ANTEGORE the war, and for some time after the cessation of hostilities, the Freedmen's Bureau did good. The people of the South having at first no faith in the negroes having at first no latth in the negroes working under a free labor system, were desirous of getting rid of them, and during the summer of 1865 judicious Bureau and military officers did much toward restoring order and harmony, and inducing the people of the South to resume the cultivation of their plantations by propositions the freedress. Before, the employing the freedmen. Before the close of 1865 there was an entire revolu-tion in the sentiments of the people of tion in the sentiments of the people of the South with regard to negro labor. A feeling of kindness sprang up towards the freedmen, resulting, perhaps, mainly from the conviction that his labor was desirable and profitable, and the only la-bor to be had. The necessity of the Bu-reau then ceased. Since then, it has been productive, in the aggregate, of more productive, in the aggragate, of more harm than good.

The best protection the Freedman has in the South is the value of his labor in the market, and if he is left free to dispose of this, at all times, to the highest bidder, unshackled by contracts made for him by Breau officers, no suprehensions used he Bureau officers, no apprehensions need be felt for his safety or his success. If the freedmen could at this moment demand the wages which the high price of the products of the South would justify, one dollar per day and board would be the ruling wages, instead of ten or twelve dollars per month, the prices now paid. But they cannot take advantage of the demand for their labor; they are bound by contracts, enslaved for twelve months, contracts, enslaved for twelve months, through the agency and influence of the Freedmen's Bureau. The hands on the Mississsippi River steamboats were not required to make contracts, and they are getting $40 per month and their board, for labor less exacting than that of a plantation negro. The freedmen of the Ogechee and Savanah Rivers are getting on the rice plantations from $10 to $15 per the rice plantations from $10 to $15 per month, under contract for the year, while the laborers employed on the Georgia Central Railroad, which runs between these streams, are getting $1.50 a day. Some complaints were made to us by the plan-ters on the Savannah River that their laborers were discontented, and did not work as required by their contracts. One of the planters, a practical, liberal-mind-ed man, explained the cause of discon-tent to be the low wages at which the ne-groes were hired. He said, "I can get hands enough, and good work done, too, by paying a dollar a day and rations, and I am paying that and expect to pay even more. The negro is going to make all he can out of his freedom, and he has a right to do so." The enlightened policy advocated by this gentleman—a policy strongly in accordance with justice and sound political economy—is defeated by the con-tract system inaugurated and forced into practical operation by the officers of the Freedmen's Bureau. We met with instances of freedmen working for ten dol-lars a month and rations under yearly contracts sanctioned by the Bureau, while in the same field doing the same work, other freedmen not under contracts were getting one dollar a day and rations In all of the large towns of the Mississippi valley, during the months of May and June, planters were offering one dollar a day and rations for freedmen, while un der the sanction of the government, given by the officers and agents of the Bureau, thousands of freedmen were working under contract for ten dollars per month. If the freedmen are left free to contract, the demand for their labor and competition among employers will secure them good wages and treatment. We are unable to discover why the simple rules which regulate and control the relations of labor and capital in the North-ern States should not obtain as well in the South; why the national government should permit the laboring men to sell his labor to the highest bidder in one sec-tion of the country and appoint an agent to sell it for him in another section. It is undoubtedly true that if the freed people of the South were not bound by contract, their wages would be at least fifty per cent, higher at this time than they are, and there would be less discontent among the freedmen than now exists, and far less duty for the agents of the Bureau to perform. It must not be inferred form what we have written that we are opposed what we have written that we are opposed to the freedmen contracting with the planters. By no means. We believe the very lest thing they can do is to make contracts, either for a share of the crops or liberal wages; but we are opposed to agents of the national government assuming to hire them out, prescribing the term of service, and stipulating for the wages to be paid them. They are not free so long as any such control is exercised over them, nor can they ever receive just over them, nor can they ever receive just reward for their labor while they are compelled to hire within a given time for a specified term. In Mississippi and other States, freedmen were compelled, by orders from officers of the Bureau, to enter into contracts within limited periods, which enabled all who wanted book to which enabled all who wanted hands to get them at low wages, while, if the freed-men had not been interfered with, the demand for labor would have enabled them to secure just remuneration. THE CONTRACT SYSTEM A NEW SLAVE SYS-

THE CONTRACTSYSTEM A NEW SLAVE SYSTEM.

The system of contracts now existing in the South, and enforced by the Bureau, is simply, slavery in a new form. What is the difference to the negro, whether he is sold for five 'dollars, or five thousand dollars for thirty years to thirty masters, or for thirty years to no master? It is involuntary servitude in either case, and a practical defeat of the emancipation proclamation of President Lincoln. If the freedman leaves work to seek employclamation of President Lincoln. If the freedman leaves work to seek employment at better wages, he is arrested as a vagrant by order of the Freedmen's Bureau, and put to labor on the road with ball and chain, is as provided by an order recently issued by General Scott, Assistant-Commissioner for South Carolina. If, fatigued from overwork, he desires to rest for a day, if he leaves the plantation to visitarelative or friend, it is made a penal offense, and a fine of $50 is imposed, as al offense, and a fine of $50 is imposed, as will be seen by circular 1No. 4, of General Kiddoo, Assistant-Commissioner for Texas, a copy of which is hereto annexed, marked "E." If he refuses to contract at all, he is arrested by the Bureau provost-marshal and sold for a few dollars to the nearest planter, as in the case of Captain Morse, of New Orleans, I already referred to. The freedman has nothing to tain Morse, of New Orleans,! already referred to. The freedman has nothing to sell but his labor, and we are strongly of the opinion that he ought to be permitted to obtain for it the highest price it will bring. If he is a freedman, it is neither just nor lawful for any person to assume control of him, and certainly not more just or lawful for an officer of the Freedmen's Bureau to do so than for a Southern planter.
Very respectfully, your obedient servants,
JAMES B. STEEDMAN,
Major. General Volunteers.
