Agriculfural.

A correspondent asks us if some of our a correspondent asks as it some of our grape stories are not rather extravagant; "for instance, the yield of that acre you mentioned at $15000." No, sir, we do not begin to tell all the big stories we hear about grape crops. Not long since this same grape subject was up before the Farmers' Club of the American Institute. A gentleman there questioned the state.

this same grape subject was up before the Farmers' Club of the American Institute. A gentleman there questioned the statement put forth that 20,000 pounds of grapes could be grown on an acre. Our friend, Solon Robinson—everybody in the agricultural and horticultural line, knows who Solon is—proved that it could be done. There are 43,550 superficial feet to an acre; a vine trained to a single stake can be grown up on four feet of ground; say 2,000 yourses per acre, at seven and a half pound; per vine, we should have 25,000 pounds. Grapes trained to a single stake will grown as closely as Indian corn. It we grow the vines three feet apart each way, we save 4,840 to the acre. It is not an exit againt assertion to declare that five pounds of fruit in the fourth or fitth year can be taken from a vine, if it has had good treatment. At this rate of yield we should get 24,200 pounds, which at ten cents per pound, wholesale, and four Concord, the vine of which is a first man, or, will quickly bring that price), would foot up $2,420. But suppose upon such crose planting as three feet apart, we only estimate a yield of two pounds per vine, we shall have 9,650 pounds upon a mere, and that, at ten cents per pound, woolf grove a better result than can be obtained from any gran crop that can be raised. Aside from the reports on grape growing and its profits, made to the Farmers' Club, we have some evidence of our own to give. We planted toam. So unpromising was the spot, that made to the Farmers' Cinb, we have some evidence of our own to give. We planted 100 Concord vines, on a very light loam. So unpromising was the spot, that we doubted whether the vines would live. It was a hill side with a southern slope, and in July and Angust hot enough to roast eggs. We believed that the vines would burn up, through the heat of the soil they grew in. But, his soil being light and friable, adantted air free'y.— The air carried moisture, and the vines contrar, to expectations grew and flourished. The second year we obtained a light crop. The third they did better, and the fourth year we gathered 700 ths, of fruit, or say seven pounds to a vine.—These vines were planted five feet apart. Our experiments as to the profits, indicated results quite as liberal as those we have quoted. We sold our Concord at 12 and 15 cents per pound, and if the acre had all been planted at the same time, the harvest would have footed up $1200 to $1500. A word as to manure. Do not pile it on. Grapes need moisture.—"Plenty of heat, plenty of air, and plenty of moisture," is the rule for the roots as well as the top. High feeding has of late been disregarded in the vine culture. We have labored under a great mistake in times past, as to the necessities of the grape family. Choriton, Allen, and other writers have declared that the richer the borders were the higher the vitality of the vine. No greater error was ever promulgated. Give plenty of moisture to a warm, light soil, and let the manure go. You will find that when you feed low, or not at all, but pulverize the soil deeply, and give plenty of water that will leach through the borders, when you feed low, or not at all, but pulverize the soil deeply, and give plenty of water that will leach through the borders, when you feed low, or not at all but pulverize the soil deeply, and give plenty of water that will leach through the borders, when had an aprogressive step, in horticultural science.—

SELECTING A Cow. -It is sometimes the case that the best judges will be de-ceived. A cow of very promising appear-ance, coarse in the neck, large boned, and ecoud or third-rate milk mark generalsecond or third-rate milk mark generally, will now and then, turn out to be dirst-rate while another, with these marks argely developed, fine in the head and neck and promising every way, will prove unsatisfactory. But a failure in discase is tare. Let the head be light, he torehead broad, the horn rather thin and clear, the eye clear and prominent, on neck thin, and the forequarters rather light, the back straight, the hind-quarters well developed, wide over the lons, the carcass deep, the udder coming for the carcass deep, the udder coming for-ward and well shaped, the skin soft to the touch, the teats well set, not to large nor too small, the tail long and thin, like a whip-lash. Such a cow ought to be a good one.—Planchagan

Sawdust is easy for eattle to rest upon. It absorbs a large portion of the liquids, and serves to keep the cattle ciean, and therefore, in a healthy and thrifty state; and this sof no small consideration. sideration. All animals thrive according to the degree of health and comfort which to the degree of health and comfort which they enjoy, as well as to the amount and quality of food given the . An ov well led, but exposed to severe cold and storms, would be likely to gain only half as much as he would if properly sheltered so if he were so situated as to be obliged to stand 31 the time, he would become so uncomfortable as not to gain more than half as fast as he would if he could lie down, when inclined to do so, upon a bed of dry sawdust or litter.

KEEPING CALVIS. A calf kept in winter and summer, in thrifty growth, at two years old, will make as much and more beef, than one neglectfully kept at twice the age. The profit will be found on the side of the two year old and the loss on the four year old; yet the owner of the latter has pursued this system, if system it may be called, with idea that he was saving money. Keep the thrifty animal two years longer in the same way and something very handsome in the way of beef will be the result—while the starving can never pay the expenses of its rearing and feeding.

MILKING BEFORE CALVING.—A dairy-man writes the Fractical Farmer that the best cows had to be milked several weeks before the period of calving. This prac-tice was a preventive of garget, and ten-ded to the general health of the animals. It sometimes happens that the test to the general nearth of the animals. It sometimes happens that the udders of cows become greatfully and painfully extended weeks before calving but few persons resort to the sensible practice of relieving them by milking. If this were practiced more the probably would be less complaint of garget than there now is.

DBINK FOR MILCH COWS.—Cows that give milk in winter, says the Maine Furner, will add much to their profit by giving them a bucketfull of warm water twins. them a bucketfull of warm water twice a day with a little meal, or even the slops of the family in it. Every one has noticed how an extremely cold day will affect their milk, or whenever they become wet in summer. A little salt, with meal floating on the surface of such a drink, will soon teach any cow to drink it.

EARLY CULITYATION OF POTATOES.— Much labor may be saved, by running a bush harrow over the Pround just as the shoots are breaking through. This will disturb the whole surface of the ground, and is equivalent to a good hoeing. A week or the carry and if the young shoots are covered deeply with dirtit will post and the covered deeply will be covered deeply with dirtit will post and the covered deeply will distinguish and the covered deeply will be covered deeply with dirtit will be covered deeply will be covered deeply will be cover

RETARDING PEACH TREES.-A correspondent writes us that last winter, after the ground was fairly frozen, he placed litter around his trees to prevent the early thawing of the soil around their roots, and thus retard their starting until danger of late frost was over. One ex-periment seemed so favorable that he oposed to repeat it this winter. - Ameri-

FORCED PLANTS.—In cities and towns plants that have been forced are often oftered for sale. As a general thing they are worthless for future use, although for present gratification they are often worth the price asked.—Am. Ag.

Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

Has stood the test of seven years before the public; and no preparation for the hair has yet been discovered that will produce the same beneficial results. It is an entirely new scientific discovery, combining many of the most powerful and restorative agents in the VEGET-ABLE KINCDOM. It restores GREY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTH-FUL COLOR. It makes the scalp white and clean; cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair; and will make it grow upon baid heads, except in very aged persons, as it furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft, and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a HAIR DRESSING. It is the cheapest preparation ever offered cheanest preparation ever offered to the public, as one bottle will ac-complish more and last longer than three bottles of any other than three bottles of any other preparation.

It is recommended and used by the First Medical Authority. The Wonderfut results produced by our Sicilian Hair Renewer have induced many to manufacture preparations for the Hair, under various names; and, in order to induce the trade and the public to apprehens their composites their composites their composites their induce the trade and the public to purchase their compounds, they have resorted to falsehood, by claiming they were former partners, or had some connection with our Mr. Hall, and their preparation was similar to ours. Do not be deceived by them. Purchase the original: it has never yet been equalled. Our Treatise on the Hair, with certificates, sent free by mail. See that each bottle has our private Revenus Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations.
