ANOTHER FIRE.—About fifteen minutes before seven o'clock, on Sunday eve ning last, the large barn belonging to the heirs of William Alexander, near the corner of East and Louther streets, was discovered to be on fire. The flame spread so rapidly through the building that, although some young men connected with the family were on the ground mmediately after the alarm of fire was ounded, they only succeeded in getting he horses out, while some valuable catle, the farming utensils and a large quan tity of hay and grain, were left to the rcy of the flames. Unfortunately all the fire-plugs and some of the engines were frozen up, and it was a long while before water was obtained; but fortunatethe roofs of the adjoining buildings ere covered with snow, which protected em from the sparks and burning em ers which fell in showers in the adjoing square, or were carried over the town. the strong wind which was blowing. the time, to a distance of almost a mile to the country. For a while it seemed s if the whole north-eastern end of the wn were enveloped in flames, so flercely ged the storm of wind and fire. The wery immediately adjoining the barn as on fire several times, but was saved v the almost superhuman efforts of some liers and others, who ascended the herever they appeared. The noble conuct of these persons elicited many exsions of admiration on the part of the owd below. Presently the firemen got better of the Ice King, and poured a ood of water on the burning barn and the wery. In addition to the town comnies the engine from the Garrison was n hand, attended by a large detachment soldiers, and rendered efficient service. he fire was undoubtedly the work of an condiary, as some parties had been to estable, to see that all was right, but a minutes before the fire broke out. RAIL ROAD ACCIDENT-FIVE MEN IN-RED-THREE OF THEM MORTALLY .fearful railroad accident occurred on e Cumberland Valley road, near Oaklle, on Monday last, resulting in serious jury and probable loss of life to several sons, as well as a general smash-up of gines and cars. It seems that the morng freight train, drawn by the engines Judga Watts" and "General Grant" ountered a heavy snow-drift, this side Oakville. The engines were under a eavy head of steam for the purpose of Cing a passage through the drift, when suddenly either a rail broke, or the compact snow and ice forced the engines om the track. The "Judge Watts" was brown twenty feet from the track and is perfect wreck; the "General Grant" was also thrown from the track and conderably damaged : four cars were thrown nto an adjoining field, and several others which remained on the track were broken to pieces.

when the fire was first discovered.

Conrad Smith, Nicholas Fredericks and has. Rapp—laborers on the road—were seriously injured, having their legs and arms broken. They were removed to Chambersburg, where medical attendance was provided. One of the parties, we earn, has had a leg amputated, and but ittle hope is entertained of the recovery of either of the three.

Daniel Hull, the engineer of the train, and Stephen G. Lightcap, the conductor, were both badly cut and bruised, but their njuries are not regarded as serious. As soon as the accident was known in hambersburg, the wreck train was sent own the road, and by evening nearly all he debris was removed. In consequence the accident no trains reached Carlisle ring Monday. We learn that a train left Harrisburg about two o'clock in the ternoon, but stuck fast for an hour or in a snow-drift near New Kingston. ad was finally obliged to fall back to idgeport. LATER.-Six of the employees on the in were more or less hurt. Conrad mith was scalded terribly, and after sufeting the most fearful agonies, death me to his relief. THE THEATRE.—Sherry's New York Theatrical troups fought the snow bravely, by rail and by road, on Monday last, and succeeded in reaching town in time to meet their first engagement on Mon-day evening. "The Little Barefoot" as presented with a fine cast of characters -- Mrs. Carroll, as "the Little Barefoot;" Miss Stanley, as Rose; Mr. Sherry, as William Peace; Mr. J. W. Carroll, is Farmer Peace; and Mr. Ferguson, as Jemmy. Mrs. Carroll is a pretty, accomplished and graceful artiste, and is abundantly able to follow in the footsteps of Maggie Mitchell. The troupe consists of twenty-two artists, and is without doubt the best company which has visited Carlisle for many a year. They will remain but a few days, and all amusement-loving people should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear them during the present week. The manager announces that the best order will be maintained at the Hall; the performances are high-toned and unexceptionable in character; and there, is no reason why the troupe should not be patronized with full houses during their brief stay in our midst.

VENDUE BILLS printed at two hours notice, in the best style and at the cheapest rates, at the Volunteer office. We would also advise farmers and others who intend to sell out their personal property this Spring, to advertise their Vendues in the VOLUNTEER, which reaches every part of the county, and has the largest circulation of any Newspaper published in the county. The more these Vendues are advertised, the greater will be the number of persons collected, and of course the result will be more bidders and higher prices. Advertisements for sales of personal property will be inserted at one half the usual rates. CONCERT.—The ladies of St John's Church Carlisle propose to give a vocal and instrumental Concert in Marion Hall on Friday evening Feb. 1st. have repeatedly announced that a collopse in crinoline was about to take place. We are now able to state that it has actually taken place. The ladies have reduced their proportions and the amplitude of their skirts. The New York Times, noticing the change, says: No one who promendes Broadway now-a-days will doubt that the long foretold, long delayed "collapse of crinoline" has at last come to pass. It is visible in the most fashionable ladies as they "march along." The immense circumference of skirt and sweep of train that came in vogue a dozen years ago, and have been expanding and lengthening ever since until recently, are now things of the past. In their stead masculine eyes are now gratified by neat, trim dresses, at once moderate in size, grace fully brief, and preminently piquant.

Ho, boy! a pall of ice water bring, And over my head the tea bell ring. Put snow in my face, while my feet I soak—I'll have my fun if I am dead broke.

IN VISITORS—Curitite, Decem gr-10, 1893.—We, having been appointed by the Court as visitors of the Poor House, hereby announce the result of our observations: We found the in mates of the Institution seemingly cheerful and comforts ble, and after visiting and inspecting the different sleeping apartments concluded that the arrangements and details were fully equal to those of a well regulated house. There are at this time 151 regular paupers, besides the usual number of bummers or stragglers. The house is susceptible of thordugh ventilation, and has two principal Heaters by which the heat is diffused through the main building. We found the Barn, stabling and yards in admirable condition, and also the Stock belonging there to be well eared for. In alpot, we thank the general supervision of the institution could not be surpassed.
