Florist's boquets, by many, are considered too formally made, and for source sidered too formally made, and for some purposes they are unquestionably so; as, for example, who would think of cutting his own flowers, and then go to work and stem them, and put green with them, and build them up, if they were wanted simply for a room?

For such a purpose nothing like a shallow dish, basket, or a few lightly placed in a vase, or the like. Suppose they do not last long, a few more can be got on the morrow. But such things to be made available for commerce must to be made available for commerce mus be put into another shape; hence the florist's boquets, baskets, &c... These are often quite expensive, or, at least many readers would think so, I am sure; but besides the flowers, there is considerable time spent in arrunging, and more or less skill employed before the boquet or basket is completed. This causes the enhanced expense.

If every one could make these bo-quets, their value would be small, of course, but it takes time and practice to do this. A person might stand and se another make boquets until doomsday and without some practice, make but a sorry attempt at the business. We do not mean to say it is difficult to learn, but like everything else, practice makes perfect.—Prairie Farmer.

FOOD FOR Cows.—In the correspondence of the Ohio Farmer occurs the following: "I have had twenty-five cows to milk, and found timothy and wild grass the best. To feed in winter, use shorts, ground oats, shorts and corn meal; shorts make more milk than clear meal; oats ground do better than either; but corn meal with shorts makes richer milk, but no more of it. I have fed potatoes largely; they do tolerably well, but milk a day or two old gets strong. Rutabaga turnips and carrots would not do for me to make butter from the milk; but of all the roots I ever tried, sugar beet is the best. I heard pumpkins were good to make milk, and tried them. I had twelve milkers; I divided them: I fed six with pumpking three weeks, and all run on grass alike. Those that had pumpkins gave not a gill more milk than the others, but I believe it was a little richer."

GARDENING FOR LADIES.—Please leadies, do a little gardening. You do not know what roses it will bring to your cheeks, and what healthy appetites, what vigor and elasticity you will gain thereby. Begin with a strawberry bed twr dwarf pear trees and a grape vine. Let them be your own especial care.—Do not let indoor work prevent, and let some part of the morning be taken for its out-door exercise, and you will not be half so likely to get the backache at be half so likely to get the backache at the usual domestic tasks. We must not be slaves to custom or society. Surely health and vigor are of prime importance to every mother and housekeepe in the land, and there is no other meth od half so cheap or so pleasant as working to full perspiration, in the broad open sunlight two hours every morning in the spring and opening summer.

—Manchester Mirror.

Signs of Rain. Just before rain flowers smell stronger and sweeter, because the vapors of the air prevent the scented particles of their perfume from ascending, as they would in a drier atmosphere. Instead of rising above the earth, the odor is disseminated by the noisture. Because the plants are stronger in fragrance just before the fall of rain, we see horses stretch out their necks and sniff the alrin a peculiar manner. Animals are more absorbing than nen, and nature speaks to them in a silent manner.

They thus are able to prognosticate the coming storm with unerring certainty, while men often stand bewildered and lost in doubt.

To Preserve Hams from Flies.—
The best way to preserve hams from flies is, as soon as they are smoked to wrap them in two old newspapers, first with one and again with another, and tie the ends of the paper or paste them down. Let the string to hang them up by come through the paper, being careful that the hole shall only be large enough to let the string through. No insect can get through the paper.—Woolens and furs can be kept pertectly in the same way, being careful that the egg of the moth is not previously deposited. To PRESERVE HAMS FROM FLIES.-

MANURING.—Never scant your crops. Plant no more land than you manure well. It is better to have one-half of well. .It is better to have one-half of an acre of soil well managed than ten acres imperfectly worked and managed. It requires no more labor to manage one that will produce fifty bushels of shelled coin than it does to ranage one that will yield but twenty five. It is poor policy to half feed, our animals, and why should it not be considered equally absurd and injudicious to starve our cross.

APPLYING MANURE TO SOD.—In a recent discussion before the N. H. Farmers' club, the question of applying manure to sod ground was discussed and at the close of the discussion twenty to one voted that manure should be applied to the sod after it had been turned over and as near the surface as it is two over, and as near the surface as it is possible to cover it, not over three inches

CURE FOR FOUNDER.—The Rural World proposes to cure founder in horses in this way: Take the horse into a brook in this way: Take the horse into a brook or stream of water deep enough to nearly reach his body and fasten him there with his head so high that he cannot drink. If the weather is warm keep him there several hours. Then remove him and rub his legs thoroughly to promote circulation. If still lame, repeat the process three or four times and a cure will be effected. In winter twenty minutes will be long enough to keep the horse in the water, when he should be taken out and rubbed as in the other case—repeating the operation if necessary. This is said to cure all cases of founder, when not of long standing.

POULTRY IN A SMALL ENCLOSURE.—You can keep a score of heos and raise chickens from them on 500 square yds. If it is not all grass, you will have to supply them with green food. They must have green food and dust.

Has stood the test of seven years before the public; and no preparation for the hair has yet been discovered that will produce the same beneficial results. It is an entirely new scientific discovery, combining many of the most powerful and restorative agents in the VEGET-ABLE KINGDOM. It restores GREY HAIR TO ITS ORIGINAL YOUTH-FUL COLOR. It makes the scalp white and clean; cures dandruff and humors, and falling out of the hair; and will make it grow upon baid heads, except in very aged persons, as it furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair most, soft, and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a HAIR DRESING. It is the chapest preparation ever offered to the public, as one bottle will accomplish more and last longer than three bottles of any other preparation.

It is recommended and used by the First Medical Authority.

The Wonderjut results produced by our Sicilian Hair Renewer have induced many to manufacture preparations for the Hair, under various names; and, in order to induce the trade and the public to purchase their compounds, they have resorted to falsehood, by claiming they were former partners, or had some connection with our Mr. Hall, and their preparation was similar to ours. Do not be deceived by them. Purchase the original: it has never yet been equalled. Our Treatise on the Hair, with certificates, sent free by mail. See that each bottle has our private Ikevenue Stamp over the top of the bottle. All others are imitations.
