On and after Monday, May 21, 1806, Passeng Trains will run daily, as follows, (Sundays e cepted): more concentrated the food the more fattening material is furnished, and the richer and better the manure. Corn fodder, coarse hay and straw cut and mixed as above, with a little meal to give a flavor to the taste and smell, will be eaten clean, with the exception, perhaps, of a few pieces of the hard butts and joints. Fed three times a day regularly, with what they will eat clean, stock of all kinds will thrive as well as though fed on an equal amount of English hay, uncut, and the same quantity of grain. A ton of sweet corn fodder prepared as above, and fed, is worth nearly as much as a ton of hay. In like mappier your tried friend, the old dog, gambols, and, in the gleesomeness of his feelings, he picks up a shred of cloth in the field, and shakes and tosses it for very wantonness. The appearance of real winter, then, is a holiday for many, but (ah! those buts,) not to all. It is none, to the poultry. Water is frozen; the ground is so hard they cannot scratch, there is not an insect of any kind on its surface; and they must depend on their owner for everything they want. See that they lack nothing. First they must have water. Their power of maintaining life on the smallest quantity of food is wonderful, provided they have water; but a practiced eye can tell in a dead lowl or pigeon, whether it suffered or not from thirst. The skin becomes hard, dry and red; the flesh contracts, as it were, and becomes brown, and the whole body looks as if it had been suddenly shrivelled or dried up. You must bear in mind they require twore food and better than they do in milder weather; and if you can, let them, have a greater variety. They want substitutes for the worms and insects. Now, the scraps of meat and fat from the table should go to the fowls. Saye, the draining of all the engals and old corners of bread into it. Feed the birds often, and, if there is snow, sweep a clean place and feed there. Never feed any kind of bird in such a manner that they will piak upsnow with their food; it is a strong medicine to them. lopsy and file; Mental and Physical Incapacity resulting from Self Abuse, &c. By Robert J. Calvell, M. D. author of the Green Booth, &c.
Twell, M. D. author of the Green Booth, &c.
Lecture, clearly proves, from his own experience, that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without Medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bongles instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once ceriain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands. Sent under seal to any address, in

A MAN OF A THOUSAND—A Consumptive Cured.—Dr. R. The remedy was discovered bink, which is only child, a daughter, was given the consumption of the property of the consumption of the n the Yard, together with an immense I tock, will have constantly on hand and furn o order all kinds and quality of seasoned of all kinds, Canned Peaches and Tomatoes, Pick-les and all kinds of Sauces, with everything to be found in a well stocked store. the heels of a drouth. Wells and springs would fail in the winter time, and the action of frost could not prove so beneficial to the land as if larger quantities of water were present in it. Few take note of the actual effect of freezing and thawing upon all kinds of soil, more especially on the heavy and therefore retentive ones.—These most need the action of the frost and nature has provided for them to receive it to a greater extent than naturally light, porous soils. The water is dispersed all through the pores of the soil, and by its expansion when frozen it cracks, pulverizes, lifts apart the particles from each other, to a more minute degree than it is possible to accomplish by any machinery. While this action is faworable to the extension of the roots of plants, it doubtless sets free much plant food which is physically so combined as before to be unavailable as fertillizers. So the looser the sail is left before winter, the letter will be the action of frost u pon it. Feb. 1, 1866—1y. Ginghams LYKENS VALLEY. Looking Glasse Flannels LOCUST MOUNTAIN. A Profitable Investyient.—A farmer in Westboro, Mass., was induced, in 1862, to buy one hundred dwarf pear trees. He had a spot of ground, near his bailedings, that produced little but weeds, where he had piled barrels and wood till the grass had been killed out; this ground was plowed and trenched eighteen inches in depth, and well manured. Upon a portion of this ground he set his dwarf pears, in a perfect square, six feet apart each way; this occupied about one-tenth of an acre. The ground has been cultivated and well manured. For the first year some hoed crop was grown among the trees, which more than paid for cultivation. The past season two hundred and ten dollars worth of pears were sold from these trees, besides what was used in the family. Five barrels of Duchess de Angouleme sold for one hundred dollars.
