wrath. DEMOCRACY AND INTELLIGENCE. After the Pennsylvania election, the New York Tribune said : "If there was neither a newspaper nor a common school in the country, the Democratic party would be stronger than it is." If this statement be true, how is it that in the City of New York, where more and abler newspapers are published and read than amongst the same population else-where, where the public schools surpass in excellence any in the world, and area attended by one hundred and fifty thou-sand pupils, yearly—how is it that New York rolls up a Democratic majority of 60,000? How is it that Philadelphia, the second city of the Union, with its multitude of newspapers and its splen-did system of free education, gives a Democratic majority? How is it that boston, the centre of refinement and in-telligence, the Athens of America, which boasts that it contains more wealth and intelligence than any city of the Union—how is it that Boston gives wealth and intelligence than any city of | ruin if they cannot rule. the Union-how is it that Boston gives a Democratic majority? How is it that Baltimore, renowned during half a century for her educated men and beautiful women, gives a Democratic majority of 15,000? How is it that San Franeisco, the Queen City of the Pacific virtually destroyed, and ten States, inslope, the centre from which radiates the new civilization of the far west, how is it that she gives a Democratic majority? It would be useless to add to this list the cities of the West and South, or the smaller cities of Brooklyn, Albany, Lancaster, Harrisburg and others which give Democratic majorities. In view of ese facts we challenge contradiction to the assertion that wherever there are newspapers and schools, wherever there is education, intelligence and virtue, there the Democratic party is in the ascendency. If the Republicans will continue to claim all the intelligence in the land, they had better get up a now set of facts.

It is estimated by the New York 7 imes and other journals that the purely partisan legislation of the late session of Congress has added to the national expenses over one hundred and seventyfive million dollars. The reconstruction act alone will cost that, apart from the disabilities it imposes upon the South to meet its share of the national expenditures.

there is a great revolution in popular feeling sweeping over the entire country from the Penobseot to the golden shores of the Pacific. The people have declared that this is a white man's government, and that it has no more legitimate power than the people have invested it with by the terms of the Constitution. Yes, thank God, the people are again clothed in their right minds. They have reasserted their capacity for self-government, and the "loyal" traitors, however thoroughly they may be organized, however strengthened by illgotten wealth, however unscrupulous in regard to the means by which they would secure success, can never again triumph over them. Our friends must remember that the

The people now see, if they never did before, the aims and objects of the vile men who have had control of the Government for more than six years. And as the country.

McClellan was called on to destroy the effects of the Bull Run defeat, he may be called on again to rescue our country from the hands of worse traitors than were those who then menaced it.

Mr. Gillelen then offered his vote which was objected to. Mr. G. then ap. pealed to Mr. Coburn for his opinion -Mr. C. replied at length, stating that Mr. Wickersham, State Superintendent, had received a dispatch asking " whether the Carlisle teachers could vote?" and that Mr. Wickersham replied, "No." Upon reconsideration Mr. W. had sent him to the convention with his opinion reversed. 'That Carisle teachers, having valid certificates, and teaching now, should vote." The judges however decided that Mr. G. who holds a valid certificate and was now teaching could not vote. Mr. G. then replied that there was singular want of respect on the part of the judges toward the opinion of State Superintendent. With his opinion read before them that they still persisted in refusing Mr. G's vote. Mr. Wherry, replied that the State Surintendent's opinion was not his decision, that they should be very careful as required by instructions, and that they herefore had to reject the votes of the eachers of Carlisle.

Mr. G. then stated that the teachers of Carlisle had brought to an issue what had long been desired. He was glad to know that it would be decided what relation an independent school district had to general school laws; whether the organic law of Carlisle was to govern their school perations, or whether it was amenable to every general law the Legislature may enact. He therefore would give notice that he would appeal to the State Superintendent for final decision.
