture on the subject of Masonry at Shippensburg, on Tuesday evening of last week. The Shippensburg Sentinel thus speaks of the lecture:

of the lecture:

On Tuesday evening last, the Rev. John Chambers, of Philadelphia, delivered a lecture on the subject of Masonry, in Ruby's Hall. Although the evening was oppressively hot he had quite a large and appreciative audience. The lecturer eloquently portrayed the benefits arising from this benevolent institution, the love they bore their brothers and the tender care they exercise over the orphans and widows of the deceased of its fraternity. He referred to 15 ancient origin and Christian virtues, stating that it required all the elements of religion to be a good and correct Mason. A few of his remarks were addressed to the ladies, giving them an idea of the high esteem and sacred obligations the order binds them under to respect them. During the lecture he took occasion to refer to a case where one lodge alone had dispensed seventeen hundred dollars since the beginning of the year for the relief of some of its indigent members, and all was done without the knowledge of who were relieved save that they were Masons. Truly its works are that of a Christian.

HARVEST COMMENCED.—After many months of toil, anxiety and suspense the farmer is about to reap the reward of his labor. The grain has ripened rapidly within the past week and in many places is now being cut, and by Monday the harvest will have generally commenced. It promises a better yield, we are pleased to say, than was anticipated a month since, though it will not be a full one. Not more than a two-third crop can certainly be calculated upon, which will, however, be compensated for by the high price which grain of every description now commands.

BEWARE OF PAPER COLLARS.-A BOSton paper has a report that a clerk in one of the wholesale stores of that city has lately been afflicted with a painful breaking out on the neck, which he at first attributed to boils, but the matter getting serious he applied to a physician, who informed his patient that he was suffering from the poisonous properties of articles used in the preparation of his enamelled paper collars which had been absorbed into his system; and upon inquiry it was found that some half dozen other clerks. all of whom wore these collars, were affected in a similar manner.

DROWNED.—On Wednesday, 27th inst. party of Soldiers from the Garrison were bathing in the Conodoguinet Creek. near the Cove, when one of them, a recruit named John P. Beirne, was suddenly taken with cramp and drowned before any assistance could be rendered by his ring, Philadelphia. We scarcely agree | companions. His remains were interred WORTHY OF ENCOURAGEMENT.-We have on our table a very interesting little work entitled "the Orphan Blind Girl," written by Miss. Annie C. Smith. Miss. Smith was the first female pupil in the New York Institution for the Blind, and for a while was a teacher in that institution. She is stopping for a few days at the Cumberland Valley Hotel, where she desires to dispose of her book and some beautiful specimens of her handiwork. The benevolent can find no more worthy object for their encouragement.
