the world that "France is laborious and calm." We are neither; and we don't care whether "Nap" knows it or not .-We never were remarkably laborious in this community, and now we are far from calm. In fact we are agitated, we have gone into a state of pervous Avoitament over our illuminated dials. Little children scream themselves into convulsions to be carried out in their night clothes and have just one more look at the clock before they are tucked away in their trundle-beds; and oh! how they do kick up their little bare heels as they gaze on the bright round disc. Lovers, who are promenading, conclude they will just walk around by the clock, to make sure they will not be too late in getting home. The old folks put on their "specs," move them down to the ends of their noses, throw back their heads at an angle of forty-five degrees, and when they find they can't distinguish a single figure on the dial, they exclaim "railly I didn't think my eyesight was so bad." The boys think it is "bully," although it does deprive them of a standing excuse for staying out late at night. Our clock goes out too, or rather the gas does, at precisely eleven o'clock—and it is put out by machinery. Who ever heard the beat of that? The eleven o'clock business does not suit the "night owls" very well, however. Kind-hearted and considerate creatures, they think it would be such a convenience for the market folks to have it burn all night. Yes, the clock goes into eclipse precisely at eleven; at ten o'clock fifty-nine minutes and fifty-nine seconds, it gleams out in the darkness like the full-orbed moon; at eleven all is the black ness of darkness. We have watched this operation in silent admiration for the perfection of human ingenuity. Now a clock that would remain illuminated all night, would be no great shakes; but a clock that will turn off its own gas, and 'put out the light-and then put out the in his death on the following evening.light," as Shakspeare has it, all of itself, is something to brag about.

Somehow the old Court House has wild, frightened look when the clock is lighted up. It looks as if it was scared out of its former propriety, and stands staring into the darkness with its four great, round, red eyes, like some monste of a by-gone age. In fact the old build ing seems to have got quite light-headed in its old days. BASE BALL. -We have been furnished with the score of a game of base ball played, on Saturday afternoon last, between the "Amateurs" and a "scrub nine," gotten up for the occasion. With sorrow be it recorded, the "Amateurs" were beaten by the "scrubs," whereat the "scrubs" have greatly rejoiced. At certain seasons of the year we are affectionately reminded that we enjoy the luxury of being on the honorary list of the 'Amateurs," and we take this early opportunity most tenderly to express our sympathy with our brethren in their affliction. As a base baller we feel for them from the very bottom of our heart of hearts. We weep great tears of sorrow 10 o'clock, and has not been heard from over their discomfiture. Had it only been the "Athletics" who victimized our boys, we could have borne it in silence; but to be beaten by a "scrub nine" is a little bit | er was arrested several times during this more than ordinary unsanctified human nature ought to be expected to bear, and

FIRE.-About fifteen minutes before twelve o'clock, on Sunday morning last public worship in the several churches was disturbed by the alarm of fire. column of smoke was seen rising in the in that direction the crowds of people who poured from the churches, hastene to see what might be seen. It was soon discovered that the flames were issuing from the frame stable on the property of Rev. John C. Bliss. The fire had made such great progress and the firemen found such difficulty in getting water, that the stable was entirely consumed. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary. Two young men were arrested on suspicion, and after a hearing before Esquire Spausler, on Tuesday morning, were discharged, there not being evidence sufficient to hold them.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. - The County Trea surer requests us to say that all who have not yet paid their State and County taxes for 1867, can do so at the Commissioners office up until the first of August, after which date five per cent. will be added in accordance with the provisions of the law Our friends will do well to remember this Assesson Confirmed.—Henry Welsh, Bank, and for many years one of the edi tors and proprietors of the York Gazette has been confirmed as Assessor of Inter nal Revenue for this District. Mr. Weisl has long been known as a gentleman of incorruptible integrity and tine business qualifications, and if he consents to ac cept the position, will make a competent faithful and reliable officer.

GRADUATED.—Among the list of young men who tast week received the degre of L. L. B. from the Law School at Harvard University, we notice the name of Edgar Everett Hastings, a graduate o Dickinson College, and formerly a resi dent of this place.

Run-Away.-On Sabbath evening young gentleman from the country, named Jeremiah Albright, having been out riding with a young lady, was assisting her to alight from the buggy, when the horse suddenly took fright, ran away and broke the buggy. Fortunately none of the parties were injured.

DECLINED THE HONOR.—We notice, by one of our Philadelphia exchanges, that our old friend Harry Kanaga has been offered, but refused, the nomination for the Legislature in his District. Harry would make a most valuable member at Harrisburg, and we do not wonder that the citizens of the 6th District were anxious to secure his services.

Youth's History of the War.-Messra. Van Evrie, Horton & Co., of New York, have recently published a valuable little work entitled "The Youth's history of the War," which contains a succinct and graphic account of the great civil war and its causes, from the date of John Brown's invasion of Virginia, down intil the surrender of Lee and the assassination of Lincoln, in the spring of 1865. It seems to be carefully written, and is free from the Yankee bias which pervades so many of the works which have been written on the war. We cordially ecommend it to those who wish to place in the hands of the Young a truthful and reliable history of the war. Agents are now in this county convassing for subcribers—the only way the book can now be produced. Agents wanted to canvass in this and adjoining counties. Those lesiring agencies can apply to or address C. C. Parsons, Jr., General Agent, Harisburg, Pa.

RELIGIOUS .- On next Sabbath, Rev. Mr. Bliss will preach the sermon which was interrupted by the fire on last Sabbath.

[For the Volunteer.]

A CARD. It being known to the public that Sam-It being known to the public that Samuel, son of James Spangler, of this place, was arrested in connection with the firing of my stable, last Sabbath, it should also be known that his arrest was under a misapprehension. He has been knonrably discharged, inasmuch as at the time the fire occurred he was where all young men should be, at church.

It affords me pleasure to make this statement as due young Spangler, his family ment as due young Spangler, his family and friends, and thus remove what by some evil-disposed person might be used as a stigma upon his name, though inno-cence need never fear anything from its accusers.

Since writing the above, I learn that Wm. Hughes has also been discharged.
I would take this occasion to commend the diligence of the firemen in their labors, and of our worthy mayor and the polic in their efforts to discover the incendia ries. John C. Bliss. Carlisle, July 23, 1867.

The correct particulars in regard to the manner in which Mr. Highlands was thrown cannot be discovered, as he was unaccompanied at the time, except by a little girl who was driving the horse .-Mr. Highlands' loss will be much felt in this community. One streak of lightning he had along gave a fine display on the telegraph wire and rail-road track, accompanied by appropriate music. The old gentleman left town about

It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates sourf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean,
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents hair turning gray and failing off;
It restores hair upon prematurely baid heads?
This is just what Lyon's Kathairon will do. It
