BY CALLING ON E & H. T. ANTHONY & CO., LATE ARRIVAL OF RINESMITH & RURP, Manufacturers of TOO MUCH LAND. BARGAINS The great trouble with most of our farmers is, that they constantly hanker for more land, till they get more than they have the capital to manage profitably.—Farming requires more or less capital as well as any other business, and the size of a man's farm should depend very much on the amount of working capital he has on hand. If he has little or no spare capital over and above his own time, and the labor of his own hands, a very small farm will be more profitable than a large one, because he will concentrate his labor upon a few acres, bring them to a higher degree of productive fertility and profit, and save the expense incident to a large tract of land which is necessarily unproductive comparatively. If you want the very best he would visit Wethersfield, and other parts of Connecticut and other sections where the crop was largely cultivated, to learn the probable extent of the yield.— If it was likely to be large, he would hurry his crop to market before it became glutted with onions; if it was likely to be small he would hold over till spring, or till the supply was exhausted, and then command his own price. With six or eight thousand bushels, which his fourteen acres yielded, he could afford to do this, and he made a heap of money by it, while with only a few hundred bushels raised as a part of a great farm crop, it would not pay.

Broom Corn.—As there is constantly an increasing demand for broom corn, it has become one of the staple articles of produce in this country, and a most profitable crop to raise in certain sections, by those who understand it; for in this, as in anything else, you must understand what is to be done and how to do it. Soil that will grow Indian corn, will also produce good broom corn. Never prepare soil for the culture of broom corn, that produces poor Indian corn, if you do not wish to reap the same results in return.—The soil should not be plowed long before planting, and it may be prepared in the same manner as for Indian corn, while care is taken to have the ground thoroughly burrowed. In selecting the seed great care should be exercised in purchasing the very best that can be procured, as it is a crop that deteriorates rapidly and the seed should be changed often.

Some advocate changing the seed as often as every other year, in order to secure a good crop of fine brush. To be certain that the seed is perfectly good, it is always best to test some of it by sprouting ing a good crop has arisen in consequence of neglecting to test the seed; too much caution, therefor, cannot be exercised in this respect. From the 10th of May to planting; but generally it best to put in seed about the 25th of May. In planting by hand, mark off the field in rows three, feet apart, and drop eight or ten see's in a hill, the hills being about eightwen inches apart, and cover with a hoe about an inch deep with fine moist earth. Where large fields are planted, a seed planter can be used to great advantage. HOLIDAY CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, OVER COATINGS BASKETS, Also, in very large supply. The Cumberland Valley, Pennsylvania and made arrangements to do a joint UNDERSHIRTS, CARRIAGES! The undersigned have now on hand and armaking a large assortment of all kinds of BALMORAL AND HOOP SKIRTS, THE CARLISLE COOK STOVE manufactured at F. GARDNER & Co's. I oundry and Machine Shop, Carlisle, can't be beat. This is the testimony of scores of families in Cumberland, Perry and Adams Countles, who are now using them. Call and see them. BEET SUGAR.—The Western States are going into the manufacture of beet sugar. At Chatsworth, Illinois, is a factory that has been running two years, and turns out three tons of sugar a day. There is little doubt that the Western States will be able to supply all the sugar and molasses needed for their own consumption, within twenty years. There is no part of the country, however, better adapted to growing suitable beets and making them into sugar, than the Middle States or even New England; and it is a little surprising that attention has not been directed in that way.
