With a cry of despair upon his lips the guide urged his horse forward at the top of his speed, quickly followed by the stranger, who held his pistol really in his hand.
In another second the guide would have swept by the dread spot, but at that instant the report of a pistol rung through the stranger heard a horse galloping off through the woods rider-less.
Finding himself alone, the stranger raised his pistol, took deliberate aim at the ghostly murderer, and pressed his finger upon the trigger.
The apparation approached quickly, but in no hostile attitude. The stranger have won it. And just so it is, now-a-days, with some people-they know too much for their own good. it floored me. It split an awful hole in my casimeres, right under my dress coat tail. It was too hate to back out; so clap-ping my hand over it, we marched in and were spliced—and, taking a scat, I watched the kissing the bride operation. My groomsman was tight, and he kissed her till jumped up to take a slice; when, oh, horror! a little six year old imp had crawled behind me, and pulled my shirt through the whole in my pants, and had pinned it to the chair, and in jumping up I displayed to the admiring gaze of the astonished multitude a triffe more white muslin than was pleasant. The women giggled, the men roared, and I got mad, but finally put to bed, and there all my troubles ended. Good night.

"Well, Mary?" "It ain't nice—I don't like it." "Hush."
